Auditor-General Macdougall appeared before the committee and definitely declared his intention of resigning, probably to-morrow. He had not resigned last year because his case was before the people in the coming election, and he awaited their verdict. He had then to await action by the new parliment on his suggested amendments to the audit act. It appeared to him now that his suggestions would be car-

"In view of the fact," said Mf. Mac-dougall, "that I felt that there was one large expenditure that required the con-trol of a man of experience, I felt if I got such things as appeared to me to be necessary to enable me to do the work I would be very glad to re-main. But I would not remain under any circumstances unless these recom-mendations were considered."

Mr. Fielding: You thought you ought not to resign at that stage,

Mr. Macdougall: Yes.
Mr. Fielding: Yet you had resigned before.

Mr. Macdougall: No, I did not; I asked for superannuation before the dissolution of parliament.

Mr. Fielding: Was that not resigna-

Mr. Macdougall: It was not in that sense. We were getting a new parliament. It was out of the hands of the ment. It was out of the hands of the government, as I thought. That may be wrong or right logic. It was in the hands of the people of Canada.

Mr. Fielding said he had taken the auditor's fallure to resign after on soveral occasions saying he intended to do so, as evidence that he did not intend to do so now.

to do so now.

Mr. Macdougall repeated his regret at not getting further powers asked for, and as it was now the end of the session he did not expect to get them. He asked for superannuation on a certain hears, but whether he got it or not he basis, but whether he got it or not he would go out. He fixed the date of his leaving as Aug. 1, unless it suited the convenience of the government for him to leave sooner. He desired to be free at the earliest possible moment.

FEWER LIQUOR LICENSES. In Year 1903-4 There Were 2974 in the Province.

The annual report of the provincial license department was published yesterday. The number of licenses for the year 1903-4 was 2974, as compared with 3023 in 1902-3 and 3014 in 1901-2. The revenue was $304,677.70, a slight decrease from the previous year, the total collections being $649,412,90,and the paying the year $20,465 was collected in fines, compared to $16,559 the previous year. The average yearly commitments for each period of five years from 1876 to 1900 are as follows: 1876 to 1880, 3812; 1881 to 1885, 4016; 1886 to 1890, 4311; 1891 to 1895, 2703; 1896 to 1900, 1920. In 1904 there were 3590 commitments, an in-crease of 603 over 1903. Local option is in force in 49 municipalities.

CITY TWO HOURS LATE LOSES FIRE STATION SITE

Ed. Gegg yesterday disposed of the property at the northeast corner of York and Adelaide-streets to an Ottawa man. The lot has a frontage of 123 leet on York-street and 108 on Adelaidestreet, and the city was just two hours late in getting after the place for a fire station site. The price obtained is about $30,000; twenty years ago Mr. Gegg paid $20,000 for it.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over forty years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment cures in the privacy of your home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands of bad cases. It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer your a superfic

Deeds of the Property Sold and For Sale All in Our Possession and Free From Encumbrance. Titles Guaranteed.

Cuba will be a favorite winter resort for the people of North America, because of its favorable location and uniform temperature. At the time when the Northern States are clothed with snow and ice this island has the climate of June. With its fine sandy beach for bathing, its land-locked harbor for yachting, the rolling lands in the background for beautiful scenery, and Canadian people for neighbors, Ocean Beach should be the most desirable as a winter resort. The scenery on Guadiana Bay is grand and inspiring. Our estate is covered with tropical foliage. The water is so clear that the gravelly bed from ten to twenty feet below can be seen distinctly, abounding in certain sections with Spanish mackerel, a species larger than the mackerel of our Northern markets and fully as palatable.

Purpose of the Company

Since Cuba obtained its independence, and since its favorable climate and fertile soil have become known, there is a growing demand among the people from "The States and Canada" for real estate holdings in this island. Naturally the desire is to be located among the Canadian people, and to know that titles are clear and valid. As the company's property is especially adapted for the establishing of a colony, and as it contains more acreage than the company could put under cultivation in many years, we have concluded to offer for sale fifty thousand acres of land divided into ten-acre lots or upwards. The balance will be put under cultivation for the benefit of the company. This suggested establishment of a colony is especially desirable in order to make a port of entry at Ocean Beach. The part of the tract facing the ocean near Guadiana Bay is set apart for a business and residential site. The land which we are offering for sale is the best portion of the property, as regards location for shipping facilities, being nearest the water front. The shipping facilities, being nearest the water from quality of the soil also is all that can be desired. There is no tax on improved real estate in Cuba.

In Cuba the conditions for intensive agriculture are The staple crops of the Island will be oranges, grapefruit, lemons, limes, early vegetables, coffee, tobacco, cotton, bananas, cocoa, cocoanuts, mangoes and such products as olives, grapes, almonds, etc., which can be successfully raised. All of these are very valuable and yield most bountifully when cultivated intensively. The labor required to plant, care for and harvest them is much less than farm labor usually is in Canada, and the climate is more temperate and pleasant. The soil is light and easily worked, and the opportunity for keeping bees and poultry and for dairying offered by the closeness of the large Havana markets, where products from these lines sell readily at high prices, greatly multiplies the sources of income for the planter and furnishes some-thing for each member of the family to do-work both pleasant and profitable. Ballou, the historian, writing of Cuba, says: "Nowhere on the face of the globe would intelligent labor meet with a richer reward. Nowhere on the face of the globe would repose from labor be so sweet."

And, finally, it may be added that the expenses of liv-ing are far less once a start is obtained. Bearing these truths in mind, let us take up the conditions and purposes which make up the present undertaking of those engaged in developing this favored spot.

Extract from "Commercial Cuba in 1903," published by the U. S. Department of Commerce and Labor, August,

* * * "It will unquestionably be easy and natural for Cuba to export to the United States and other countries large quantities of vegetables, especially those of a tropical or semi-tropical habitat, and those which are in demand early in the year in northern communities. "One great advantage possessed by the Cuban vegetable grower is that almost all kinds of vegetables enjoy in that Island a perennial growth, one crop following its predecessor immediately.

"In this way the producer reaps the reward of two," and sometimes three, crops annually of all the different kinds of vegetables which he cultivates."

Extract from report of A. A. Quint of Quibra Hacha, Republic of Cuba: "I planted a quarter acre with tomatoes; the yield was sixty crates of very large, fine tomatoes. The price in New York at time of picking was $3.50 per crate." * * *

LAND IS THE BASIS OF ALL WEALTH

As a permanent place of residence as well as a health and pleasure resort, Cuba, owing to its climatic and scenic charms, is attracting wide attention. Any person from a northern climate can live in Cuba in summer with as much comfort as in Canada, while the winter months are, of course, very much more comfortable than in a land of sn w, sleet and blizzards.

Soil and Products of Cuba In no part of the United States or Canada is found a soil so rich, so fertile, so productive as in Cuba. There is no garden like this favored spot.

It is perfect in soil and climate. Three crops a year can be grown Four hundred years of Spanish misrule prevented the development of more than a small portion of this beautiful Island, and thousands of acres of virgin soil now await the thrifty and energetic Canadian to make it the

Remarkable Growth of Orange Trees

In a letter recently received is the following item: I visited a fruit farm and photographed an orange treathree years ago from setting. It was six inches in diameter at the base and about eighteen feet high, with branches five or six feet long and full of fruit. I also photographed a tree five years old which bore 5000 oranges last crop, and another seven years old, which bore 7000 oranges. Grape-fruit attains perfection in Cuba.

Oranges

It is claimed by the best authorities on citrus fruits that if all the available lands suited for the purpose in this part of the world were put into cultivation it would be more than twenty years before the market would be supplied to the same extent that it was previous to the freezes in Florida and California.

It must be remembered that an orange grove will mature here in one-third less time than in California or Governor-General Charles H. Allen says: "A ten-acre orange grove once in bearing, gives a comfortable income, sufficient to support a family in the best country style." "When an orange tree is in full bearing it is valued at $100."—Florida Fruits and How to Grow them.

Profit on Oranges and Other Citrus Fruits

As an indication of the profits to be derived from raising oranges and other citrus fruits, I quote from an Official work on Cuba, recently published: "The person owning an orange grove in a country free from frosts is the most independent and happiest person on earth. A full-grown orange tree will yield from 1000 to 5000 oranges yearly, and, like the lemon tree, begins to bear the third year. Before Cuba got its setting back during the war orange lands were selling from $150 to $300 per acre, and a three-year-old grove was worth $1000 per acre. The old-est trees in Cuba are some 100 years old, and each year the crop is greater than the previous year. No limit is placed upon the age of the orange tree; so in beginning an orange grove, remember, if four or five years are required to bring it into bearing, it will then continue to yield its golden harvest for generations to come, and when once in fruit you can sit beneath its shade almost in idleness and have an abundant competency."

Cattle Raising Grasses in Cuba have a most wonderful growth. Green all the year and very nutritious. Cattle-raising has always been the chief occupation of the natives, who have a natural disinclination to the labor necessary in cultivating the soil for market. Pasture always green and no winter storms or no feed to prepare. Large numbers of cattle and hogs in fine condition and good breed are found in all sections of the Island. Havana and other points in Cuba furnish the market, the price being much higher since the Spanish-American war than in the

Truck Growing in Cuba

Of all agricultural pursuits, that of growing vegetables, as a commercial venture, has hidden in the possibilities much to attract not only the tiller of the soil but many of those who have surplus money accumulated in other than agricultural pursuits.

It is easily within the bounds of probabilities to estimate a crop of vegetables that can be grown during the winter months at a thousand to two thousand dollars' profit per acre, and if one takes into consideration the small vegetable places worked by the Chinese around Havana it would be reasonable to say into thousands of dollars per

No Danger of Overdoing

Won't this fruit business be overdone? we are asked. It will, provided that the United States and Europe quit-growing, and our wide-awake transportation companies all get flat wheels and hot boxes. The United States is now buying millions of boxes of lemons yearly from Mediter-ranean ports. Cuba can grow every one of them. In 1894 Florida exported 250,000 boxes of early cranges to Liverpool that sold at 20 to 30 shillings per box. This market alone could be worked up to 1,000,000 boxes of early oranges to go in before Mediterranean oranges are ripe All we need is the fruit to ship and we will have more markets than fruits. It will be at best ten years before Cuba can begin to cut any great amount of ice in the markets of the fruit world.

And to do this we must plant at once ten to twenty thousand acres yearly. We can pay the duty and land our products in the markets cheaper than Florida or California can, and as to quality, we are without a peer.

Fish, Game and Animals Seven hundred varieties of fish, also crabs, oysters, lobsters and turtles, are found in the waters surrounding the Isle of Pines. The sea and rivers which empty into it are literally alive with them. Sea-bass, red-snapper and pompano are the choicest eating. Parokeets and beautiful humming birds, brilliant as winged jewels, quail and wild pigeons are found in the woods, and ducks along the coast. Such game is plentiful, as very few natives own guns, owing to the license of $10 a year required of those who keep them.

There are positively no poisonous snakes or insects or dangerous wild animals on the Island. The largest four-footed animal found is the "hutia," about the size of a large squirrel. You can sleep in the open air in the woods or in a tent without the slightest danger from beast or reptiles. Mosquitoes and even common house flies are never troublesome in summer.

To Merchant, Mechanic or Clerk

The condition under which the average mechanic or clerk exists to-day is one of ceaseless toil, from morning till night, year after year. If he has a family, after paying the landlord, grocer and doctor, and buying coal and clothing, there is little left to provide for an emergency or old age. Contrast this condition with that under which one can live in Cuba. The owner of ten acres of land under cultivation will have an income double that which s earned by most mechanics, with the expenditure of one-

For a small sum he can construct a suitable house. His vegetable garden and fruits will supply a large portion of his food. There will be no rent bills, no coal bills and no winter clothing to buy. Under these conditions he can lead an independent, healthful, out-of-door life, having a sufficient margin between his expenses and income to enable him to put aside each year a portion for His property, moreover, is constantly increasing in value.
