Men Wanted for the Railways of Canada

"Men, more men!" is the cry that is going out from the officials of the railways of America. Not merely men who can work with their hands alone, but men who can work with their brains as well as their hands -men who have been taught to do some one thing better than their fellowmen.

At a recent meeting at which fourteen railway companies were represented, it was estimated that on March 1st, 1908, when the new eight-hour law goes in effect, there will be required to fill the new positions that the shorter working day will create. The positions that will thus be opened up will be those of telegraph operators, station agents and train despatchers, at salaries ranging from

$50.00 to $175.00 Per Month

Commence now and you will be right in line for one of these positions, with possibilities for advancement that were never so bright. If you are out of work, learn Telegraphy and have work that is certain the year round. If you have work that is not congenial or at which your earning powers are limited, make the change. Better now than ten years hence, when it may be too late.

Finest School in the World

Our school is recognized by railway officials as being the finest school in the world for instruction in Telegraphy and Railway Work. It is

The One School in Canada in Which a Canadian Railway Has a Direct Wire

Advanced students are thus enabled to get actual railway wire practice and become thoroughly familiar with every detail of railway telegraphic work before leaving school.

Four Teachers Constantly With You

On our teaching staff are four thoroughly experienced, practical railway men-two of them ex-train despatchers—who teach you the work much more thoroughly and more quickly than you could possibly learn it in an ordinary railway station or telegraph office.

In addition to a most complete course in Telegraphy and Railroading, students of this school are given a thorough course in Penmanship and Typewriting without extra charge.

Will You Send for This Free Book?

A postal, giving your name and address, will bring you our fine new telegraph book, giving the Morse alphabet, pictures of the school and the students at work, together with full particulars of the course. Don't delay; write your postal to-day. Ask for Book No. 3.

Good Positions Guaranteed

We have no difficulty in guaranteeing positions, for there is a greater demand for graduates of this school than we can possibly fill. The railways know from experience just what our graduates can do and place them in responsible positions immediately upon graduation.

Young Man, This is Your Opportunity

Don't wait; write to-day. Half the world's failures are men who are natural procrastinators-men who wait until to-morrow. Make the best of your opportunities, and do it now.

Come and see us if you can. You will be delighted with our bright, well lighted school-rooms, the excellence of the school's equipment and the thoroughness of our methods of instruction. If you cannot come personally, do the next best thing, write for Book No. 3. Address
