SOLDIERS' PARCELS MISSING. Editor World: Five weeks before

Christmas I sent to three of my friends in the trenches two parcels each. Of these six parcels only one has reached its destination. One of the men has written me to the effect that 60 per cent, of the parcels sent from Canada do not reach the men He also asserts that these parcels are stolen in Canada and never even ger to England. Women who send parcels to their husbands regularly and number them consecutively have proven that nearly three out of four parcels are stolen. I am told it is gossip of the trenches that this stealing takes place in Canada because the Tommies would lynch anybody in England caught thieving a soldier's parcel. Is it not about time that public ac tion was taken in this matter? thieving of parcels mailed to soldiers is a foul crime—and should be punishable by death-in time of war.

Canadian Order of Foresters Takes This Important Step to Guarantee Its Future Standing.

antee its Future Standing.

The Canadian Order of Foresters have for years occupied a prominent position as one of the leading fraternal insurance so-cieties operating in Canada. It was instituted in 1879 by 488 members who seceded from the American Order of Foresters. Today it has a membership of 90,000 which is the largest purely Canadian membership of any of the fraternal insurance societies doing business in the Dominion.

The society has had a most successful record and has accumulated funds, which, at the present time, amount to between five and a half and six million dollars. Last year was apparently one of the most successful years in the history of the successful years in the listory of the successful years in the history of the successful years in the listory in the successful insurance societies doing business in the Dominion.

The society has had a most successful record and has accumulated funds, which, at the present time, amount to between five and a half and six million dollars. Last year was apparently one of the most successful years in the history of the institution. The amount added to the insurance funds for 1916 was between four and five hundred thousand dollars. Not withstanding this success the management decided to ascertain what the actuarial standing of the society was and see ment decided to ascertain what the actu-arial standing of the society was, and se-cured the services of one of the most competent actuaries on the continent. Acting on the advice of the actuary, the society decided to readjust its rates and place itself upon a basis which will give at least 100 per cent. actuarial solvency. By taking this course, while its funds were still piling up it has been able to treat its members much more favorably than meny members much more favorably than many of the societies which have readjusted their businesses during recent years.
