LOCAL NEWS

LITTLE ONE DEAD.
Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cobham of 81 Market Place, West End, will be sorry to learn of the death of their little daughter, Wanda Juanita, which occurred yesterday.

NOT THE GUILTY ONES.
A paragraph in last evening's Times conveyed the impression that certain acts of vandalism committed at a Ketchikan cottage and orchard were committed by a party of school children from the city who were out on holiday. Mrs. Sydney Young, who chaperoned the young couple in question, who are all members of well known families in the city, informs the Times that they committed no acts of vandalism, and that such a charge against them is wholly unfair and unwarranted.

LINEN SHOWER.
A number of friends of Miss Margaret Carney assembled at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred R. Winslow, East End, and tendered her a linen shower in anticipation of a nuptial event which is to take place on Oct. 28. She was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. The evening was greatly enjoyed with music and dancing. A delectable luncheon was then partaken of, after which the evening was brought to a close, all wishing Miss Carney every good wish for her future happiness.

WELCOME FOR SOLDIER
The United Soldiers' Helpers of Fairville, performed a very patriotic and thoughtful act when two of their members went to the train on Monday to meet Private Arbo, one of the Lancaster lads who has done his bit and is now home from the great war. A welcome was extended the young soldier by Miss Mary O'Brien, president of the United Soldiers' Helpers, and he was conveyed to his home in an auto with much honking from the claxon, and everybody in the vicinity turned out to extend a greeting. Such a kind service is recognized as very fitting to our khaki lads on home coming.

The Man In The Street

The effort to keep tab on the war situation, the political developments and the world series all at one time is causing a serious strain on some quarters.

Bad weather postponed the ball game yesterday, but it did not interfere with the attendance at an interesting event on the western front.

Yesterday's drive was no joy ride for the parties of the second part.

The only feature that made it look like a joy ride to the Germans was the casualty list.

In his efforts to save Russia, Kerensky seems to be following the old injunction to save the pieces.

The chancellor announces that Germany may join any political party they wish—wherein he is that much broader in his views than the local government organ, which believes that all Liberals should be shot at sunrise.

South America is warming up; Peru and Uruguay have severed relations with Germany and Ecuador has a million dollar fire.

That settles it! If a man who can make $100,000 on a single transaction thinks fifty cents a pound is too high for turkey, what chance is there for the rest of us?

General Maude, by his defeat of the Turks, has proved conclusively that he is no Lizzie.

B. F. Smith, former provincial minister of public works, failed to win a parish election yesterday. The people of Carleton county are beginning to wake up.

The promoters of the anonymous win-the-lost convention at Gagetown seem to be singularly shy and retiring for politicians.

A Stray Dog Convention.
A political convention whose backers are unwilling to announce their names, is liable to be worth rather less than a stray dog for which no one will take out a license.

So far, the Liberals of New Brunswick have not been ashamed to call themselves Liberals. However, we cannot blame the Conservatives.

Commission on war profits announce that they have nothing to do with price reductions. Of course the commission was appointed merely to gratify our idle curiosity.

You cannot always tell by the smile a man wears when he leaves the office of the medical board. He may be smiling because he has been told that he is fit for active service—he may have other reasons.

Not A Grafter.
An instance of the negro's proverbial taste for the use of large words is related by one of the recruiting officers of the city. A dandy was ushered into his office and intimated that he wanted to get into khaki.
"I've wanted to go on de conscription corps," he explained, "Ise 'listin' voluntarily, sub, dis nigger ain't gwine ter be engrafted."

FAIRVILLE PEOPLE WANT THROUGH CAR SERVICE

The new schedule of steps as published by the N. B. Power Co. omits changes of any kind in the Fairville route, though it was hoped a through line to the foot of King street would be in operation this winter. At present there are three cars running to Fairville, and it has been pointed out that with the addition of one more car, the present time-table could be adhered to, and no-change trips made from Barnhill's corner to King street in about 22 minutes.

In the morning, at noon and at supper time especially traffic is heavy and the Fairville passengers who have filled their own car have little or no chance of a seat on the main line, when a change is made at Douglas avenue.

WOMEN'S MEETING HERE

Resolutions to be Sent to Food Controller—Arrangements Made for Distribution of Pledges To Housekeepers

At a meeting of women in the Imperial Theatre this morning, arrangements were made for the distribution of the pledge cards issued by the food controller. Mayor Hayes was chairman of the meeting, which was very well attended, and with him on the platform were R. E. Armstrong, secretary of the board of trade, Mrs. J. W. V. Lawlor, president of the Housewives' League, and Mrs. A. W. Adams.

Mayor Hayes introduced the first speaker, Mr. Armstrong, and said the object of the gathering was to arrange for the distribution of cards to be signed by every householder in the city, promising to obey, so far as possible, the suggestions of the food controller, in his efforts to alleviate the food situation in Canada.

R. E. Armstrong explained the system and the reasons why it has been adopted, laying much emphasis on the present necessity for food conservation. He read over the pledges. The circulation of these pledges, he said, was but the start of a great food conservation whirlwind campaign.

Mrs. Lawlor said that in the coming campaign every women's organization in the city must stand by the Housewives' League. She suggested that a resolution be forwarded to the food controller at Ottawa favoring the elimination of the manufacture and sale of ice cream in Canada as useless and wasteful. She also favored the admittance of oleo-margarine into Canada. The farmers, she said, were holding up the people for their own prices and the only way to prevent this was by introducing a substitute. "Don't waste any sympathy on the farmer," she said, "in my opinion there is no class that needs it less. I do not want to draw class distinctions, but I think that it is high time the farmer got a calling down."

Mrs. Lawlor said that condensed milk could be used more extensively than at present and that it was every bit as good, if not better, than the plain milk for infants. It could also be used to a great extent in cooking.

Both motions, the one concerning the elimination of ice cream and the other concerning the introduction of oleo-margarine, were moved by Mrs. Richard Hooper and seconded by Mrs. Lawlor. They were passed unanimously.

Commissioner Wigmore spoke on the effect of the elimination of ice cream. From six to seven million pounds of butter fat would be released for food if the manufacture of this luxury were done away with. There was some opposition from those who say that they have thousands of dollars tied up in the business. Mr. Wigmore thought that it should be that line of action which does good to the many which should be adopted. When liquor was abolished millions of dollars worth of machinery was a total loss to the owners. Why, he asked, should the food controller hesitate to act in the lesser case when the people had shown their approbation as regards the greater? Ice cream was six times as expensive as the same amount of butter fat would be if in the form of butter, and was used mostly in the summer months, when fatty foods were scarce. These statements, the commissioner said, were based on the researches of Professor Ney Smith and were authentic.

The commissioner said that too much money was being spent on the farmer. Money was provided by the people to educate him, to help him plant, to help him grow them. In return he did everything in his power to keep up the price.

Mr. Wigmore said that he had been in charge of the work of organizing New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island for the coming campaign for food conservation. Men had been sent through the country to learn the attitude of the people and the reports were to be all in or on before the 20th inst. He said that it was his opinion that Food Controller Hanna would act in a right manner when the time for action arrived.

The distribution of cards throughout the city has been arranged for as follows:—Fairville, Miss O'Brien; West Side, Brunswick chapter, I. O. D. E.; Queens ward, Royal Standard chapter, I. O. D. E.; Dukes, Women's Canadian Club; Kings, Y. W. P. A.; Victoria, Housewives' League; Wellington, Victoria chapter, I. O. D. E.; Prince, DeMonts chapter, I. O. D. E.; Sydney, St. Monica's Society; Lorne, Loyalist chapter, I. O. D. E.; Lansdowne, St. Elizabeth's Society and the Willing Workers of the Main street Baptist church.

LORNEVILLE WEDDING

This afternoon at four o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Galbraith, Lorneville, their daughter, Sarah L. Galbraith, was united in marriage to William Steeves of Seaview. Rev. A. J. Langlois performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. The bride, who looked charming in a costume of blue crepe de chine with hat to match, carried a bouquet of bridal roses, was given away by her father, while little Miss Margaret Galbraith, niece of the bride, acted as flower girl, dressed in pink silk and carrying a basket of sweet peas. The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond ring, and to the little flower girl a pearl pendant.

Immediately after the wedding luncheon was served, and Mr. and Mrs. Steeves came by auto to St. John, where they took the Halifax express for an extended honeymoon. Many beautiful and practical gifts testified to their popularity. They will make their home in Seaview on their return.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

There was a deep spiritual interest in the Coburg street Christian church revival last evening. A good sized audience, for a stormy night, attended. Mrs. George Horton sang a solo nicely. Rev. S. B. Culp spoke on "The City of God," text Psalm 46:4-5.
