FINANCIAL PINCH IN SWITZERLAND

Géneve, Switzerland, July 26.—(Associated Press by Mail)—Switzerland has reached the acute stage of economic stringency resulting from the unfavorable rate of exchange. The tourist season, upon which she depends to such a great extent, opened with little prospect of an improvement in the situation.

The Swiss themselves, to a considerable extent, are abandoning their own country to spend their outings in France where Swiss money counts for twice its value at home, or in Italy, where it counts five times the normal value.

The crisis shows not only in the absence of tourist trade but in industrial stagnation, a good many workers being already out of employment.

A few weeks ago it looked as if the delegations to the second Assembly of the League of Nations, Sept. 5, would be difficult to get together here, hotel keepers hesitating to reserve apartments for them because it would require them to refuse tourists at the height of the season.

It now appears that the hotels will welcome the league delegations unless there is an unexpectedly radical change in the travel situation.

There is widespread interest just now in the prospects for Canadian trade down by the Caribbean Sea. An important incident in connection with this is the fact that Mr. H. A. Chisholm, Canadian Trade Commissioner to Cuba, is returning to Canada for the first time in August for the purpose of visiting for the purpose of visiting Canadian exporters, Venezuela, Colombia, Panama, and other countries interested in trade with Cuba and Jamaica.

Ocean Dry, Too.

Washington, July 26.—"The ocean's dusty today," used to be an ancient vaudeville joke, but now it has graduated to the dignity of office statistics. The Weather Bureau has received a cartoon of dust, gathered on the deck of the American merchant ship Santa Rosalina. The investigation proved there had been a violent sand storm in Mongolia and the substance had been blown hundreds of miles to sea.

"Bankers Park Here"

Sold Lots of Hats.

Two signs, imitating traffic standards used in streets, pointed on the glass of the big window of the Palace Clothing Co. in Toronto, Kan., in combination with a large, red touring car with spinning wheels, at the store, stopped crowds for a big showing of straw hats here recently.

The display appeared the day the annual bankers' convention opened. The window was filled with every style and straw hat of the latest style, poised as if they were greeting the folks gazing in through the glass.

They Couldn't Miss This Window's Deal.

At first, when customers of the Jones Store Co. of Kansas City began to inquire why retail prices hadn't dropped, the officials of the company contented themselves with general replies, placing the blame upon one or more of the factors which are operating to keep prices up.

But when these queries became more numerous and the newspapers commenced to be filled with statements from U. S. government officials and others to the effect that "retailers are refusing to cut prices," the Jones Store people realized that the widespread propaganda was beginning to have a very harmful effect and that it would seriously affect business unless something was done to prove it false.

M. B. Jones, chairman of the board of directors of the company, and N. B. Upham, of the merchandising department of the Jones Co., accordingly worked out a graphic refutation of these statements in the form of a display comparing the cost of a 100-pound sack of sugar a year ago with groceries at the present time. The result was a window which not only seriously impeded traffic, but had a marked effect upon business.

High Rents Drive Retailers Upstairs

"Upstairs" stores are the latest results of high rents in the Syracuse retail shopping district. Reconstruction of the Rosinbloom building, in the heart of the business section, made necessary to provide quarters for the Internal Revenue Bureau on the top floor, will supply space for thirty-three stores above the ground floor when the job is completed this month.

"Streets" are to be cut through the centre of each floor of the building above the ground floor with stores of plate-glass windows on each side. Efforts will be made to get as many different classes of shops as possible in these stores to attract shoppers.

The street corner where the building is located is the seventh busiest corner in the United States, according to data gathered by representatives of chain stores seeking locations near or on this corner.

The "streets" running north and south through the building will be fourteen feet wide, paved with tile, well ventilated and lighted. There will be six stores along the Salina street side of the building and five on the other side, the remaining space being devoted to elevators.

Aids Newcomers to Locate Best Stores.

The glad hand is to be extended to newcomers to the city by retail merchants of Rochester, N. Y., through an arrangement by the Chamber of Commerce under which that body is to keep track of all new residents, help them find homes, tell them the names of merchants who may supply them with anything they may need and extend any other courtesy the newcomers may ask.

The "new family list" is to be kept in a separate file at the Chamber of Commerce and will be available for retailers at all times. These cards will contain the name of the new family, the street address, the name of the town or the city whence they came, their credit record, with the retailers of their former home and all other information that the officials of the Chamber are able to secure.
