BRITAIN AND INDIA. Price Collier is contributing to Scribner's magazine a series of remarkable articles on the British in India. From an American point of view, Mr. Collier has been going through the various provinces of India studying its problems on the ground.

IN THE COURSE of his last article he comments on the British in India in these telling words: "If you and I had taken over the government of a distracted country, which for centuries had dated passing events from the last raid, the last massacre, the last famine, the last deluge, the last plundering ride of a foreign invader, and if we had had there 30,000 miles of railway, 100,000 miles and more of telegraph wires, if we had 17,000,000 acres with canals of our own construction, if we had arranged that one in every seven acres of the whole country were irrigated; if we had built schools, nursing homes, dispensaries, hospitals—where 8,000,000 children are vaccinated and 25,000,000 people receive relief annually—and post-offices, and police-stations; if school attendance had increased from 500,000 to 6,000,000; if the letters carried had increased from none to 700,000,000 annually; if we had policed the country from end to end, administered justice without fear or favor; spent millions of money and thousands of lives in the country's defence; protected the widow from brutal customs, protected the people and the orphan; secured to every man, woman and child his rights, his property, and his earnings; if the government drawing salaries ranging from 400 to no small income for a native of India—up to $5,000, as many as 6,000 by Europeans; if out of a gross revenue of $75,722,000 only $22,000,000 were raised by taxes so-called, while in England taxation supplies five-sixths, and in India only about one-fourth, of the public income; if we had reduced crime to proportions smaller than in England itself; if the public debt, outside of debt secured by the ample assets of the railways, canals, and so on, amounted to $28,000,000, a sum less than half of what it cost to suppress the Mutiny alone; if the land, which when we took charge of it had hardly any commercial value, was now worth $200,000,000; if the export trade in less than fifty years had increased from $40,000,000 to $200,000,000, while taxation works out at about 3 cents per head; if innocent religions and social customs had not only not been changed, but protected from interference, in these days too, alas, when so many people mistake mere interference for influence, and in a land of jarring and quarrelsome sects—if you and I had a fraction of the things accomplished by the English in India to our credit, we should be astonished at censure from within. We might indeed be tempted to write them."

THE UNREST in India, he says in conclusion, is an economic problem which presses upon every country in the world; less in the United States and in South America than elsewhere merely because those countries so largely have the food supplies of the world in their hands. One thing he dwells upon—manufactured sympathy will solve the problem neither in India nor anywhere else. On the contrary "the unthinking philanthropist, and the cunning politician, not only in India, but in England, Germany, France, and America, are leading whole populations to believe that the few millions of money concentrated in a few hands are the cause of the poverty and discomfort of all the rest. There never was a meaner nor a more dangerous lie: first, because it tickles the fancy of the people, second, because it leads them in a wrong direction for the solution of their troubles, and third, because it is these very aggregations of capital that alone make it possible even to feed the few millions of population. Like every other remedy for human ills, if it be easy and pleasant you may be sure it is poisonous. There are room, and food and leisure, and opportunity for every honest, sober, hard-working man in the world still; whatever the future have in store for the rapidly increasing population of the world; but the mill of competition is growing more and more terrible as modern science fosters the growth of population, and the shillings, the despised, and the weak find it harder and harder to keep on the road, and out of the gutter, as the road becomes more and more crowded. PLEURO-PNEUMONIA AND BRONCHITIS

Brought Mrs. Baker to Death's Door. Father Morrisey's No. 10 Saved Her.

Of the many hundreds of cures wrought by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic) few are more remarkable than the saving of the life of Mrs. John S. Baker, of 164 Rockland Road (North End), St. John, N.B. She wrote on Oct. 15, 1909: "I wish to express my gratitude that I am living to-day, saved from the grave by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic). This time last year I had pleuro-pneumonia and bronchitis, and had been given up to die, and had my lungs tapped in the City Hospital, and never expected to walk again; I was continually getting worse every day. I came home from the hospital, and everyone was watching for me to die. I tried everything but there seemed to be no cure for me. "I began taking Father Morrisey's No. 10, and the second day I could eat without pain. I used 22 bottles of No. 10, as I was run down right into consumption, and for several months I was in bed until I began to get up, and I am in good health, and surprised most of my neighbors. I feel it my duty to publish it everywhere I can, as with all I can say I cannot recommend it too highly. It is a saver to me, and I am very thankful to recommend it, as it is worth all I can say. Father Morrisey's No. 10 is very different from the many preparations that simply relieve a cough. No. 10 relieves the cause of the cough, restores the membranes of throat and lungs to a healthy condition, and tones up the whole system, giving strength to resist future attacks. WHEN THE SPECKLED TROUT ARE BITTING

(Geo. A. Cleveland, in the National Sportsman). There's a keeness in the rarin', There's an ardor in the dreams, Of the days we'll be returning To the mountains and the streams In the happy haunts inviting When the baln is in the sky, And the speckled trout are biting At the angleworm and fly. When the mellow day is breaking As the pines begin to croon, And the heron is awaking To the bugle of the loon, When the partridge in the clover Will be drumming out the roll, To call the quail and plover On the meadow and the knoll. When the woodpecker's tapping On the hollow of the snag, And the nighthawk is napping To the hum of the winged throng, When the wood thrush is trilling In the shadow of the dell, And the woodcock is drilling In the loaming or the field. It is then we'll be blending To the merry roundelay, By the waters a wending To the music of the spray, So our weary hearts are lighting As the days are dawning high, When the speckled trout are biting At the angleworm and fly.

CANADIAN MISSIONARY WHO DIED IN LIBERIA

Mrs. Lillian Morrison, a Canadian, who died in Liberia, West Africa, where she had gone as a missionary. She went from Toronto. "Scotty," the well-known Death Valley gold miner, who is famous for the recklessness with which he throws his money, made a bet in New York the other night that he could pick up a hairpin on every block for nine blocks up Broadway, or forfeit $500 for each block missed. A big crowd followed him as he made the search, and he actually did find one or more hairpins on each block, thus winning $4,500.

HAD SEVERE PAINS IN HIS BACK. COULD HARDLY WORK.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Corrie, Ont., writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stopped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot say too highly in their favor. "This was only two years ago and I still remain cured. Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo. Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged. Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They help the kidneys to flush off the acid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages. Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

IN THE MIST OF LIFE The Jester went to the mountain peak And turned to gaze behind—"Was that a path for a step so weak? Thank God that I was blind. "The sunlit stretch where I laughed so loud, Did it skirt that precipice? The bridge where I stood to sketch the cloud, Did it span that black abyss? "When I turned aside to the little stream, Was that a path for a step so weak? Was the eagle's swoop in the evening gleam On the bones I see from here?" He faced to the front again; his sight Could scarce discern the track; The slope on the left with mist was white And the wood below was black. In a hollow just ahead The pathway crept along, Enough to hid for mirth, he said, And the curlew heard his song. —E. T. Hopkins, Westminster Gazette.
