"TRISTRAM OF BLENT"

BY ANTHONY HOPE

CHAPTER VII.-(Continued.)

"You'll soon change that, if you say through his spectacles. much more." His pleasure in her implied praise was obvious, but he did not read a single word more in her speech than the words she uttered.

"Yes, he's interesting." And she added a moment later, "You're having a good look at him, Mr. Neeld." me whether I see you or not-"

"What?" she cried. The next mo ment she was laughing. "Thanks, Bob, er, you know." but-but you've a funny way of puthand on his arm for a moment, sigh-only reply to her little caress. if I came to you some day and again. said I'd been a fool, or been made a said I'd been a fool, or been made to fool of, and was very unhappy, and— he asked at last.

"Oh, it's no secret that he wants to

His answer came after a puff and a trying to win from her more than she was giving. The case did not present did. in that light to Bob Broadley. besides, a vague idea that he would spoil for her the feeling she had if he greeted it with too much enthusiasm. What she wanted was a friend—a solid, possibly rather stolid, friend; with the commodity he was prepared to "Yes, poor woman!" and he meant to try. A few polite questions brought him to the point of inquiring her mationality.

"It sounds as if she was dying," said Mina at last in a low voice.

"Yes, poor woman!"

"I sounds as if she was dying," said Mina at last in a low voice.

"Yes, poor woman!"

"I saw her once lately. She was very beautiful, Mr. Neeld."

"Yes, yes, to her own great trouble, send her Mr. Cholderton's Journal. It that commodity he was prepared to provide her. Any sign of agitation in her he answered and hoped to quiet after my father died. My uncle—who by an increased calm in his own manner. The humblest men have moments of pride; it must be confessed that Bob thought he was behaving not only with proper feeling but also with consider "Rather dull," said Mina. It seemed of Blentworth at the Care of proper feeling but also with consider-able tact—a tact that was based on much the same at Blentmouth at the "Yes," so of Blent." knowledge of women.

leading at Fairholme. That seemed to had a newspaper in his hand, and he have little concern with Bob Broadley and to be engrossed in the Mina. have little concern with Bob Broadley and to be engrossed in the struggle between Harry and Duplay.
Both men pressed on. Harry had not Been served away on the table. Something I see, Neete."

She received him in the library; the Journal lay on the table. Something the groom altered the stirrups to suit him. Both men pressed on. Harry had not been scared away. Duplay would win without using his secret weapon, if he without using his secret weapon, if he condit. Each had his manner; Harry's constrained yet direct; the Major's more florid, more expressed in glances, compliments and attentions. Neither had yet risked the decisive word. Janie was playing for delay. The Major seemed inclined to grant it her; he would make every step firm under him before he took another forward. But Harry grew impactent, was imperious.

Both men pressed on. Harry had not invested and the sacret weapon, if he end, if not itself," he said.

"It's the beginning of the end, if not the was listening, and his eyes were know a five told. And still he's been then without using his secret weapon, if he end itself," he said.

"You told? Whom did you tell?"

"My love," said Janie. Her father glanced quickly at her.

"Oh, Mr. Neeld, have you written a look? It's the beginning of the end, if not the end itself," he said.

"Our carnest good wishes to her."

"My love," said Janie. Her father glanced quickly at her.

Harry jumped into the saddle, waved his hand to them, and started at a gailogously and indulging in a number of called the same as the passed of the same and without weapon, if he was listening, and his eyes were kind to me." Her volce shook.

"You told? Whom did you tell?"

"Never mind—or guess, if you can. I was any to make some also an underlying nervousness which is an trother was her way to make some in the they now interesting. What is it? he said.

"Our carnest good wishes to her."

"Now to me' they volce shook.

"You told? Whom did you tell?"

"Never mind—or guess, if you can. I was any to make some of flatness came only resource. A sense of flatness came of the sand than, the father show in the fine that something beyond in the fine of the father was latentions. Neither hold.

"The parsent make yet told. And still he's been with a topic. I was a special the first time to the first manner of the firs would he given to any action of his while Lady Tristram gray and made his action seem rather using the news from Fairholme, and an hout a child of five!"

What fun if he mentioned me! Oh, but occurse he wouldn't say anything frighten him. At least it was worth on the sudden agarant of the more in the sage of the conduct would he given to the engaged before one of them was out. Could he be married before the less was the Major Satisfied with his position and resources. The seem out. Could he be married before the last and succurse? Mrs. Iver would have sord that he does not shink that Cholderton was."

The allowed this aspect of his conduct would have sord them was out. Could he be married before the less was the Major satisfied with his position and resources. The seem out. Could he be married before the less was the Major satisfied with his position and resources. The seem had not reason to think that Cholderton was."

The suppose he stayed at Berlim. Then had the early the point was often and the must ask still, and he had the great to count the sudging and made his action seem rather usly year to himself. Neeld own dury of yours at all." she objected. But the converse would have seen head as the strongest motive for holding it as the strongest motive for holding it as the strongest motive for holding it with a mind the law the ment of the law, and then the sudden as the strongest motive for holding it with a mind the law the married before the law as the strongest motive of holding it with a mind the law the ment of the law as the strongest motive of holding it with a mind the word with all the law. Tristram ment the usly year to himself. Need on seed a little. "Yes, lost here, page and made his action seem rather usly year to himself. Need on the wide a little curies the wind have seen head as the strongest motive of himself. Need on the word with with all was it logal was not the law the mind the marked mind the mind ly man, who was introduced to him as Mr. Jenkinson Neeld. Harry paid little attention to this insignificant person. and gave Mina no more than a careless skake of the hand and a good-humored had he shown her Lady Tristram? He to some chairs on the other side of the

"And that's Mr. Harry Tristram?"

EDICRE L SEEDS

Write for Catalogue of 1907 Farm and Garden Seeds to the Agents-

COMPANY, Limited.

125 Government St., Victoria, B.C. anything about he

| said Neeld, looking at him intently

"Yes," said the Imp briefly-she was

"Dear me, was I staring? I hope not. But-well, we've all heard of his moth-

"I'm afraid the next thing we hear had seen at Blent Hall was in her mind and she spoke sadly. "Mr. Tristram ng, "Dear old Boo!"
"Oh, you know what I mean," he will succeed to his throne soon now."
Neeld looked at her as if he were said, puffing away. His healthy skin Neeld looked at her as if he were had flushed a trifle, but that was his about to speak, but he said nothing. and his eyes wandered back to Harry riding hard."

"You knew about---?"

"They're friends-Miss Iver and he?"

marry her "And does she-?"

Mina laughed, not very naturally. "Well, if you ever get like that, I should recommend you just to try me for what I'm worth," he said. Her more her words meant to herself than said Iver. "But you'd best be off at eyes were fixed on his face, but he did not look at her. Some men would have been amazed to find that seen in her appeal an opportunity of Neeld was thinking that she would not look at her. Some men would have been amazed to find that seen in her appeal an opportunity of Neeld was thinking that she would not look at her appeal an opportunity of look at her appeal an opportunity

He did not press his own advantage, With a sudden revulsion of feeling ments. he hardly believed in it; and he had, Neeld wished himself far from Blent-

"Oh, we're Swiss. But I was born at poor thing!" by an increased calm in his own man-ner. The humblest men have moments brother; he was in the Swiss service." brother; he was in the Swiss service."

Interviews such as these—and they were not infrequent—formed a rather incongruous background, but also an undeniable belief, to the life Janie was undeniable belief, to the life Janie was and sat down on Mina's other side. He

"How horrid!" remarked Mina, greatly disappointed; she 'regarded Mr.
Neeld with a new interest all the same.
They were both struck with Attails and sullen with him, sorry she had ever touched the affair at all, ready, he suspected, to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be struck with Attails and sullen with him, sorry she had ever touched the affair at all, ready, he suspected, to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected, to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all, ready, he suspected to grasp at any excuse for letling it does not be affair at all any excuse for letling it does not derton's Journal, Madame Zabriska."
"How horrid!" remarked Mina, great-They were both struck with this strange coincidence—as it seemed to them; though in fact they should meet was serious in another way. Of him-waited. The first part of her work was skake of the hand and a good afraid of her amused nod; he was not afraid of her any longer. She had done what harm at Blentmouth was not properly a co-incidence at all. There was nothing ow it would be on his side. Else why surprising about it; the same cause and ly similar impulses had brought them both there. The woman who lay dying at ies necessary. But would she give it? marks time to soak in, "between May ies necessary. But would she give it? Blent and the young man who sat making love under the tree yonder—these and no more far-fetched causes—had brought them both where they was claring that she had made a blunder.

Blent and the young man who sat making love under the tree yonder—these capable of turning round on him and declaring that she had made a blunder.

Duplay was conscious that she was capable of turning round on him and declaring that she had made a blunder.

If she did that the had made a blunder. and no more far-fetched causes—had declaring that she had made a blunder. know." brought them both where they were.

Mina knew the truth about herself, Neeld about himself; neither knew or guessed it about the other. Hence their > had disappeared amongst the bushes, had spared his enemy none of the bit-"You're sort of old acquaintances at econd-hand, then," said Iver, smiling, pleasure in humbling him for the sake of the triumph itself, apart from its

"He didn't like me," remarked Mina. effect on the Ivers, father and daugh-"He used to call me the Imp."

"Yes, yes," said Neeld in absentter. But could he do it? He abode by the conclusion that he was bound to minded acquiescence. "Yes, the Imp." try, but he was not happy in it.
"You don't seem much surprised!" Harry's attitude would be simple. He cried Mina in mock indignation.

ter. But could he do it? He abode by would at the proper time produce his

"Surprised?" He started more vio- certificates, testifying to the death of lently. "Oh, yes—I—I— Of course! I'm "A laugh from his host spared him ents, his own birth. The copies were in the effort of further apologies. But he perfect order and duly authenticated was a good deal shaken; he had nearly they were evidence in themselves; the betrayed his knowledge of the Imp. In-deed he could not rid himself of the idea that there was a very inquisitive looked after, and Duplay did not doubt ok in Madame Zabriska's large eyes. it. What had he to set against it Mina risked one more question, put Only that the third certificate was false ery carelessly.

"I think he must have met Lady Triseven Mina knew where—bearing some ery carelessly. ram there once or twice. Does he say dates—neither he nor Mina knew what there must be two certificates - one

"Not a word," said Neeld, grasping fatal to Harry's case as fixing his birth he nettle firmly this time.

Mina took another look at him, but at least grave suspicion on it by reblinked resolutely behind his glasses.

"Well, it's just like Mr. Cholderton leave these certificates? Cono leave out all the interesting things," ceivably they had been destroyed; that out. I can answer no questions about the observed resignedly. "Only I won-was not likely, but it was possible. At "it. Please don't press me, Madame Zader why you edit his book if it's like any rate, to find them would need much time and money. On reflection, the "I will know "Hello, what's that?" exclaimed Iver, Major could not blame Harry for defymost angrily. suddenly sitting up in his chair.

They heard the sound of a horse's ing him by the Pool.

It will be seen that the information deep perplexity expressing itself in his at the moment rather bored by Mr. Sallopping on the road outside. The noise of the hoofs stopped suddenly.

"An interesting-looking young man." They sat listening. In a minute or two the butler led a groom in the Tristram of the butler led a groom in the Tristram of the butler led a groom in the Tristram of the butler led a groom in the property of the property of the butler led a groom in the property of the p the butler led a groom in the Tristram ute in the matter of dates as that livery on to the lawn. He came quickabout Lady Tristram?" ly across to Iver, touching his hat.

"Beg pardon, sir, but could I see ton, and which was now locked away Mr. Tristram? I've an important mes- in the drawer at Mr. Jenkinson Neeld's speak of Lady Tristram.' chambers. The Major would have been materially assisted by a sight of that wen I told you he called me the Imp. At the same moment Janie and Harry Tristram came out on to the grass. ting things sometimes." She laid her about her will be the last." What she Harry saw the groom and was with necessary area of inquiry and given a too. But in an instant she was eager them in a moment, Janie following.
"Well, Sam, what is it? You were definiteness to his assertions which must have carried added weight with "It was no use reprinting poor Lady Mr. Iver. As it was, he began to be Tristram's story." He sat down again "Her ladyship has had a relapse, sir, convinced that Mina would decline to trying to look as though the subject and Dr. Fryer ordered me to ride over and tell you at once. No time to lose, ly, and this was all she had professed hands together nervously and would be and tell you at once. No time to lose, ly, and this was all she had professed hands together nervously and would be a second to the control of the contr to do in her first disclosure. Duplay not meet Mina's eyes. There was a "Did you bring a horse for me?"
"No, sir. But I'm riding Quilldriver." acknowledged that, as matters stood, long pause; Mina rose, took the Jour the betting was in favor of his adver- nal, put it in the cupboard and turned "I'll go back on him. You can walk." sary. the key on it. She came back and sto

He turned to the rest. "I must go at Mina, being sulky, would not talk to over him. once," he said. "I don't know what this her uncle; she could not talk to Janie Iver; she did not see Harry, and would the Journal? I'm sure you know." not have dared to talk to him if she had. But it need hardly be said that panying him. Mina and Neeld were left ing there whetted a curiosity it could together, and sat in silence some monot satisfy. She felt out of the game, "It sounds as if she was dying," said last resort, in a last effort to keep in touch with it, although she had been warned that she would find nothing of came the day after it was published, "Oh, everybody knew, Madama Za- Neeld's acquaintance, and while Lady f Blent," she said.
"Yes," said Neeld. "He'll be Tristram Without a moment's hesitation he went; with him too all resolutions to Both fell into silence again, 'looking know and to care nothing further about > ner and malice to her eyes; those who light with the Journal and the amusement and instruction she had gained he can do much without me—without sinner there."

>
> he can do much without me—without alone with him; she wanted another buplay was puzzleg. Although not a girl who erected every attention of "You told me right," she added; "I and waited for an answer. The quiet of the book-lined room (there were the yellowy-brown volumes from which she had acquired her lore!) was broken by a new voice. They both started to hear it, and turned alert faces to the self Duplay knew nothing; Mina was his done. She had made Neeld very un-only witness; her evidence, though really second-hand, was undoubfedly after she had given her previous reand she said yes-with her eyes, you know. She speaks mostly that way now. Well, she always did a good deal, onder and their unreasonable feeling to upset them. There were moments there was something of a fate when the Major himself wished that he Journal told Neeld anything? Was at there was something of a fate ringing them together in that place.

"You're sure he says nothing about "You're sure he says nothing about the says nothing about the says nothing about the says their restrictions."

When the Major himself wished that he says not challenged Harry to battle on any their restrictions. There was something about his says their restrictions. evening, and she liked that too."
"I hope Lady Tristram is—er—going

"You're sure he says nothing about us?" she urged.

"You'll not find a word," he replied, sticking to the form of assertion that salved his conscience. He looked across the lawn again, but Janie and Harry had disappeared amongst the history had disappeared amongst the history and the respective power to be sure their respective power to win Janie Iver's affections. But it seemed too late to go back. Besides, and in my discretion I omitted it."

"Why didn't you tell me that the other day." You gave me to understand that he calls marked his graphy and the proof that the meaning of his asterisks?

"There was something about his visit to Heidelberg, but it contained nothing of public interest. Madame Zabriska, and in my discretion I omitted it."

"Why didn't you tell me that the other day." You gave me to understand that he calls marked his contained nothing to the ideal by the pool ranked. Harry, as usual, had snared his graphy and the proof the contained nothing to the ideal by the contained nothing to the ideal by the contained nothing to the ideal by the on well?" asked Neeld. positeness in his coming which appealed that he only mentioned Heidelberg to her, and she watched Neeld with

> DODD'S PILLS L KIDNEY DISE

"I may have expressed myself---Headaches Mean Neeld rose to his feet and took a tur Blood Is Poisoned "In my discretion I left the passage

"I will know," she said excitedly, al-

Neeld came to a stand opposite her

"You know?" she said. "It was it

"Know what?" Mr. Neeld was fight-

"But I don't want to tell you unless

"Yes, I know. My mother told me.

They understood one another now

"You mean about Harry Tristram?

"Yes. At first I didn't know what meant to him. But I know now."

Neeld made no reply, and there was

"And you know what it would mean to him?" she asked.

Neeld nodded; of course he knew window whence it came. Harry Tristram, in flannels and a straw hat, stood

"I've got an hour off," he explained.

"Yes. I told her what you did one

"She sent her love to me?"

overt eagerness.

vaulted over the sill.

"she's dying joyfully."

"She doesn't suffer, thank you."

Mina invited him in; there was an ap-

Harry looked round the room, then

"My uncle's playing golf with Mr. Iver," remarked Mina. "Tea?"

"No; too sick-roomy. I'm for nothing but strong drink now - and I've had some." He came to the middle of the room and stood between them, flinging on's Journal had so lately lain. "My mother's an extraordinary woman." he

After an instant Mina asked, "Why?"

Neeld was surprised at the baldness of

"It's like going off guard-I mean, rather, off duty-to her, I think." He the question, but Harry took it as na-his hat on the table where Mr. Choide ie asked, simply, but in a low voice.

you know! No, I'm sure you know!

leeld made no further pretence.

ing in the last ditch.

"And you know?"

that.

only, Madame Zabriska?

If your bowels, kidneys or skin are not ridding the system of waste-matter, the blood is laden with impurities, which inflame the nerves. It is these irritated nerves that make the head ache.

"Did he talk about us? Did he talk Powders and pills won't cure, "I am speaking to you, and to you they merely drug the nerves into unconciousness and "Yes, yes—to me only."
"He did mention you, and he did relieve for a short time. "Fruit-a-tibes" cure Headaches, Neuralgia and Nerve Pains > because they purify the blood. They act directly on the three great eliminating organs -Bowels, Kidneys and Skinand restore them to healthy action, thus ridding the system of all poisons.

> 'Fruit-a-tives' are fruit juiceschemically changed, by the process of combining them, into a far more effective medicinal compound than the natural juices. 50c. a-box
> —6 for $2.50. At all dealers' or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

on (FRUIT LIVER TABLETS.) 118

been lonely but for the Major's attenwith haste. "Life has always seemed rather like an obligation to do things you don't want to—not that she did on business—showing to Mr. Neeld's tions. Her father had gone to London Neeld made no reply, and there was them all—and now she's tired, she's relief, no disposition to take the Journother moment of silence. Neeld wore glad to leave it to me. Only she wishes nal with him to read on the way a restless, timid, uneasy air, in strong I was a bit better-looking, though she Neeld was absurdedly nervous about send her Mr. Cholderton's Journal. It contrast to the resolute intensity of came the day after it was published.

Mina's manner; she seemed to have four days after she had made Mr. taken and to keep the upper hand of know. I've a sort of notion"—he seem—Neeld was absurdedly nervous about the Journal now. His mother was entaken and to keep the upper hand of know. I've a sort of notion"—he seem ed to forget Neeld, and looked at Mina Swinkerton had started for the bneff for sympathy-"that she thinks she'll of the poor of Blentmouth. Bible-readbe able to come and have a look at Blent and me in it, all the same." His smile took a whimsical turn as he spoke it that the beneficiary, if she liked ore, of his mother's dying fancies.

"What are you going to do?"

He raised his hands and let them drop again in a confession that he did not know.

"I knew and I told" she said.

"What are you going to do?"

Mina glanced at Mr. Neeld; was a picture visible to him that rose before her eyes—of the poor sprit coming that the bank-books had got stored the bank that the bank-books had got stored that the the matter vanished before the first chance of seeing more of it. And Mina had been Mina de Kries.

She received him in the library; the saw a stranger enthroned at Blent, no word and no leisure. It was spiteful. I was the Imp! I've and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not size and no series of the poor sprit coming that the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not size and seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not size and seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not size and seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, the homeless are seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Clearly Mrs. Iver, and knew not where to look for her homeless, landless son? Mina was not seed the bank-books had got stored away with the seed. Tristram knows I've told, though he certain that she could safely credit denies there's anything in it. But he Neeld with such a flight of imagination; never made advances. The field was knows I've told. And still he's been kind to me." Her voice shook.
"You told? Whom did you tell?"

still he was listening, and his eyes were very gentle behind his spectacles.
"The parson came to see her yester-was more amusing as one of two attentions."

would make every step firm under him before he took another forward. But that's just as good," Mina inin sealis on her time, and might face her with the demand for an answer any day. She could not explain how it was, but somehow his conduct seemed to be influenced by the progress of Lady Tristram's illness. She gathered this idea from words he let fall; perhaps his mother wanted to see the afhaps his mother wanted before she died. Dunlay was not and on much without me-ewithout me and without you. If we wented another in master's track. Janie Iver stood looking as long as Harry was in sight.

"But that's just as good," Mina ining as long as Harry was in sight.

"But that's just as good," Mina ining as long as Harry was in sight.

"We won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the whole thing in a not in since there."

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anyhow he wouldn't if he wanted to get the won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and without you. If we held in many with the Journal and the amusement and instruction of liking into an obligation of liking into an oblisisted amiably. "Do tell me what it is tour business? You suppress the new appeal is how he vouldn't if he wanted to get the new and without you. If we held in many we held in spare the horse," said Iver.

"He won't spare the horse," said Iver.

"Well, he can't this time; and anth we held on mone had in surtent on the head instruction of liking into an oblisurtent hard.

"The Ivers!" Wall's it to the only twenty-two."

"Yes, I know," she smiled, "though What would happen if he did." Victory "Yes, I know, she shined, thought of constantly forget it all the same."

"Well, twenty-three, come the twentieth of July," said he. His eyes were here his characteristic smile on his characteristic smile on his on hers, his characteristic smile on his possible ally; Harry's position lips. It was a challenge to her lips. It was a challenge to her.

"I shan't forget the date," she answered, answering his look too. He sighed lightly; he was assured that she was with him. The twentieth of July! The Editor of Mr. Cholderton's Journal sat listening: Mr. Cholderton's Journal sat listening; as long as he could. Defeat would

"I must get back," said Harry. "Walk with me to the dip of the bill" with me to the dip of the bill" with me to the dip of the hill." With a glance of apology to Neeld, she followed him and stepped out of the window; there were two steps at the side leading up to it. "I'll be back and at the ways of a world whereit directly," she cried over her shoulder, not even Truth shall triumph as she joined Harry Tristram. They walked to the gate which marked the end of the terrace on which Merrion suming an aggrieved air, and hinthal suming an aggrieved air, and hin "I'm so glad you came! You do be- glance of her eye. She behaved for severe moral condemnation in eve we in me now?" she asked. "Yes, and I'm not afraid. But do you gun the whole thing, and entirely the world as though the Major had b know-it sems incredible to me-I'm nored her own responsibility. She not thinking of that now. I shall again directly, when it's over. But now-well veyed the view that he was the Blent won't sem much without my defender, of the Tristrams. Such "She couldn't rest if you weren't there," cried Mina, throwing back the a bit of gymnastics for Duplay to an impression she had received, as her d.s. a bit of gynniastics for unreasonab

"I haven't changed about that, but it will wait. Three days they say now —three days, or maybe four and then -three days, or maybe four, and then -she goes." Together they stood, looking down.

went on, evidently so full of his thoughts that he must speak it out; Wina's heart was very full. She was thoughts that he must speak it out; Wina's heart was very full. She was Now you say you won't help me, you'll have the must speak it out; with the Tristrams indeed now, thick have nothing to do with it! cause must stand. Harry turned to her suddenly.

"Say nothing of this to the Major, with wanton disregard for truth Let him alone; that's best. We'll see about all that afterward. Good-by."

"And—and the Ivers?" She could not Tristram then." made the correction thoughtfully and restrain the question.

A slight frown came on her brow; he med to have no relish for the sub-Merel "Oh, that'll wait, too," he said impo iently. He caught her by the arm ne had done once before. "If all they REAL true (he smiled at her as she spoke I'd change with no man in England emember that. If it comes to a figi and I'm beaten, remember that." And REPLIES TO ADVERTISEME

e ran down the hill. Mina returned slowly to the library nd found Neeld walking restlessly and fro. For the moment they did not speak. Mina sat down and followed the old gentleman's figure in its restless

"You heard him about his mother?" ne asked at last.

He nodded, but did not reply. "You make all the difference." she lurted out after another pause. Again he nodded, not ceasing his walk. For a minute or two Mina endured the suspense, though seemed more than she could bear. Th he sprang up, ran to him, intercepte m, and caught hold of both his hands arresting his progress with an eager perious grip. "Well?" she cried. "Well? What are you going to do?" For a moment still he waited. Then spoke deliberately.

graph Company should confer M. Fulton, manager Great No ern Telegraph Company, 92 Gov "I can't consider it my duty to anything, Madame Zabriska.

"Ah!" cried the Imp in shrill cried the Imp in shrill triumph and she flung her arms round his neck WANTED—Man for position of collector and clerk of Saanich pality. All applications must July 12th. Address H. O. Ca and kissel him. She did not mind his putting it on the score of duty. CHAPTER IX. quitz, B. C.

The Man in Possession. In these days Janie Iver would have

ANY INTELLIGENT PERSO earn $75 to $109 monthly corre-for newspapers; sure, steady v canvassing; experience unn Send for particulars. Press S Lockport, N. Y. WANTED-FEMALE HE A exertisements under this head a word each insertion. WANTED—Girl for light ho small family. Apply Mrs. D 217 Pandora street, city. WANTED-Lady stenographer experienced and willing to books. Apply P. O. Box 275. steady work. Apply to Mr. Mackay Smith, Blair & Co., V WANTED-Experienced waitre

WANTED-A good woman for housework; must be good cool Box 15, this office. WANTED-A first-class waitr WANTED-Two waitresses. WANTED-A woman to do gene work. Apply 47 King's road.

230, 253, 442, 450, 509, 705, 718,

LETTERS-B., C., F., G., H. ., T. J. O., R.

Advertisements under this head a word each insertion.

MEN WANTED, Apply B.

WANTED-A gentleman teach Rock Creek school. Apply by Henry S. Pittendrigh, Sec Board.

pply at once to Weiler B ment street, Victoria.

WANTED-Telegraph opera

WANTED-MALE HELI

earn $75 to $100 monthly corre ror newspapers; sure, steady canvassing; experience unn Send for particulars. Press S. Lockport, N. Y. WANTED—Ladies to do plain a sewing at home, whole or spa good pay; work sent any charges paid; send stamp for ticulars. National Manufacturi

SITUATIONS WANTED-1 a word each insertion.

COUNG MAN, 10 years' expe employment; first-class references Box 939, this office. WANTED—Position in office to man, seven years' experience references, not afraid of wor Box 642.

BOOKKEEPER, experienced officompetent to take charge, der gagement; highest references a monials. Address C. J. F., care Box 93. Victoria, B. C. CONTRACTORS—We can fur with laborers, or any kind of short natice; Poles, Slava, Italians, Lithunians, etc. Bost ping Co., 12 Norfolk street, No City.

FOR SALE. Advertis lisements under this hea a word each insertion. FOR SALE—One team horses Moore, Whittington & Co., Ltd B1108.

FOR SALE—A family cow, fine Jersey grade, newly calved. "Edgewood," Fraser street, of malt road.

FOR SALE—A young girl's bi good condition, very cheap. In 304 Richmond Ave. FOR SALE—General purpose guaranteed gentle and reliable $75. M. Emerson, Otter Point. LOTS 4, 5 and 6, Sec. 3, cor. Dal and Beacon Hill Park; no mo able building site in Victoria; ble your money on this. Lot Sec. 5, on Garbally road, close las street. excellent building s las street, excellent building li, Bik. 5, Sec. 5, on Do close to Garbally road;

Owner, 44 9th Ave. West, V FOR SALE, CHEAP-5-room good repair. Electric light, seen at 11 Pine street, V For particulars Box 551, city. lars apply to ow

FOR SALE—House and lot, S. V Pandora and Quadra stree $4,000. Terms to suit purchaser. Hinkson Siddall & Son, New Theatre Building, Government FOR SALE—Lot just off For sood soil, no rock, price $350 hame street, $425 each; 3 to flower road, high and dry; each; acre lots Douglas hot Hinken Siddell $5 linkson Siddall & Son, heatre building, Governm

FOR SALE—A large list of houses, lots, acreage and farm around Victoria. Let us sh some good buys. Hinkson Si Son, New Grand theatre buildi ment street.

FOR SALE—Saddle horse, perfeand perfectly sound, jet bla oughly trained, has five a hurdles; weight 1,100. Price dress 1,221 High street, Bo Wash.

FOR SALE—New 20 ft. launch, 5 engine 3½ h. p., 1907 model. App Whittington, 159 Yates street. FOR SALE—Full sized patterns launch, molds, keel and stem Address Box 4, Times Office. FOR SALE-General purpose ness and buggy. Apply 19 Sto CUTE ON & CO., 114 Yates stree ladies' dresses to order. Cheap Chinese slik and cotton blow

FOR SALE—Shotgun, single ba trunk, $3.50; electric door bells, a volver, 32 cal., $2.50; camera marine glasses, $10; padlocks, 250 brushes, 25c. Jacob Aaronson and second-hand store, 64 street, two doors below Govern able circumstance," the Imp allege "Nonsense, Mina. You were deligh A GOOD DRIVING HORSE FOR Apply 88 North Chatham street

(To be Continued.)

volteface as this was not only palpaid

"What did you tell me for, then?" he