Made by Captain Buckholtz.

If information which has reached the Times can be relied upon, there is now being perfected in this city a scheme which has about it many of the elements of romance. It is stated that an expedition is being formed to proceed to the Siberian coast, where the promoters claim to have knowledge of beach deposits so rich as to totally eclipse the far-famed sands of Nome.

The discovery of this placer ground is attributed to Capt. Otto Buckholtz, of Victoria, who, it is said, located the new Eldorado when on his famous voyage to Nome last year-a trip which has become notorious in the annals of modern seafaring because of the hazardous nature of the undertaking, and the narrow escape which the daring navigators had from being pinched in the ice. It was while seeking for an open passage in the ice, by which he might reach Nome, that the hardy skipper of the Alpha is said to have made a discovery which revealed to him fresh possibilities in regard to gold discoveries.

The placers mentioned, being on the exposition, which opens in Buffalo on the Siberian coast, could not be staked with 1st of May, evidently believe in taking the impunity that would be possible were they in Canadian or United States territory. This difficulty, however, is for the exposition, is in the city to-day likely to be overcome through the forwith the purpose of interviewing the tunate presence on the coast of a gentleman from St. Petersburg. Capt. Buckholtz entered into negotiations with the Henderson recognizes that the benefits, Czar's subject, and through him, it is understood, a concession has been sethis far West by exhibiting would not cured, sufficient not only for placer diggings, but for a townsite as well.

The location of the find is carefully guarded, but the beach is reported to extend along a bay, and to be similar in character to that at Nome. Immense sand hills rise from it, while navigation to and from the point is rendered difficult by shoals which guard the approaches thereto.

It is intended to charter a schooner of the local fleet, load her with supplies, take a limited, number of argonauts aboard and set sail, with the opening of spring, for the Siberian coast. A fortune is expected to be reaped, as the information of the gold deposit is exclusive with the skipper, and, needless to say, he will be liherally rewarded for his services in piloting the others to the golden beach.

It has long been regarded as probable that the Siberian coast would contain a similar deposit to that at Nome, and several attempts have been made to operate there, but the Russians have hitherto
