WOULD PAY THE POLICE FOR LIQUOR CONVICTIONS

Magistrate Wishes They Would Get After Some of Those Who Violate the Law.

Edward Tuck arrived in the city on Sunday morning, went to work as a carpenter in the North End on Monday and was in the police court this morning for working without a license and not being a rate payer. The magistrate instructed him to get out a license, and in commencing on the case said he wished the police would be as active in reporting the illegal sale of liquor, "men," he said, "go into some of the best places in the city on Sunday and get liquor. I met a young man the other day who said he thought he would have to get his father put on the interdict list, for he came home Sunday intoxicated and raised a disturbance. The boy told me where his father got the liquor. It was in what is termed one of the best places in the city and it people were told what it was, they would be horror stricken to think that liquor would be sold in a 'best' place on Sunday. I hope that when the safety board comes into power it will take up the matter and have the police enforce the liquor license act, even if they have to be paid a fee like they are paid for reporting men for working without licenses."

LOCOMOTIVE DERAILED IN I. C. R. YARD

MONCTON, N. B., April 12.—Several rails were torn up and a number of sleepers smashed by the derailment of a freight locomotive in the I. C. R. yard last night. A train in charge of Conductor Lockhart and with driver Stockford at the throttle was entering the yard when the locomotive mounted a switch and was derailed along with several cars. The maritime express coming in a few minutes later had to be flagged as the main line was blocked by the snow in Quebec. Today's train is two hours late and the line is in better condition.

GOVERNMENT DECLINES TO GRANT PROHIBITORY LAW

Mr. Marshall when asked what he thought of the communication of the executive council replied that as yet he could not comment upon it. A meeting of the federal council will be held in the future when the premier's communication will be read and discussed. FREDERICTON, N. B., April 12.—The house committee of the whole on the liquor license bill, Mr. Maxwell argued that the frequent changes in the bill, and the adoption of prohibition. He complained that in St. John the law was openly violated with the consent of the liquor license commissioners but no notice was taken of this. As the bill stands a majority of the electorate will be necessary to bring the act into operation. He desired it to be extended so that a majority of those voting should be sufficient. The premier objected to this as manifestly unfair, as that on votes might only be a small poll, the majority should have the right to control the great majority of the inhabitants. The debate is proceeding.

CLAIM JURY IS DIVIDED 9 TO 3 FOR ACQUITTAL

liberations. Juror Pink, who was ill yesterday, seemed much improved this morning. The jurors spent a quiet night, according to the court officers who have them in charge, but continued their arguments and balloting until breakfast time. Still there is no sign of an agreement and the feeling that a verdict will never be reached is growing stronger every hour that the jury remains out.

Justice Fitzgerald announced, when he went to his home at 11.40 last night, that he would not return until 10.30 this morning unless he was sent for.

The jurors early today gave no sign of wanting to see him. Crowds began to assemble in the streets about the criminal court's building as early as 8.30 o'clock today. Several hundred persons gained an entrance and took up vantage points along the three tiers of balconies overlooking the interior court of the big structure. Thaw on his way to the Tombs, has to pass along the Mes-saline gallery and it was the hope of catching a glimpse of him or some member of his family that attracted most of the curious ones.

District Attorney Jerome said today that the longest period of confinement he had ever known a jury to endure in this jurisdiction was 48 hours. The court of appeals has approved the course of the court in that instance. It was persistently reported this morning that the members of the jury are divided 9 to 3, but just what grounds the decision is based on could not be determined. Some said 9 for conviction of manslaughter, while 3 for acquittal, while others declared it was 3 for conviction and 9 for acquittal on the grounds of insanity.

This report as to 9 and 3 division was lent a certain degree of color by the statements of persons who had watched the jury room windows early this morning. They said the jury was arranged for discussion in three groups with one man in the centre of each, shaking his head and refusing to con-sent with the expressed opinions of the others. The stories went so far as to name the three jurors who could not be moved by the arguments of their fellows.

Justice Fitzgerald, it developed today, had a long conference last night with Messrs. David McClure and Peter B. Olney, who were members of the commission in lunacy which would consider it wise to release Thaw in the event of a verdict of acquittal on the ground of insanity.

The court room was thrown open to the newspaper men at 10.30 o'clock today. Justice Fitzgerald reached the courthouse at 10.30.

The Thaw family arrived shortly before the court room was opened and entered the consulting room adjoining Agassiz hundreds of persons on the streets crowded around the doors in an attempt to get a close view of the woman in the case.

Justice Fitzgerald when he arrived at his chambers found no word awaiting him from the jury. At 11 o'clock they had not reached the point where they felt they were justified in asking for a discharge.

In this respect the jury is regarded as a remarkably conscientious set of men. They evidently feel that after such a long trial, and so much expense and inconvenience to all concerned, it is an unshrinkable duty to put forth every effort to reach an agreement.

Justice Fitzgerald, on his part, is determined to take no step looking to a dismissal of the twelve men until they make formal announcement of their disagreement and request to be released. The morning hours dragged along with nothing definite in sight.

CHARGES ASSYRIAN WOMAN WITH WHOLESALE SMUGGLING

George Mowrey spoke in Assyrian saying: "This is my night." He and his brother shoved her to one side and entered her bedroom. George upset the bed but did not find any goods. He then pointed to another door which led into the other section of the house that is occupied by Mrs. Strong who sells beer. Mowrey said that the door would have to be opened or they would break it. Witness then told the customs officer that she did not mind him coming to her house but that she did not want them in her house. Mrs. Strong was awakened but the party had to go round an outside door. Mowrey again took hold of the trunk and carried it away.

On the 26th of March she said she met Fred Mowrey on Brunswick street and he spent in her face. On the second of April Fred Mowrey again spent in her face and said that when they got word from Ottawa she would be sent to the penitentiary. Customs Officer Harry Sandall was called by the defence. He said he had been summoned on the telephone early on the Sunday morning in question and with his son on arrival at street was met by Fred Mowrey who conducted them to the Mowsey house. There they met George Mowrey who was on guard watching the place. He pointed out the house and said that persons had been trying to remove goods. They found no smuggled goods in Mrs. Mowsey's apartments, but on entering those occupied by Mrs. Strong, found a trunk and bundle of dry goods which were seized. He did not see the Mowseys assault the Mowsey woman.

To Mr. Raymond witness said he had no authority to break a door and had no right to break or search. He had invited George Mowrey into the house. He heard Mrs. Mowsey tell Mowrey he had no right there. Mowrey after searching the Mowsey's apartments with witness suggested going into the other apartments where they found the goods.

La Rose Sandall, son of the officer, gave evidence of the seizure and said he did not see an assault. George Mowrey took the stand in his own defence. He said he saw two men and a woman trying to leave the Mowsey's house about midnight. They acted like robbers. Mr. Sandall tried to catch Mrs. Mowsey before she got left. On this occasion witness sent a friend to telephone to Mr. Sandall. He came and in the search found the trunk and a bundle covered with rags in Mrs. Strong's apartments. Mrs. Strong said Lizette Mowsey left the goods there.

To Mr. Raymond defendant said that Fred Mowrey, Noah LeHood, Mike Hatty and Tom Hatty were near at the time of the seizure. Witness here became excited and said, "She has been smuggling goods for years and I am smuggling for her too. It is my business. Why I stopped doing business for her."

On the night in question he had scouted out and he watched the house. He would not answer when asked if he had not inform Mr. Sandall whenever Simon Mowsey arrived home from Eastport.

Mr. Raymond here told the defendant that he was a spy, a suspicious character, and a self-confessed smuggler. Defendant refused to answer whether or not he was under pay from Mr. Sandall.

He said he stopped helping Mrs. Mowsey to smuggle. He saw the suspicious trunk taken into Mrs. Mowsey's house on the Tuesday previous to the seizure. Witness would not answer whether he Hatty, LeHood and Hatty, and others were combined to get Mrs. Mowsey out of the colony.

Fred Mowrey also gave evidence which was not of much importance and denied having assaulted Mrs. Mowsey. The case against the defendants was allowed to stand with the understanding that they were to leave Mrs. Mowsey alone in the future.
