Head of Carlisle Branch of the Howards

Moving briskly about the rotunda of the Windsor Hotel last night might have been noticed a man of medium height, but walking with a stoop which made him seem shorter than he actually was, a man with prominent features and bright, keen, brown eyes, and with a white beard and moustache wearing a plain brown suit and a soft hat with the brim pulled well down over the face. Those who remarked him would probably never have imagined that the unassuming but alert and ac-tive-looking middle-aged man who strolled about the rotunda smoking a cigar was the head of an important branch of one of England's noblest families, was in fact no other than the Earl of Carlisle, chief of that branch of the Howards. LONDON, Oct. 15-A theatrical sensation has been provided by Miss Edna May, who on Saturday night threw up her part in the "Belle of Mayfair" at the Vaudeville Theatre.

Miss Edna May's action, as explained by her to a representative of the Over-Seas, is due to what she terms the injustice of the management of the Vaudeville Theatre in giving Miss Camille Clifford, whose recently an-nounced engagement to Lord Aber-dare's son has brought her remarkable publicity, greater prominence on the advertising matter of the theatre than she herself receives.

Miss Clifford, Miss May pointed out does not receive nearly such a large salary, yet because she is engaged to a peer's son she gets preference on the bills, and the name of Miss Clifford appears in larger type on the sand-wich boards.

"I am not going back," said Edna May. "My decision is final. I was en-gaged as the 'star' of the piece at £200 a week; I am not being advertised as the 'star,' and I am leaving because my contract has been broken. That there is no personal jealousy of Miss Camille Clifford, Miss Edna May

British Columbia Will Ask the Domin Parliament to Pass Restrictive Measures

VANCOUVER, Oct. 16.-British Columbia has determined to wage war against Hindoo invasion. Two hundred more of these cheap laborers arrived on the Athenian. A large number are en route on the Empress of Japan, and the Monteagle is to bring waiting at Hong Kong to take ship for Vancouver. There is no law to keep them out, but the province will demand of the Dominion parliament that it pass one at the ses held at Ottawa next month. R. G. MacPherson, M. P., has ready started a campaign in this direction; in fact, he has just returned from the federal cabinet and states that the Dominion government is so alive to the menace that it has decided to introduce restrictive legislation. It is pointed out, however, that by the time parliament gets to work the accomplished damage will be done. It is even declared that the companies which are figuring on large railroad contracts have hurried these Orientals here, and will continue to have them brought in until the law is changed, so that when active railway construction starts next year there will be no dearth of cheap labor.
