

ANOTHER WIN AND RED SOX TAKE THE PENNANT

BOSTON HAS THREE WINS AND CONFIDENT OF FOURTH AT PHILADELPHIA TODAY

Yesterday's Game Less Spectacular than Monday's and Red Sox Nose-out Victory by Close Margin of 2-1—Alexander Likely Phillies' Hope Again Today — Players Share of Receipts $144,899.50.

Boston, Oct. 12.—Only one winning game stands tonight between the Red Sox and the baseball championship of the world. For the third successive time they defeated the Phillies of the National League today by the same score that has marked all of the Red Sox victories—2 to 1.

Tomorrow the scene of battle shifts back to Philadelphia, where Alexander undoubtedly will be called upon to pitch his third game of the series in an effort to stem the tide of Red Sox success. The two teams left for Philadelphia tonight, the Phillies fairly deep in gloom and the Red Sox confident that the championship is but a step away. If Alexander should prove a winner in his own ball yard tomorrow the sixth game of the series will be played here on Thursday.

Alexander is the last hope of the Phillies. He is ready and anxious to go back in the box tomorrow, and is sure to give a good account of himself. He won from the Red Sox last Friday and was defeated yesterday only by a fierce batting rally in the last of the ninth. The Phillies themselves feel that if they can give "Big Alex." any sort of offensive support he will put across a victory tomorrow that at least will give the National Leaguers a fighting chance in the series.

Red Sox Never Headed.

The Philadelphia batters took rather kindly to Shore's offerings today and made more hits than they had registered in any one of the three previous conflicts. The power to drive in the runs was lacking, however, and eight of the visitors were left on the paths. But "Gavvy" Cravath sent Lewis back to the left field fence again today to catch a drive that on the Philadelphia grounds would have been a hit into the stands and good for the circuit. A little luck in placing these long hits tomorrow would make all the difference in the world behind a pitcher of Alexander's ability, and there are many students of the game tonight who do not share the confidence of the Red Sox that tomorrow's contest will be the last.

Differing widely from the two spraking, blood thugling games of Saturday and Monday, today's contest was decidedly common-place. The Red Sox got away in front and were never headed. Their margin never was very wide, but it seemed at all times sufficient and there was little to stir the crowd to the high pitches of excitement that marked the struggle of yesterday. The Phillies made a threat in their half of the eighth because "Trix" Speaker again had trouble with the sun and let Cravath's single bound over his head, the runner pulling up at third with a three bagger to his credit. Two were out at the time and the fans were not inclined to take a situation seriously until Luderus, who seemed to have found his batting eye at last, slammed out his third single of the day and sent Cravath scampering over the plate. Duguey went into run for Luderus and further complicated the situation by stealing second. Whitted, with a single, might have tied the score but his fast liner went directly at the Boston pitcher, who gamely knocked it down and viewed the Philly left fielder out at first.

GEORGE WHITTED

In both the first and second innings today Philadelphia had runners on second base with only one out, and in neither case were they advanced as far as third. In the first Bancroft was left at the keystone when Paskert and Cravath both struck out. In the second Luderus led off with a single, was sacrificed to second by Whitted and left there. The lack of driving power at psychological moments has been the deciding factor against the Phillies, for tonight while the score of games stands three to one against them, the Phillies have scored six runs to their opponents' seven.

Boston was lucky to score its first run today. Barry walked to begin the third. Cady laid down a bunt that ordinarily would have been an easy out, but George Chalmers, in the box for the Phillies, slipped as he went for the ball and could not recover himself until Cady was safe at first. Shore sacrificed Barry to third and Cady to second, and the former scored a moment later, when Hooper was credited with an infield hit on a ball that Niehoff should have got. It looked here as if the Sox were in a position to make enough runs in this one inning to decide the contest, but their attack failed. Scott popped up a foul and Speaker was out on an easy roller down the first base line.

CHALMERS, Philadelphia Pitcher.

The second, and eventually the winning Sox run, came over in the sixth, when Hobby singled and raced home.

During these first four games 123,040 persons have watched the play of the teams. They have paid $268,325.50 for their places. Of this sum the National Commission will receive $26,833.25. Each club treasury gains $48,299.85 from these games, and will be further enriched, as will the commission's strong box by the receipts at subsequent contests in which the players have no financial interests.

The day was made for baseball, a brilliant October sun having in its rays the warmth of early summer. Overcoats were cast aside, and some of the fans sat in shirt-sleeves. There was little to thrill the spectators, outside the circus catches of "Duffy" Lewis, so the fans amused themselves largely with music and songs. There were at least half a dozen brass bands in the big enclosure, surrounded by as many bands of organized rosters. As the home team was always in front, however, there was little to do any rooting for. So the crowds sang and cheered at intervals, and had a very sociable and enjoyable little party. It was a very satisfactory sort of day for the home fans, but they did not leave the Braves' field with that breath of excitement that marked the close of yesterday's ninth inning down fall of the mighty Alexander.

Tomorrow Manager Carrigan undoubtedly will send George Foster to the mound to oppose Alexander. Foster pitched a brilliant game in Philadelphia last Saturday, winning it with his own timely hitting, and he is anxious for a fling at the Philadelphia star.

The National Commission announced the following figures for today's game: Attendance, 41,096; total receipts, $26,833.25; National Commission's share, $2,683.32; players' share, $44,205.11; each club's share, $14,765.37.

The official box score and summary:

Philadelphia.

"JACK" BARRY

The players' participation in the profits is limited to the first four games. The winning team will receive $56,939.70, or sixty per cent. of the total.

As twenty-three players of each team are eligible contestants in the series, the individual share will amount to $3,779.98 each, if the division is equal. The players themselves are the authorities in deciding how the money shall be disposed of, and may reduce the allowance to utility men, who have figured little in the activities of the league season or of the series, by voting among themselves.

To the losers will go $57,959.80, or 23 shares of $2,519.12 each, if the division is equal.

The players' profits this year are not equal to those of 1911 and 1912, the record crowds at the two games played on the Braves' field falling to offset the restricted attendance at the Philadelphia Park.

GRAND CIRCUIT FURNISHED SOME THRILLS

Lexington, Oct. 12.—Hal Boy, the Hal P. Alatala gelding, owned by Stoughton A. Fletcher, of Indianapolis, Ind., defeated Judge Ormonde, the Ormonde-Hazel Banks stallion of Barton, of Columbus, O., in the $10,000 match race at the Grand Circuit meeting today. R. J. MacKenzie, of Canada, backed the Fletcher horse for $5,000, while C. A. Valentine, of Columbus, O., was credited with putting up the money for the side bet on Judge Ormonde.

The race was one of the most exciting, with the most thrilling finishes ever witnessed at a Lexington track. The first heat was easy for Hal Boy, but in the second he was only a head in front after catching Judge Ormonde at the eighth pole. In the third Judge Ormonde won a finish so closely only the judges could separate them. In the fourth, and deciding heat, Judge Ormonde took an early lead of two lengths, and held it to the turn into the stretch, where Hal Boy began to move. Hal Boy overhauled Judge Ormonde at the distance flag, and in a grueling drive in which the whip was used freely, led by a head at the wire. Summary:
