

FOR WOMEN

AMUSEMENTS

Nova Scotia I. O. D. E.

Meeting At Halifax

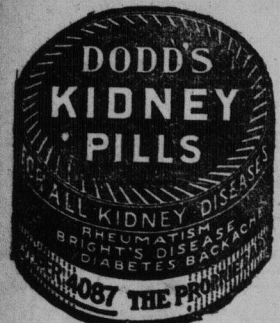

Mrs. Morrow is Elected New President of the Provincial Order.

Halifax, N. S., April 27.—Upwards of 200 were in attendance at the annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Chapter of the Imperial Order of Daughters of the Empire at the Church of England Institute here yesterday. Among the towns represented were Truro, Amherst, Annapolis, Lunenburg, Parrsboro and Kentville. The sessions were chiefly occupied with the hearings of reports, which showed that excellent progress was being made by the order throughout the province. Addresses were made by Mrs. Geoffrey Morrow and Mrs. F. W. Sexton, on "Secondary Education," and "Formation of Junior Chapters," respectively.

New Officers.

Officers were elected as follows: Hon. President, Mrs. MacCallum Grant, Halifax; president, Mrs. Geoffrey Morrow, Halifax; second vice president, Mrs. M. C. H. Covert, Dartmouth; third vice president, Mrs. H. H. Lumbard, Truro; secretary, Mrs. J. H. A. Holmes, Halifax; educational secretary, Miss Georgeanne Pauline, Halifax; "Boys' Club" secretary, Miss Lock, Truro; treasurer, Mrs. Allan Duffin, Halifax; standard bearer, Miss Edith, Halifax; organizing secretary, Mrs. Whitman, Canada.

The Blue Forest coats are in satin or in tulle with the waist slightly defined by gathes or pleats on the sides.

Nursery Linoleum

That Will Stand Wear

"Gee up—for Happyland"

Nurseryland is Happyland when Linoleum covers the floor.

And isn't it a joy the way kiddies can roll and romp over its bright fresh surface! No hidden germs—no rough places to hurt little bare feet. No wonder Mother insists upon Linoleum as the ideal floor covering for the nursery.

LINOLEUM

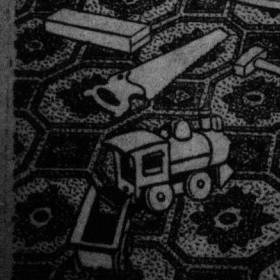

Needs only an occasional mopping to keep it bright and clean. It is the ideal floor covering to replace old and faded rugs and carpets. Many attractive designs to suit any color scheme.

Floor Oilcloth and Feltol are a little lower in price than Linoleum, for those desiring good looking floor covering for less money. Many pleasing designs.

Ask to see the array of Linoleum and Oilcloth Rugs, suitable for every room in the house.

IMPORTANT: Linoleum, Floor Oilcloth, Feltol, Linoleum and Floor Oilcloth Rugs are all made in Canada by Canadian workmen for the Canadian climate. Be sure that your dealer supplies you with them.

Leading Dry Goods and Departmental Stores, Furniture, House Furnishings and General Stores throughout Canada will gladly display these products.

TIPS TO HOUSEWIVES.

To remove spots from a carpet with-out leaving a stain cover with coarse salt and sweep up.

If melted paraffin is poured over the carpet, it can be removed by rubbing with a clean cloth as soon as it comes from the oven.

If you wish your bread to have a soft crust wrap in a clean cloth as soon as it comes from the oven.

Cheese biscuits, made by adding grated cheese to the biscuit dough, are delicious served with salad.

To prevent starch from sticking to the iron add a little borax when mixing.

Wash dried fruits, dry in oven, and place in glass jars ready for use.

If an oil stove smokes, drop a small piece of gum camphor into the tank.

When washing a clothed with soap, wash around washboard and scrub with soap.

The Japanese dry white silks in a dark room. This prevents their turning yellow.

When buying pecan nuts avoid those which have been treated with a bright red color.

If you wish to keep parsley, place in fresh water in ice chest and change water every day.

Stains on flannels may be removed by applying yolk of egg and glycerine in equal quantities. Leave on this mixture for half an hour and then wash out.

After getting the ingredients together before mixing a cake, warm the bowl by pouring into it boiling water. Let stand a few minutes, then pour out and dry. It must be warm enough to soften but not melt the butter.

When beats are left from dinner wash them and rinse in boiling water to free them from water; or sauce, and drop into a weak vinegar. In this condition they may be kept for a long time and may be used as needed for salads and garnishing.

When frying fish or anything for which boiling fat must be used a small pinch of salt will stop the fat spluttering over the stove.

To remove tea stains from china, rub salt on them. This will remove almost any discoloration on china or crockery.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR GIRL.

By HELEN ROWLAND

(Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

A "DUR," according to a "Jab," is a man who can't even take a kiss from a girl "against her will," without making her indignant.

In these days of repeated divorce and progressive matrimony, one can never tell "Who's Whose in America."

Happy wives are so apt to slump down and vegetate; because, somehow, a successful marriage seems to take all the competition out of life, for a woman.

Never believe that justice is all you owe your husband; what every normal man needs from the woman who loves him is MERCY!

Where is the modest young girl who used to hesitate to cross a gutter for fear of showing her ankles? Gone, gone, dear heart, with the modest young man, who used to hesitate to stare at her!

Sentimental botanists, who dissect their love to see what it is composed of, get about as much satisfaction out of life as diet-crank out of a good dinner.

Why is it that a woman's heart always feels less tender toward a man who paints his virtues in three colors and begs her to marry him, than toward the one who paints his sins in vermilion and begs her to "save" him?

A man's notion of escaping from a love-entanglement "honorably" is to do something so unpardonable that the girl will break it off, herself.

Blind love can sometimes see an awful lot of things to criticize, through the magnifying lens of matrimony.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

"Time and Tide" is the name of a London newspaper which is owned and controlled entirely by women.

The Tami Uri, the oldest newspaper published in Tokyo, also has the distinction of being the first to run a woman's page.

Probably among the oldest twin sisters in America are Mrs. Phoebe A. Cook, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Martin A. Solomon, of Grand Rapids, who have just celebrated their ninety-first birthday.

Fifteen denominations are represented in the membership of the International Women Preachers' association, organized in St. Louis a year ago and of which Madeline Southard, of Winfield, Kan., is the president.

The late Queen Victoria did her shopping by summoning tradesmen to send samples of their wares to Windsor for her inspection and selection, and the same procedure was followed by Queen Alexandra, Queen Mary, as Princess of Wales, however, made her regular visits to Bond street and has continued the practice since her accession to the throne.

Curry of Mutton With Rice. Cut a pound of stewing mutton in small pieces. Place in a saucepan and add cold water to well cover, $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. salt, 1 sliced carrot, a few celery tops and 1 chopped onion. Simmer until the meat is very tender and cut in small cubes. Strain the gravy in which it has cooked and there is not $\frac{1}{2}$ cup, add water to make the amount. Thicken by the addition of 2 tablespoons of brown flour mixed with a little cold water and stir until smooth and the sauce boils. Season to taste with salt and paprika and add 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley and 1 scant teaspoon of curry powder. Stir in the divided onion and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of kitchen bouquet; heat over hot water and serve.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

SEASONABLE RECIPES.

Astor Potato Salad. Mix together two cups of firm, cooked potato cubes, two sliced cooked beets, two tablespoons of chopped parsley, two chopped hard boiled eggs and half a grated large white onion. Pour over four tablespoons of vegetable oil and stand on the ice. When ready to serve the salad drain off any superfluous oil, dust with salt and paprika and moisten with a boiled or mayonnaise dressing. Heap in a mound on a salad platter, surround with a border or heart lettuce leaves and sprinkle with minced celery.

Buttered Cauliflower. Buttered cauliflower is a delicious way of serving this vegetable. Boil the cauliflower in salted water until tender; drain and separate into florets. Arrange on a dish and season with salt and pepper; then beat a cup of butter in the frying pan, but do not let it brown; sprinkle into it the breadcrumbs until it makes a thin paste, then spread over the cauliflower, serving while very hot.

Curry of Mutton With Rice. Cut a pound of stewing mutton in small pieces. Place in a saucepan and add cold water to well cover, $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. salt, 1 sliced carrot, a few celery tops and 1 chopped onion. Simmer until the meat is very tender and cut in small cubes. Strain the gravy in which it has cooked and there is not $\frac{1}{2}$ cup, add water to make the amount. Thicken by the addition of 2 tablespoons of brown flour mixed with a little cold water and stir until smooth and the sauce boils. Season to taste with salt and paprika and add 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley and 1 scant teaspoon of curry powder. Stir in the divided onion and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon of kitchen bouquet; heat over hot water and serve.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

It was not any more characteristic of American women than of English or French women to indulge in brightly colored hand bags, gay neck ruffles of feathers or tulle, bright hued bunches of artificial flowers—bought without much regard to costume, with which they were to be worn. We have just passed through a vogue for colored handkerchiefs, said to have been introduced into fashion when society first took snuff and to have reappeared periodically ever since, even though snuff is only a memory. The pure white handkerchief is the more usual choice of most women now, and one hardly needs to mention the passing of the polychrome finger—which was perhaps worn more often by the wax figures in the shop windows than by women of our acquaintance.

Scalds or burns can be cured by applying oatmeal and cold water. The cooling qualities of the meal help to draw out the fire from the burn, while its soothing properties heal it.

LESS COLOR USED. While there undoubtedly is some tendency to use of higher colors in clothes there seems to be a more restricted use of colored accessories than has been the case formerly. American women used sometimes to be criticized for their penchant for very bright silk petticoats worn with dark street suits or frocks. This taste was sometimes spoken of as really African.

Women's Auxiliary

Annual Convention

Second Day Taken up With

Receiving Reports—Committee Meetings Held.

The second day of the Women's Auxiliary's annual diocesan meeting opened in the Stone church at 9.30 with the Quiet Hour. Adjourning was then made to the school room where the minutes of Tuesday's meetings were read by the recording secretary, Mrs. H. J. Roberts. A number of committees submitted their reports, and an adjournment was made for luncheon.

During the luncheon hour the halting for diocesan officers began and continued until 3 p.m. when the ball was closed. During the afternoon conferences of the branch secretaries of Junior, Dorcas and Literature were held.

The Quiet Hour was conducted in St. John's church from 9.30 to 10.30 by the Pastor of St. John's church, Rev. J. H. A. Holmes. On adjournment to the school room the president, Mrs. G. F. Smith, expressed her appreciation of the service which she had, exceeded that of any other year, in helpfulness. She then introduced Miss Harris, a returned missionary from Cairo, Egypt, to the meeting. Miss Harris received a very cordial welcome.

Convenor of Literature. The convenor of the Literature committee, Mrs. J. F. Robertson, then submitted a report showing that two boxes of books had been sent to luncheon and that the Literature classes had shown an increase over last year. The Church of England Institute had given much valuable help and the use of the library. Records during the year had amounted to $73.73, and there was an expended balance of $11.44. A new study book on Canada was secured by the Literature committee. Mrs. J. F. Robertson, then submitted a report showing that two boxes of books had been sent to luncheon and that the Literature classes had shown an increase over last year. The Church of England Institute had given much valuable help and the use of the library. Records during the year had amounted to $73.73, and there was an expended balance of $11.44. A new study book on Canada was secured by the Literature committee.

Secretary-Treasurer. Mrs. Fred Foster, in submitting her report as secretary-treasurer of the Little Helpers, said that the organization included 1,110 members, with receipts of $400, an increase in membership of 200 and a gain in money of $80. There were 37 branches, three new ones having been opened during the year.

Organizing Secretary. The organizing secretary, Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, reviewed the work of the year and told of organization at St. George, Newmarket and White's Cove. She said a high tide in the girls' work and urged the delegates to secure suitable representatives of branches and a systematic visiting. The question of expenses was a big one, but there was a way. Speaking of expense of visiting organizers she suggested that some of the money received from the members be expended in this direction. The members spent their Christmas here, therefore, she suggested that $100 of the membership money be used in organizing work.

The Good Work. Representatives from various sections of the province spoke of the good work accomplished by visiting officials to branches and the sum of $125 was voted to be taken from the Life Members Fund to be devoted to this work.

Mrs. John M. Hay, Dorcas secretary, spoke briefly on the Dorcas conference to be held in the afternoon, and pointed out the necessity for Christianizing the Chinese in Canada.

At noon hour Bishop Richardson offered up prayer and branch reports were submitted, and balloting took place for the election of diocesan officers to the Triennial convention. Miss Fletcher, of Saskatoon spoke at luncheon.

The conferences held in the afternoon were of much benefit and profit to the officers of the different branches who met and exchanged views with each other. Mrs. A. C. McIntyre, the diocesan treasurer presided at the conference of branch treasurers, who assembled at 3 o'clock. The Junior Work secretaries convened at 3.30, Miss Portia, Mackenzie, diocesan junior secretary presiding. The diocesan secretary of Dorcas work, Mrs. John M. Hay, presided at the Dorcas conference at 3.45, and Mrs. James P. Robertson, the convenor of the Literature secretaries occupied the chair at 4.15. Adjournment was then made to 5 o'clock for the public missionary meeting.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Charles H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY

RELISHES.

Parsley butter made of equal parts of butter and finely-chopped parsley is a nice relish spread on small pieces of bread. Another relish is made of cold chicken. Cut it into small pieces, and heat in enough drawn butter to make it quite moist; then add one beaten egg and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Season with pepper and celery salt, cover the bottom of a dish with bread crumbs and pour in the chicken; stir crumbs over the top, put bits of butter over it, and bake until brown.

For the elaborate evening dresses, fine tulle bordered with large flowers and satin combined with silk lace or with long panels of embroidered tulle puffed with jet and metal threads are favored in this collection. There are some small squares and some pointed trains and many shoulder straps consisting of a single strand of jet.

The camel, while never a companionable beast, has one human weakness, an insatiable love for tobacco.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may be improved in appearance by being rubbed over with well-beaten white of an egg and then polished with beeswax and turpentine, the final rubbing being given with a soft, clean cloth.

When grease or milk is spilled on a hot stove the odor arising from this may be removed by sprinkling with salt.

Shabby leather bags may