

REV. W. E. BOWYER ACCEPTS A CALL FROM DETROIT

Tenders Resignation From Pastorate of Calvary
Baptist Church

EIGHT YEARS' SERVICE

The Rev. W. E. Bowyer, for the past eight years pastor of Calvary Baptist church, Dalhousie street, has accepted a call from a Detroit church, and will leave the last of this month to assume his duties there. At the morning service yesterday Mr. Bowyer made known his intention as follows:

There is probably no vocation that affords so large and varied an opportunity for service as the ministry. A true minister of the Lord Jesus seeks an audience out of all proportion to the monetary remuneration he receives, so it is scarcely cause for wonder that so many talented young men, realizing this, and desiring to fashion righteous citizenship of the plastic clay of human life and character, led by the Divine Spirit, seek leadership in the Christian church as undershepherds of the Good Shepherd. Such is the incentive and inspiration that motivates the clergy, and I am convinced that despite the allurements of the Arts and Crafts, and the Professions, never greater than to-day, God will continue to raise up men, apt and consecrated, who will heed the call of privilege and duty in the "Follow Me" of the Nazarene and set apart their lives to the preaching of the Gospel.

That I have been deemed worthy to become a minister is a matter for personal thankfulness, and that the great Head of the Church has employed me in the edification of the saints gives me profound joy.

Nearly eight years ago, though against the advice of some, I accepted the unanimous call of Calvary

REV. W. E. BOWYER.
Who yesterday announced his resignation from pastorate of Calvary Baptist Church.

Late in August an invitation came to me to supply the pulpit of Warren and Third Ave. Baptist Church, Detroit, Michigan. I received splendid reports of the character of the membership and the opportunity the field presented. I therefore went to investigate, not at all sure that I should become their pastor.

I met with a cordial reception, and was favorably impressed. I have since received the unanimous call of the church there (which was supported by a standing vote of all present) the promise of the loyalty of the Official Board and a good salary. There lies before me a fine prospect for service in a beautiful and growing city, and I am persuaded that it is in the interests of my usefulness as a minister that I should put my hand to it. I therefore wish to be released from my present pastorate here, and beg leave to tender my resignation, the same to take effect Sunday, September 29th.

The recent Alliance between

Baptist Church to become your pastor. Never for a moment have I regretted this, rather for myself and my family can I say that the years have been very happy, and I have yet to have the first word of misunderstanding with a single individual in the church. It has been my sorrowful duty in that time to lay away in their last resting place the babe, the youth, the maiden, the mature and the aged. I have wept with the weeping. I have also rejoiced with the rejoicing.

We have suffered with you in the departure of many of our men and boys overseas, and our prayers shall ever join with yours that God will take these dear ones in his keeping.

In the present pastorate the church has made progress materially and spiritually. Improvements and renovation have been completed, and the building presents a handsome and commodious appearance; the membership has been increased and strengthened, and the spirit of unity has been maintained. Church Sunday School and Organizations are well equipped and capable of attaining a continued standard of excellence. I have sought to speak of everything on a stable basis so that in the event of our departure, another minister might succeed, certain of a sustained Christian zeal and effort on the part of every one of you. I have nothing but kindly words to say, and I have ever appreciated the response you have made to the plans that I have suggested. My relations with the Diaconate, the Board of Managers, and the other Boards have been most fraternal. As men I esteem them individually and collectively. Mr. Bowyer joins me in the same sentiment concerning the Women's Organizations. We shall remember always the splendid work of our women when the Oxford and Brant Associations of Baptist Churches were the guests of Calvary Church. So I might continue in this strain. It remains however for me to say that in the Providence of God the hour has come for me to speak of the severance of our relations as pastor and people.

For some time I have contemplated a change, and believed that in the guidance of the Spirit an opportunity to effect such would come, so I have continued to labor here, not allowing the quality of the work I sought to do to deteriorate nor shall I in the time that remains. The only time that I have ever preached with a view to a call was in the present instance.

Late in August an invitation came to me to supply the pulpit of Warren and Third Ave. Baptist Church, Detroit, Michigan. I received splendid reports of the character of the membership and the opportunity the field presented. I therefore went to investigate, not at all sure that I should become their pastor.

ment by the blood of our sons has knit these peoples more closely together, and though three thousand miles of border line without a fortress lie between, a deep resolution is common to both to rid the world of the spirit of tyranny. Across the line I shall be able to see the soil of beloved Canada. In my church and congregation will be many Canadians, and though I shall seek to be a loyal citizen of the Republic to which I go but can never forget that I am of British stock, and shall ever uphold those principles of democracy, justice and truth, that have made our nation immortal.

Friendships I have made I shall cherish through life, and it shall ever be my prayer that the Lord Jehovah will bless and guide you each and all. I ask an interest in your prayers for my wife, her mother, and our little daughter as well as for myself. We shall have lonely hours as we think of you. We hope we shall meet again. There is a drawn latch string to our door, and we shall welcome you with the same cordiality that you ever have accorded us.

"God keep you safe my friends,

All through the night
Rest close in his encircled arms.
Until the light
My heart is with you as I kneel and pray
Good night, God keep you in His care always.
Yours in the Master's Name,
W. E. Bowyer.

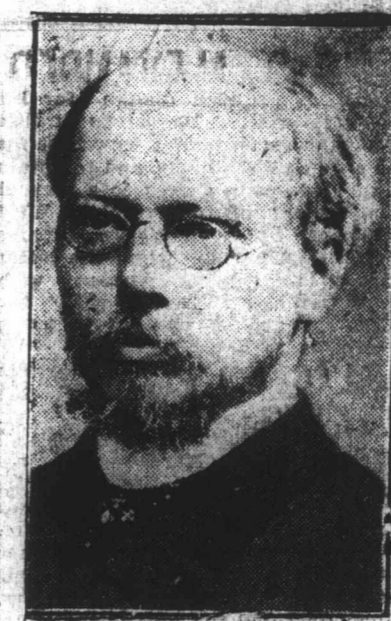

TRIBUTE TO LATE MR. W. F. TISDALE Sympathetic Reference to His Passing Was Made in Grace Church

At Grace Church yesterday morning the rector, the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham, referred in a most feeling manner to the quiet sudden death in Birtle, Man., last week of Mr. W. F. Tisdale, who was on a holiday visit to his brother. Mr. Tisdale, who was possessed of an especially fine baritone voice, was a member of Grace Church choir as far back as 1882 and until the past few years had regularly taken part in the musical offices of the church—a faithful service of some thirty years. In memory of this old and much beloved chorister, hymn No. 225 was sung as a memorial by choir and congregation.

Letters from Birtle state that Mr. Tisdale was taken seriously ill the night after his arrival at the home of his brother, whom he had not seen for over thirty years. He was removed to the hospital at Shoal Lake, but sank very rapidly. He was buried at Birtle, the Rev. Mr. Walton, rector of the Church of England, officiated. A correspondent writes: "The service was one of the most beautiful and solemn that I ever attended. Everything in connection with his visit seemed so very sad. Not to have seen his relatives here for so many years, then merely to dine together once and then die. We all here are terribly upset over his sudden departure."

the French near Laffaux and north of Colles-sur-Alsne seems to bear out the belief that the Germans will not give up St. Gobain without a struggle.

In addition to the protection of the Laon, the St. Gobain position, if captured, would weaken the entire German line eastward toward Rheims. Northwest of St. Gobain the French have taken Venesmes and Tergnier, and are threatening La Fere. On the edge of the forest the French have penetrated the outskirts of Servais.

On the line between the Vesle and the Aisne Rivers, additional ground has been gained by the French and Americans. Official statements dealing with the fighting here says that it has decreased.

More than 1,000 Winnipeg troops either have already gone or have made application to go to the harvest fields.

REMEMBER BY GIVING

AT any other time than this, the heroism of the men of the Merchant Marine would fill the newspapers. As it is, you simply read of so many tons of shipping sunk by submarines.

Yet from the few words you read, you must picture scores of scenes like the illustration. 15,000 men of this service, not officially recognized by the governments, have suffered death in order that soldiers, munitions and food may cross the ocean. Remember their widows and orphans, dependent for life itself on your generosity.

Let Your Donation Be An Appreciation of This Sacrifice!

As each day sees new victims of the U-Boat, more and more mouths wait to be fed—widows and orphans, who cannot look to governments for relief.

"They shall not want!" Say this in the only way that counts—by your contribution.

WE MUST listen to the call that comes from the deep—"Remember the Lusitania! Remember Captain Fryatt! Remember the 176 vessels lost, together with all trace of crew and cargo! Remember the 15,000 men of the Merchant Marine, who have already made the supreme sacrifice! Remember the widows and orphans!"

Dehydration Principle in Food Is Satisfactory Aid to Conservation

Three methods of drying fruit and vegetables. The gas oven is an ideal drier. Drier made according to Government specifications. Over head rack filled with vegetables which dry from surplus heat passing up from the stove.

The principle of dehydration particularly as applied to fruits has been known throughout the ages, but application of that principle in a thoroughly satisfactory way is a very recent development. Dehydrated foods are natural products from which the water only has been removed. If the water is restored the product returns to a condition so closely approaching that of the fresh that when cooked it is in all respects comparable with the fresh. No chemicals are needed in the new process—no sulphur to bleach or dye to imitate the natural color.

These products have been found to have the same nutritive value as the fresh and they are practically unaltered, when properly cooked, in physical texture and taste. Army officers have investigated these dried products carefully for barracks and camp life and considering them from all standpoints, testify also to the healthy in their taste. In the hospitals commend the "healthful ness, uniformity, and palatability of the dehydrated foods, even for invalids. The civilian population has found properly dehydrated foods practically as good as the fresh vegetable for which they are substituted and more economical. The Subsistence Division of the Quartermaster's Department of the Army has purchased several thousand tons of dehydrated products for use in France.

Dehydration reduces bulk from one-third to one-fifth and weight from one-sixth to one-eighth. This process will conserve great quantities of vegetables and fruits that would otherwise go to waste. It will, through the use of mechanical devices, eliminate waste from trimming, peeling, cutting, avoid unnecessary handling, and be an enormous saving in tonnage, and at the same time lose nothing in attractiveness and palatability.

Properly dried products keep indefinitely, if excluded from moisture, as terms of decay are almost nonexistent. These products are extremely slow-
