The Orphans' Festival.

One of the great musical events of the year is the festival of the St. Mary's Orphan asylum and it never fails to attract an immense audience. The forty-seventh festival was held yesterday at the Grand Opera house, and both afternoon and evening immense gatherings enjoyed the programmes arranged by Rev. Father Holden. It was the old, old story, that never seems to lose interest in the telling. The evening lestival was graced by the attendance of His Lordship Bishop Dowling, a number of prominent citizens. the clerky of the city and Rev. Father Craven, of Graven Tette, H. Carscalle M. L. A. men: I am sorry to say that I of feel a little nervous this evening I was all right till I came on the platform, but, seeing around me so many sweet, lovely ladies, and so many fine gentlemen, to say nothing of his Lordship, and the mayor, and the aldermen, and all the rest of the best people of Hamilton, you will not be surprised that my heart goes pitty party, and, as Mr. Hooligan says, when anything goes wrong with him, My brains have actually gone wook gathering; so that I have really forgotten every word of the speech I had prepared. A good one, too, and one I am sure would have brought down the house. But now that I have forgotten the speech, perhaps it will be all the same if I tell you a story, a real nice one, and one that Mr. Hooligan says is quite true that it all happened in his own place, wherever that it.

The little crator went on to tell, in humorous language, the story of Ralph the Miser, whose salvation was brought about by a sharp began man. At the close the boy was heartily applanded.

Bishoo Dowling then addressed the audience, whom he thanked for giving such grand aid and encouragement to such a deserving charity. It was a touching tableau that was before them on the stage, and he was greatly pleased at them and their benefactors, and asked God's blessing on them for their good work. During the forty-seven years of the asylum's existence many of its patrons had passed away, but the good work had not passed away, but the good work had not passed away. His Lordship wene on to speak of the lessons that were taught the children; how they were taught to love Canada as a good country that had sheltered their fathers and had good laws for their government. He thanked Father Holden for the excellent programms be had furnished. It was gratifying to have such support in view of the many calls on the public purse, especially in regard to the contributions for for the brave boys who were now upholding the name of Canada and the empire in South Africa. Mayor Teetzel, after expressing his pleasure at being present, spoke of the patriotism dis played by the citizens. In his opinion, Hamilton, relatively, was the most patriotic city in the Dominion, judging from the moneys contributed to the patriotic funds and the mon sent to the front. On the nineteenth anniversary of Majuba Hill, Britons had been avenged; and Canadians, he was proud to know, his distance of the patriotic funds and the money of the Sisters of Charity, and closed with the hope that the forty-seventh estival night would not be the least successful. Adam Brown followed with a graceful speech, in which he paid ribute to the grand work of St. Mary's orphanage. He knew of no other similar institution that had larger claims on the charitable tion that had larger gave some statistics. Since the institution of the asylum 3,900 orphism had been cared for. Last year there were 167 children—92 boys and 75 girls—in the institution; 30 were provided with homes, and there were at present 137 in the institution. Mr. Brown closed with words of patriotic for the good work done by the Sisters in St. Joseph's hospital.

Dowling made a touching reference to the late George E. Tuckett. His Lordship declared he had never met a more are George E. Tuckett. His Lordship declared he had never und a more generous benefactor, and said that it delighted him to do honor to the memory of Mr. Tuckett. (Applause.)

Sheriff Middleton spoke briefly tendering his congratulations to all concerned on the success of the festival.

Mr. Carscalien was the last speaker. He had enjoyed himself thoroughly and was glad to be present. Their thoughts had been on the war, he said, and the new of yesterday's great success was greatly enhansed, and their hearts were stirred to see Lord Roberts giving high praise to the Canadians who assisted in bringrian about Cronje's surrender. FIF1Y YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE.

FIF1Y YEARS OF WEDDED LIFE.

On Tuesday, Feb. 22nd, was ceiebrated by Rev. Father Tiernan at the church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, a Nuptial High Mass, being the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Lennon, of this parish. Their many friends are pleased that the Holy Year has brought to them so happy an event.

Mr. Lennon was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, in 1816. After living on the Island of Jersey a number of years he came to Labrador in 1840, where he remained three years, intending to return to the motherland at the close of the term. By an accident he boarded a ship bound for Quebec, and luckily, too, for the vessel on which he was to have returned to Ireland was never after heard of. Mr. Lennon being a cooper by trade, located in Greenwood, in the township of Pickering. In 1850 he married Bridget Murphy, (daughter of John Murphy, the miller of the village,) when a blooming Miss of seventeen. There they lived for many years being well-khown and respected by ali. Mr. Lennon was a zealous Catholic, always ready to aid in anything that could advance the cause of religion in those primeval days. His house was ever open to the poor and ne dy. Stations were held there twice in the year, and for a time Mass was celebrated every month, there being no church in the village. Nor were the children of the vicinity neglected. Sunday school was taught either by the pastor of the parish or the good man of the house, so that as the years went by hundreds of children were instructed in their religion and prepared for First Communion within those walls. Children who are now scattered far and near the world over, long since grown men and women, many of whom will ponder over those lines which will bring to them memories of pleasant days of childhood.

In 1890 the family moved to Goderich where they remained six years, after which they took up their abode in the little villa of Mount Carmina.

they remained six years, after which they took up their abode in the little villa of Mount Carm 1.

Mr. Lennon, though somewhat enfeebled with rheumatism, is still a bright intelligent man, has a fund of stories which he delights in telling, and though at an advanced age, has but few grey hairs and can read the smallest print without the aid of glasses. Mrs. Lennon, always prudent and industrious, still busiles herself with her household duties, and enjoys quite good health. She loves to tell of the pleasant "long ago," when neighbors gathered in to while away the hours with song and dance. She is of a happy disposition and likes to see the young folk enjoy themselves, and with a little coaxing will contribute to the amusements by singing. When You and I were Young, Magne," or some of the good old songs from the past.

Owing to the senson of the year it was found investible for the sons and daughters of this increase. So the sons and daughters of this coaxion, so the sense of the year it was found meet during the coming summer togladden the hearts of their dear potents. But though absent they did not forget to send letters of congratulation to the aged ones. Bright American eagles came from the United States, a dollar for each wedded year from Josephin British Columbia, the same in pure Yukon gold from James who has been for the pat two years in the Alaskan Territory.

The hosts of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lennon, in Pickering, Goderich and Mount Carmel join in wishing them many future years of peace and happiness.

MAYFIELD.

MAYFIELD.

Mayfield has long been celebrated for its truly enjoyable and successful social events, but the gathering at the palarial residence of Mr. Hearn on Friday night last was par excellence la grands fete of the season. From an early hour in the evening until far into the night merry belis rang out their chimes as load after load of the flower of this surrounding neighborhoods arrived. To the more thought ful and observant on looker however, a shadow seemed to lay athwart the sunshine of many a face and a mysterious force seemed to hold in check the cheerful mirth. It was the cause of that shadow and the centre of that force which for their kind and untiting efforts when could not fail to ensure success. At the appointed hour the chair was taken and admirably filled by Mr. Hugh Craig, who, after a few introductory remarks, called upon Mr. Jas Laidlaw to read the address, in the course of which Mr. and Mrs. Hearn were presented Mr. and Mrs. Hearn were presented with two hours of the country of the course of which was hourstrided by the Mrs. Description of the country of the count tory remarks, called upon Mr. Jas Laidlaw to read the address, in the course of which Mr. and Mrs. Hearn were presented with two beautiful chairs by Mr. R. M. Giffen and Mr. Jas. Gradv. Sorrowful, yet with heart entuned with kindly regard for his neighbors. Mr. Hearn then replied in a short 'yet feeling speech. The chair then called upon one after another of Tom so di schoolmates and neighbors some of whom in tones tinged with sorrow yet warm with affection expressed their esteem for their old friend. To others however, the impressive sadness of the occasion lay too heavily upon the heart to opermit of speech. Their silence spoke louder than words. Among those who availed themselves of the opportunity to speak their mind and heart were Messrs. T. Ingold-by, A. E. Laidlaw, M. E. Mitchell, (Oneen s hotel); P. Speirs, H. McDevitt and J. aidlaw.

The following is the address:

T. Ingold-by, A. E. Laidlaw, M. E. Mitchell, (Oneen's Hotel); P. Speirs, H. McDevitt and J. i a dlaw.

The following is the address:

Mr. and Mrs. Hearn: When a few short months ago we first learned of your intended departure from our midst, a feeling of sadness, not untinged with regret, gradually stole over us. It has been said, and rightly too, that we seldom appreciate the true worth of a person or thing until we have to part with it; so now the thought of our early separation involuntarily impresses upon us the extent of our impending loss.

Brought up from childhood together with you, Tom, sharing in common the joys and sorrows of the passing years, tender yet strong bonds of affection have entwined themselves about our hearts. Early reminiscences and familiar seems have exerted upon each of us alike their same tender and magnetic influences which have served to mould our characters and to unite us in one common brotherhood. In losing you, therefore, from our circle, we cannot but feel that we are losing a part of our selves, and that a void will remain which years can never fill.

The name of Hearn has long been associated in our neighborhood with everything that was honest, puright. Charitable, kind hearted and ourselves, and that a void will remain which years can never fill.

The name of Hearn has long been associated in our neighborhood with everything that was honest upright, charitable, kind-hearted and true. To each of us, Tom, as we turn back the pages of memory for a few short years, there appears the manly form and kindly face of your deeply lamented tather. Few, indeed, are there of us who have not from time to time been cheered by his simd, fatherly advice. But God, in his wise Providence, took him from us when already his furrowed brow was streaked with gray, and, like you, Tom, we too felt that we had lost a father. At length however, Time, the great bealer assunged our sor row and tempered our grief, and left in their place a sad yet loving remembrance.

As years rolled on we became conscious that his mantle had fallen upon you, Tom, and we row and tallength on we became conscious that his mantle had fallen upon you, Tom, and we stelling character of the fill of the control of the control to fade away from our village roll! The poet Tennyson has apily said, "Tis better to have leved and lost than never to have leved and lost than never to have leved and lost than never to have leved at all." So the deeply-laid affection of the passing years will serve to unite with its mystic bonds what cruel space can never part.

And now, as a token, insignificant though it may be, of the high esteem in which we hold you, we ask you to accept these chairs, which we earnestly pray you may long live to enjoy. A new home will soon claim you for its own, fresh faces will welcome you, and other hands will grasp yours with a warmth scarcely less than that of our own. But when, in evening's shadowa, you sit in these chairs surrounded by your many robust children, whom we have also grown to love, and let your thoughts revert to the past, enshrined as it with happy recollections, you will acknowledge, we feel, that if St. Catharines holds your more worldly interests, Mayfield is still the home of your truest affections and most loving remembrances. A POPULAR MAYOR.

Evening Star, St. Catharines, Feb. 27.

Mayor Keating has earned for himself an enviable reputation as a host, as well as a splendid record as Chief Magistrate, and this year the usual "Mayor's supper" was in the nature of a new departure in keeping with the patriolic spirit now prevalent in the community. Neat invitations were addressed to each Alderman and city official requesting the pleasure of their company at the patriolic concert in the Opera House last night, with a "rider" intimating that supper would be served at the Grand Central Hotel at its conclusion. When the cloth had been figuratively removed, the Mayor proposed "The Queen" in a neat, patriotic speech, and the toast was heartily honored. Ald Burgoyne toasted the worthy Mayor and his wife a sentiment that was warmly responded to and then all formality was dispensed with. Everybody and every thing was toasted, and everybody had to say something. Some had a double dose, and in all about fifty speeches must have been made, and the soul stirring strains of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" became a perfect nightmare. Anecdote and poetry were nicely biended, and shortly after 3 oclock this morning "God Save the Queen" brought the festivities to an end. Everybody shook hands with the Mayor again and, voted him a "Jolly Good Fellow," anyway.

It is the means of preparing for baptism fifteen or wenty children a year—for no sooner are the children in the school for a few months than they bey to be admitted to baptism. The parents of those children are thereby also brought under the ratio of the missionary. It is not seem that it is just to observe that the mission is not alone in the enterprise, but is a co partner as it were with the Government. The Dominion Government recognizes and appreciates the industrial training furnished in those schools, and is willing to co-operate in their maintenance. When, therefore, there is question of establishing a school of this sort, the head of the 1c nomination interested, presents a petition to the Government asking its seancing and appropriation is generally made even for the building, but then the partners as prediction, which is bound to cost twice or three times the anomination interested, presents a petition to the Government intend to contribute. CONSTIPATION REV. FATHER HOWE.

When Chronic is CAUSED by CATARRH

"Thro shades and mysteries lifts a glance of love."

"And yet can weep! for nature thus deplores "The friend that leaves us, though for happier shores."

Ah, thou wert dear to us,
Soggarth Aroon!
Dearer each year to us,
Soggarth Aroon!
Cheering each drooping heart,
As of thy life a part
With gentle loving art,
Soggarth Aroon! Few Doctors know this. They think the trouble is too much bile.

THE BILE IS NATURE'S PURGATIVE. It is extracted from the blood by the liver and poured into the bowels. But when the Bile has done its work in the bowels, certain of its elements should go back into the blood to enrich it. This is not generally known, even by good physicians. it. This is not generally known, even by good physicians.

Purgatives preyent the return of the Bile. They irritate the bowels so that these organs, instead of re-absorbing the bile, throw it violently out. It passes away in the evacuations, often burning and smarting on its way out. The blood becomes gradually impoverished from the drain. Each time it is harder for the liver to extract the bile from the blood. Thus stonger and stronger purgatives have to be used.

Daily for thee shall rise.
Soggarth Aroon!
Prayer and sacrifice.
Soggarth Aroon!
Homes thy dear feet have prest,
Homes thy loved voice halt blest,
Weep thee, of friends the best.
Soggarth Aroon! Mrs.: J. H. Mahon.

With Dr. Sproule's treatment all this is changed. The liver is gently but surely cured of the cause of the trouble—CATARRH OF THE LIVER, which prevents it from doing its work. It begins to produce bile in small natural quantities. Easy regular movements are thus established. At the same time the bowels are toned up. As a result they no longer eject the bile. They re-absorb it. It goes back in the system. It carries with it new health and strength; NEW LIFE from the food with which it has come in contact. The whole system feels the change. The dull heavy feelings disappear. The weakness vanishes. The circulation improves. The mind grows clear. The 'blues' depart. The patient 'feels like a new man.' Best of all, the cure is permanent.

SHE HAD ALL THE SYMPTOMS.

My dear Dr. Sproule:

When I wrote to you first I felt very miserable. Had a constant headache, was dull, langaid, had no heart for anything. My complexion was sallow, cevered with blotches, and I frequently had bad pains in my right side. I had all the symptoms of Catarrn of the Liver. I began using your remedies and now not one of all those symptoms remains. I think it is wonderful that a person can be curred in such a short time, after trying other doctors in vain. They used to relieve me, but it was only for a time. Nobedy can shake my faith in you, Doctor, and I sincerely hope that all who suffer from Catarrh in any form will not hesitate in writing to you. I shall be giad to reply to all who wish further particulars.

Your grateful Patient, TORONTO.
