WOMAN RECRUITING SERGEANT

The woman recruiting sergeant has broken out in one place where it was least expected. The government is officially utilizing the services of a woman recruiting sergeant for the British Army. Secretary of War Haldane, answering a question in the House of Commons, said quite true that a lady has been instrumental in sending candidates for enlistment to St. George's barracks, and the chief recruiting staff officer has consistently with regulations, considered her as entitled to be regarded as an agent. She does not receive the regular pay of allowance of a recruiting sergeant, but is given the regular recruiting awards given to all regular recruiting agents for success. Colonel Walsh gives the lady, as a compliment, a revolving pocket watch, which did not involve any public expenditure, I think we may congratulate ourselves, especially at the present moment, when we find ladies selecting most useful ends for their best activities.

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person! Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. Thus two things act and react. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and palpitating. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomachs disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery. Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy so equally suited for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life. Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep at night. My food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth." Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 as all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
