THE KLONDIKE NUGGET, DAWSON, Y. T., SUNDAY, MAY 13, 1900

0

THE OLD MAN'S PROPHECY

No.

S

22322233355

ercia

Trading Posts

Alaska

St. Michael Andreolsky Anvik Nulato Tanana Minook (Rampart) Fort Hamiin Cirele City Eagle City

Koyukuk District

Yukon Territory

Bergman

Koyukuk

Fortymile

eposit Vaults.

11111111111111

d FLORA

n Their success is due to 4th St. & 3rd Ave.

NOME

T. Dock, Dawson

Eldorado"

PETERSON, Own

n Sawmill

HOBBS, PROP.

anufacturers of

CO

SON & BENNETT

LDERHEAD,

S

John Was Headstrong, and His Father Gave Him the Reins.

How a Love Affair Turned Out to the Satisfaction of All Parties be bending over As he pushed his Concerned.

(From Friday's Daily.) John Asley, Jr., was a tall young man was Miss Bennett. about 22, and as he gazed wrathfully at his father the old man almost quailed asked the policeman. before him.

Old John Asley was of the "old school," whatever that may mean, and hurt?" young John Asley was of the "new school," very new, in fact, went in heavily for athletics, ran up a big bill at college for "dad" to pay and then skipped over to the continent, and there, being up to date, fell in love silently up, and the surgeon was beside work on, to begin with, and the clew with a very pretty girl and of course wanted to marry her. Now, old John Asley not only had monial schemes, but he rather regarded She must be taken to her home at once the young man and all his likes and or the hospital." ambitions as altogether unheard of and therefore dangerous and to be frowned for John to enter his office and learn the the girl's aunt. ways of business. The old man feit had grounded himself in business and. I am sure." its methods. Now the boy wanted to marry Miss Bennett at once and learn the lady. "I don't-or, yes, of course. the rudiments of business afterward. This did not suit the old man. He admitted that he would not be so averse to the marriage if the young lady had any money. They discussed the matter some time. Old John Asley knew that his son had his own stubborn and unresisting temperament, and he changed his tactics. ation Co. He suggested that John have his annt ask the girl to a dinner party. John's life. aunt presided at the few entertainments the old man gave. This was arranged or for any further informa and the invitations dispatched to " Miss Grace Bennett, - Madison avenue, New York." This was the address she had given

John and told him it was a friend's touse where she should spend the winter. Her acceptance came by feturn Building Co.

The evening of the dinner arrived, and the splendid house was decorated and ablaze. John's eyes sparkled when he led Miss Bennett up to introduce her to his father.

ctors & Builders

workmen and a mounted policeman. the outset of his statement of the facts Standing near the group was a hand- that he had, as they say, 'got the ome Kentucky saddler, trembling all story.' He had the facts, all of them. over and showing unmistakable signs of He had covered the ground thoroughly, having run away. The saddle on him leaving no lead unexplored. He had got was dripping blood from an inside cut. it all. And he had got these facts ar-There was blood on the policemn's arm. ranged in order so that they told the His horse was quietly watching the story-beginning at the beginning and proceedings with mild, steady eyes. running along smoothly to the end. It story-beginning at the beginning and He had seen so many similar accidents was the story of the case, and that's all that it was really quite a bore to him. there was to it. I went over the ground John drew Midnight up and tried to and saw the people, but all-I could add by virtue of which the local get a look at the person they seemed to was a touch of color.

C

1

way into the crowd he caught a glimpse pointed head of the detective bureau it of the face and uttered an explamation didn't surprise me 'a bit. I knew he of surprise and horror when he saw it had at least one of the qualifications "Do you know this young lady?" "Yes," said John. "She is Miss a great painter, for instance, or a great

И

Grace Bennett and lives at ---. Is she | writer must have a gift for his work,

"That we can't tell. for sure till the essential to the detertive's success that ambulance and the surgeon come. But he should have the ability to get the we don't think so.- They always faint. facts in a case and an unfailing per-She is a long time coming to, though." sistence that prompts him to get them The rubber tired ambulance came all. You've got to have the facts to the girl before the vehicle stopped. He may lie in the slightest and most trivial made a superficial examination with and seemingly most unimportant of professional dexterity and said : "This them all. And Byrnes certainly could no sympathy with his son's natri- is not the ordinary faint from terror. get the facts."-New York Sun.

Tenderly she was lifted in and John gave the address. He rode on before to let her aunt know of the mishap. Run-It was natural that he should plan ning up the steps, asked for Mrs. Peters,

"Miss Bennett was thrown from her re it was rank heresy and reckless horse, and they are bringing her here olishness to let the boy marry till he in an ambulance. It is nothing serious,

"Miss Bennett, Miss Bennett," said And are you Mr. Asley?" In the ex cit ment it didn't seem strange to him that she knew who he was at once

They carried the girl to her room, and inside of half an hour two surgeons and a trained nurse were by her side. The surgeons shook their heads and looked very grave. All attempts to arouse her had failed. She lay in a stupor, and her soft breathing was the only sign of

When the surgeons said an operation was necessary, John's hopes tell. Soon another surgeon and another nurse and some suggestive looking boxes and cases arrived. When John tramped the long drawing room waiting for the doctors to come down and tell him if she lived or not. The sickly sweet smell of ether came floating down stairs as the door of the chamber was opened, and he heard a singsong voice that he knew uttering meaningless words. Then the door snut, and as one of the nurses came down he waylaid her. Before he had a chance to ask she told

'Father, this is Miss Bennett,'' he him the young lady was coming out of the ether nicely, and the doctors had

"Well, when Byrnes came to be aprequisite to success. I suppose that a special talent or genius is required for the making of a great detective, just as

Ж

But whatever genjus he may have it is

Shrewd Reportorial Work.

"I had a narrow call one day," said a young private secretary to a cabinet officer, "which illustrates the fallacy of jumping at conclusions.

There was a certain departmenta secret supposed to be in the keeping of the old man and myself only. To our mutual surprise and to my intense chagrin the whole thing appeared in the columns of a western paper which h s a correspondent here. The old man called me in and with a severe look handed me the paper, asking how I 'accounted for its publication."

"I knew that I had not spoken of it, so my conscience was clear.

" 'There is but one way to account for it, ' Lanswered, 'and that is that it is a coincidence.'

" 'A coincidence!' exclaimed my superior, a trifle annoyed. 'And how lo you account for the "coincidence," pray?' He knew that I would cut my right hand off before I would be false in the slightest particular to him. "'Sir,' I said, and I was conscious of flushing-"sir, I repeat that I have not spoken a word of this matter to any one, more especially to this correspondent or to any newspaper man. I have given you my word of honor, sir. That has been sufficient in the past on any question.' '' And it is now,' said the old man quickly. 'I beg your pardon, -I do not doubt your word, but it is a very odd coincidence. '**

"I was terribly worried over it, as the old man took it much to heart. That evening I hunted up the correhim how and where he got the facts which formed the basis for the article. He replied that since it was his business to keep himself informed as to all claimed to be protecting when he measures, tangible and probable, affec- assumed his stand against the ting his community he had conceived the idea which formed the article and which the old man had intended carrying out as soon as a certain appropria tion was available. It was of great interest rocally and as a matter of news. "With this idea dimly outlined in his mind he had sought . his senator and by judicious questioning had obtained the whole story. Of course the senator was cognizant of the matter, but he had not been thought of. So, you see, it was merely a coincidence. If the correspondent's idea had come to him a week later, the department would have nad the reform under way."-Washington Star.

The Klondike Nugget (DAWSON'S PIONEER PAPER) ISSUED DAILY AND SEMI-WEEKLY. ALLEN BROS..... Publishers

AN UNENVIABLE POSITION. A little less than four weeks ago a mandate was issued by Assistant Gold Commissioner Bell, newspapers have since been records of transfers and other information of a public nature transacted at the gold commisas a reason for his extraordinary action that he is conducting his actions of his office, the news double the original fee. country ever based such an ac- fore the public gaze. tion upon such grounds.

undoubtedly will be determined pense. by due process of law.

Assistant Commissioner Bell has all parties concerned. not invited just such violations of law on the part of his subor-this paper.

from the assistant commissioner. stance seems rather surprising.

Such being the case, we sub- It may be, however, that the mit to the public that Mr. Bell rush from Dawson to Nome will bridge and ferry, neither of which is suited to the required purpose, and both of which come under the head of what, from long experience, we have been accustomed in this country to term "grafts." It is time, however, that we outgrew the 'graft" stage.

The toll bridge is a relic of what may properly be called the prevented from publishing the medieval period of Dawson history. It was instituted at a time when "grafts" grew on every tree, and in places where there sioner's office. Mr. Bell alleged were no trees they grew on the niggerheads.

Nobody expected then to turn office "for the benefit of the pub- clear around without paying for lic, and against the newspapers." the privilege, and if one, by mis-The assistant commissioner ap- take, turned around twice, inpears to have conceived the idea stead of once, he instinctively that, in making public the trans- placed his hand in his pocket to papers have in the past worked . Two years have passed since in direct contrariety to the pub- that time, and, while it cannot lic weal. We credit Mr Bell be said that the genus "graft" with entire originality in this is completely extinct, it /has matter, for we do not believe learned in most cases, at least, that any other official in "any not to flaunt itself too freely be-

But the toll bridge, despite the Yesterday afternoon, as will disappearance of many of its be found recorded elsewhere in fellow "grafts," is still with us. this issue of the Nugget, several It refuses to down, even when arrests were made by the police, threatened by a jam of ice, and based upon allegations of fraud- doubtless will continue to extend alent transactions on the part of is tentacles after the hardattaches of Mr. Bell's office. It earned quarters of the people is not our purpose to discuss the until it is replaced by a suitable merits of these allegations, which structure, built at public ex-

The quicker the last of these It is, however, pertinent to in- reminders of the Yukon middle quire if the position taken by ages disappears, the better for Contracts are being let every dinates as are set forth in the day by property/owners for the charges published elsewhere in construction of new buildings or for making repairs on old ones. Apparently, Mr. Bell is not In fact, it appears as though ognizant of what is being done, there will be almost as much in his own office, for we are in- building done this spring as last. formed that the charges were In view of the fact that the time investigated and made by the is now at hand when Dawson is police department, independent supposed to be ready to migrate of any suggestion or assistance en masse to Nome, this circum-

LIME & LUMBER uilders' Supplies usefitters and Undertaker

barge IAY 12th Within 48

20. La manner ompany Barr"

rn will leave at once BARGE NEW YORK,

e and Seattle TCLASS

He saw his father give the girl a puzzling look and heard him stifle an xclamation of surprise. Then he noticed that the girl was blushing and eemed in some way ill at ease. "How do you do, Miss Grace?" said is father, with the easy familarity of an old man. "We are very glad to see you here." Then some one came up, and the girl hurried away. Several times at dinner John saw his ther glance at the girl and then shake th'stlent laughter. His hot blood ided that his father as ridiculing the of his choice, and he determined ca:l him to account tor it. He drove Miss Bennett to the station catch the late New York train, and hen he got back he found his father still up. The old man became silent nd refused him any explanation. All e would say was that if Miss Bennett only had as much money as Alice looper he would withdraw all his ob-ections and make John a liberal allow-t-president, who, dying, had left his nly child, Alice, a large fortune. John and never seen the girl and thought ben that he never wanted to.

w York and would like some funds.

ters worse.

Midnight with him. He was too report it. ch attached to the horse to leave delightful gallops with Miss Bennett.

the park before breakfast.

Miss Cooper was a daughter of an

In the middle of September young n announced that he was going to money was forthcoming, and the man even chuckled as he handed and the second found a tiny piece of bone pressing on the brain. But they felt sure she would be all right with care.

All that long afternoon he stayed at the house and hoped he might be of some service. Finally he' fell asleep, worn out with all the anxiety and misery. He was awakened by a touch on his shoulder and found his father standing over him. Here was more mystery. "How's Grace?" he asked. "Alice is better and will be all right soon. The girl up stairs is Alice Cooper. She was Miss Bennett in Europe to protect herself against a lot of fortune hunters. I knew her when she came to the dinner party and have seen her frequently since her father moved away from our town. But I thought I would let you find out for yourselt. I haven't any further objections, and after the vedding we will talk business."

John demanded entrance to the sickoom at once. There was really no proposal," only "Ob, John !" and "Oh. Alice !"'-Hartford Times.

Byrnes, the Detective,

"The first time," said the old reporter, "I ever saw Inspector Byrnes-I suppose that, although he became later the head of the police department, pe >ople will always call him Inspector Byrnes because fame came to him while he held that rank as the head of the detective bureau-was when he was a capthe notes in a way that only made tain and in command of the Mercer street police. There had been a murder ahn went to New York, taking his in his precinct, and I was assigned to

"I went of course first to the police. behind and looked forward to some station for what they had gathered there about the case for use as informa-For two days he hung about the ho tion in writing my story and also as a el, tuming and trying to make up his guide to me in hunting the story up for mind to call on Miss Bennett. One myself, which I was going to do any the Dawson Electric Light Co., and of torning he decided to take a ride in way. Different eyes see different the Telephone Co., returned last night Midnight was a handful and needed to be gleaned. I met Capt. Byrnes, the various creeks, and a visit to Grand to be gleaned. I met Capt. Byrnes, the various creeks, and a visit to Grand all his attention for some time. After and when I asked him for something Forks in the interests of the latter coma good galtop he quieted down and best about this case he told me in a quiet pany. He advises people going to the gan to act like a rational horse again. John was walking him along it. sort of way what he had gathered about it. Forks afoot to take the creek road John was watking him along the sort of way what he had gathered about it. Forks aloo, it is in very fair condition "At that time I was comparatively which he says is in very fair condition the ridge road is

Woes of the Disobedient.

Ethel (to her younger brothes, who has been whipped) - Don't mind, brother, don't mind.

Brother (hetween sobs)-That's just what I was licked for .- Ohio State Journal.

More Ice Passes.

Members of Dawson's night watch, t whom there are as many as belong to the daylight brigade, say that from 1 intil 3 o'clock this morning the viver was full of ice. It is not possible that the floating mass could have been the Stewart jam which was still unbroken vesterday afternoon, and which could not have reached 'this place so soon. The ice seen last night was probably the contents of some slough.

Visited the Creeks.

has taken a position which is not prove more a matter of supposiwhich the assistant commissioner mately prove to be the case.

newspapers.

his action.

Ottawa authorities. He is, there, service. fore, not responsible to the people of this territory. He is, however, like every other individual. amenable to the bar of public the water front, under a fall head. opinion, and before that tribunal of steam. Notwithstanding the his position today is anything fact that the distance covered by but an enviable one.

A PUBLIC BRIDGE.

bridge across the Klondike, upon. In a very few more days, whereby heavy loads of freight the first boat will be in from may be taken over without resort Lake Lebarge, at which time to ferry boats or pack horses, is navigation for the season may an absolute necessity. The coun- authoritatively be said to have cil has planned a system of roads opened. leading to the creeks, and that plan has been partially carried into effect. A bridge, which creeks every day, bringing with must form the connecting link them the fruits of their winter's spondent, whom I knew well, and asked only inimical, but absolutely dan- tion than reality. This, we are gerous, to the public interests, inclined to believe, will ulti-

> /It is a saying, the truth of which has often been proven, Unfortunately for Mr. Bell, he/ that good frequently comes out, has placed himself in an ex of evil. It may develop that Mr. tremely unpleasant position. If Bell's action, in shutting off the illegal practices are discovered records of his office from the in his office within so short a press, will result beneficially in time after the issuance of his the long run. A few more inrecent order, the public4 will stances, such as occurred yesternaturally connect the two cir- day, will serve to reveal a great cumstances in a manner which deal of interesting matter in the can in no degree reflect credit assistant commissioner's office, upon the motive which prompted which may work a revolution in the methods which prevail in Mr. Bell is an appointee of the that department of the federal

Yesterday afternoon the first steamer of the season came up the boat was included within the limits of the town front, the event furnished a sight which The construction of a public was good for sore eyes to look

<sup>3</sup> Men are coming down from the between the town and the creek labor at the diggings. The Klon-trails, should be built at public dike harvest season will be on in cost, and without any toll or full swing very shortly, and all bridle path and came on a little crowd of persons, including some of the park of the park of the source of the park of the source of the park of the p