NEWFOUNDLAND TRAGEDY. A Fisherman's Wild Sail to Procure Medical Aid.

"The lack of physicians is one of the horrors of the isolation in which the Newfoundlanders of this coast live," says Norman Duncan in Ainslee's. "There is none within fifty miles of most harbors; none within reaching distance of many. It is related of a well to do fisherman who was something of a merchant that his wife, whom he foncly loved, lay in agony for many days while an autumn gale raged. No man in the harbor would put off in a skiff to fetch the nearest physician, who lived fifteen miles down the coast, for there was no possibility that he who ventured could survive. On the fourth day the wind moderated. Two men volunteered to accompany Allerton. They set sail in the first hours of a snowstorm, which abated, however, before they reached their destination. Fighting doggedly, they took the bont safely in, after indescribable hardship and through ever present danger. The gale had gone down when they knocked on the physician's door. A heavy sea was running, but the danger of wreck on the return voyage was quickly passing. "'What's the matter with the woman? the physician asked.

"He was informed. "The husband minutely described his wife's agony. Then he offered what amounted almost to half his fortune as

"'I'll take that,' said the doctor, "if you fetch her here. Go back and get her, and I'll attend to the case.' "'In an open boat!' the husband exclaimed. He pointed out that his wife's condition put such an arrangement be yond the bounds of reason. 'Well, I can't do anything,' said the physician. 'If you bring her over, I'll attend to her.'

"When the husband got back to his home, the child had been born, but the woman died the next day."

PARRY A COMPLIMENT.

Accept One Always, but Never Take The famous Mme. Recamier said that she always found two words sufficed to make her guests seem welcome. Upon their arrival she exclaimed, "At last!" and when they took their leave she said "Already?" If taken literally, we should deprecate the flattery. Flattery is insincere praise and wrongs him that gives and him that takes. It is sometimes kinder to accept a compliment than to parry it.

One may say "Thank you, it is pleasant to be seen through such kind (or partial) eyes," or perhaps, "It is a comfort to know that friendship is partly blind as well as the mythological boy," or any nonsense that serves to show. prompted the kind expression, however er wide the truth. The frequent repetition of the name of the person addressed holds a subtle compliment, implying more complete concentration of the speaker's thought upon his or her personality. De Quincy says: "More is done for the benefit of conversation by the simple magic of good manners than by all varieties of intellectual power."

It is the sympathetic and responsive listeners that call forth the best efforts of a tasker. For such are reserved his choicest stories, his finest thoughts. A ready smile acts as inspiration, and interest shown in the conversation of others stimulates and vivifies their To a good listener the diffident will say what they think, and the verbose will think what they say. There is nothing more trying than to find that one's conversation is receiving but a divided attention and nothing more rude than for a person to pick up a book or paper and look over it while pretending to listen to what one is saying.

Sayings About Breadcrumbs. In the days when the "bread loaf" was dear careful mothers had a set of thrift sayings which are seldom heard in this time of the big, cheap loaf, Crumbs were regularly swept up and kept for some useful purpose. If a child threw crumbs in the fire, the old fashioned mother lifted a warning finger and said. "If you throw crumbs in the fire, you are feeding the devil." Children were told that the better part of a loaf was the crust, and when a child was sent to the shop for bread the order was to ask for "a crusty loaf." If a child left its crust, came the warning: "Yes, my lady (or my lad), you'll want for a loaf some day. You'll find hunger's a sharp thorn."

Some years ago there was a tollgate on a plank road leading to Elmwood cemetery, Detroit. All funerals were allowed to pass along this road without paying. One day Dr. Pierce, a well known physician, while paying his toll, jokngly remarked to the gatekeeper: "Considering the benevolent charac ter of our profession, I think you ought to let us pass free of charge. "No, no, doctor," said the gatekeeper; 'we can't afford that. You send too many deadheads through as it is."

"I thought you guaranteed that suit of underwear you sold me not to shrink," said the customer who entered the store and stood in a some-

Paine's Gelery Compound Saves the Life of a Montreal Laoy.

Work Done That Doctors and the Use of Ordinary Madicines Could Not Accomplish.

Mrs Legault Says She Is Positively

Every weak, sleepless, nervous and discouraged woman should be aware of the blessed truth that Paine's Celery Compound is the only and true health-giver. If other treatments have failed to give you health, let your faith be centred on Paine's Celery Compound. It cures nervous prostration, insomnia, sleeplessness and irritableness—serious troubles that often lead to insanity. Mrs. A. Legault, of St. Andre St., Montreal, "I cannot kelp telling all sufferer what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I would have been a lost woman had I continued six months longer in suffering. My case was a bad one. Headache, insomnia, nervous prostration and loss of mem-ory made up my troubles, and I fear-ed they would lead to insanity. went to several doctors who treated me with all their skill, but I did no get any better. My friends advise me to try Paine's Celery Compound The first bottle gave me little relief but the second began to work miracu lously on my nerves. I continued using the compound, and after using nine bottles I can positively say that I am cured. A philanthropist is lord and master of his money, but most people are servants of it.

NINETY-EIGHT PER CENT. There is a fascination about big profits to a business man. But the conservative and cautious trader preterest and the larger per cent. of interest and the largeer per cent. of safety in his investments. There is no business man who would not consider it a sound proposition to invest in an enterprise in v which absolute loss was impossible and which offered a rich profit. The statistics of cures effected by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery show that ninety-eight per cent. of cases of "weak lungs" can be absolutely cured. Almost if not all forms of physical weakness may be traced to starvation. Starvation saps the strength. The body is just as much starved when the stomach cannot extract mutrition from the food it receives as when there is no food. "Weak lungs," bronchial affections, postial) eyes," or perhaps, "It is a comfort to know that friendship is partly bilind as well as the mythological boy," or any nonsense that serves to show that one appreciates the spirit that prompted the kind expression, however, "weak lungs," broncmat affections, "broncmat affections, "bronch, "broncmat affections, "bronch, " of digestion which digest and distrib ute the food, and by increasing the supply of pure blood.

Where Medical Science Fails

To cure rheumatism, and all the time you suffer dreadfully, why don't you get a bottle of Polson's Nerviline and that? Rub it into your stiff joints, sore arms, lame back, shoulders—wherever the pain is. Ner-viline has cured plenty of people in this way, and that ought to be proof enough that it will cure you, too. It is an unusually strong liniment that cures rheumatism in unusually quick time. Best household liniment known.

This pleasant remedy cures without the use of drugs, atomizers of snuffs. You inhale the medicated vapor which spreads to all parts of the breathing organs, kills the germs and heals the inflamed surfaces. Catarrhozone clears the throat and nose in stantly, and never fails to cure the most obstinate catarrhal, lung and throat troubles. A trial will demon-strate the value of Catarrhozone, which sells for $1, small size 25 cts, at Druggists or Polson & Co., Kings-
