EXTRAORDINARY SALE
OF
HIGH CLASS WHITE LAWN WAISTS
The Greatest in Our History.
COMMENCES
Wednesday, July 20, at 8.30 a.m.,
And Continues Until 10 p.m. Saturday, July 23rd.

The waists with the most style, best fit and superior workmanship for the season, 1904, have been on display in the FOREMAN STORE. Space is limited in this store, and to make room for the Fall Underwear these High Class Perfect Fitting Waists must leave, and in all probability before Saturday night at closing hours. They have been "pruned" of all the profits, and in most cases deep cuts have been made into the costs.

In 15 styles of Ladies' White Lawn Waists, perfect fitting, full sleeves and prettily trimmed, the sizes have been seriously broken, they have been reduced to one third, and in most cases less than half-price, and grouped in 3 lots so as to have a complete range of sizes in each group. For instance, if there are 4 styles in a group in one style there may be sizes 32 and 34 in another, 34, 36 and 38 in another, 32, 36 and 40, and in still another 40 and 42. You'll be sure to get your correct style in each group if you come early.

SUNNY SOUTH

Ex-Mayor Martin Gives The Planet an Entertaining Interview on His Southern Tour.

In the Rocky Mountains—A Picturesque Country—Dr. Martin's New Home.

Ex-Mayor and Mrs. S. T. Martin returned last evening from a delightful summer southern tour during which they visited their son, Dr. Herbert Martin, of Dillon, about 120 miles southwest of Denver.

In a short interview with The Planet Mr. Martin this morning chatted most entertainingly of the trip. On leaving Chatham a three days' visit was first paid to St. Louis. The fair, Mr. Martin says, was good for those who had not visited the Chicago exposition a decade or so ago. St. Louis was very similar and in seeing the one you had seen the other.

"I was particularly proud of the Canadian exhibit," said Mr. Martin enthusiastically. "It was, in my opinion, the best there. It was prepared most elaborately and arranged with exquisite taste and skill. Among the most attractive features were the maple sugar exhibit, the agricultural exhibit of magnificent grains, etc., and a series of excellent pictures representing the progress in Canadian farming life."

From St. Louis Mr. and Mrs. Martin proceeded to Kansas, where they viewed the terrible havoc wrought by the recent floods. Thence they went through to Denver and there took the Colorado Southern railroad entering the mountains by a narrow gauge and winding their remarkable way through the mountains for 120 miles. This ride is a most thrilling one, around sharp curves and under great overhanging rocks.

Dillon is a little town of about 150 inhabitants, has three saloons and one large temperance hotel. These saloons each pay $500 license per annum and the $1,500 thus realized is sufficient to run the municipality, consequently a very happy condition of affairs exists. There is no assessment of taxes. There are five councilmen and the $1,500 runs all the civic business. Dillon is located at an altitude of 8,860 feet and the village nestles down in a valley in the mountains about 60 miles long and one mile wide, where the Blue River runs. It is consequently known as the Blue River Valley. On every side the mountains stretch their gigantic stature skyward with the heavy white snow resting continuously on their peaks. From the melting snow the water descends in ravines and there is such a fall that it bubbles and seethes in foam finally reaching the river where the water is as clear as crystal. Rich perfumed flowers—wild roses particularly—flourish in an artistic abandon and abundance. The thermometer is scarcely known to go above 80, while there is always a delightful breeze. The nights are cool but the days are quite warm.

Two large dredges work on the river continuously dredging gold while above is the large mill where much of the refining is done. Dr. Herbert Martin located in Dillon on account of his health and has since April last gained 15 pounds in weight. He intends to remain there for a few years until his health is completely restored. Meantime he has built up a splendid practice as a physician and has opened a modernly equipped and finished drug store. He is enthusiastic over the country and doing exceedingly well.

Conductor McGarvey lays claim to being somewhat of a yachtsman, and the only reason that Commodore Jarvis is supreme in yachting circles at Toronto, and not himself, is owing to the fact that the genial conductor man doesn't live in Toronto. Yesterday, Conductor McGarvey invited Mike Mannion to go for a sail. Mike was ready with his refusal. His "I guess not" spoke a whole lot more than the sense the bare words convey. In that little speech the emphatic tone was everything. Mac took his brackman, Dan Fisher, and went sailing in McKenzie's "Bull Frog," a big double cat triangle fish boat. Now, Dan felt that he just had to go and he was a willing sacrifice on the altar of the Conductor's feelings. The start was very auspicious, but the boat started to back up as soon as the captain opened the throttle. Sailor Mac thought that perhaps Dan was holding on the lines too tight, so he ordered him to quit pulling, but the "Bull Frog" backed just the same. The railroad yachtsman didn't believe in running a caboose first, but he couldn't prevent it. He signalled to go ahead, but his signals didn't work. He then ordered Dan Fisher to put on the brakes. Dan thought he ought to do something and, as pulling up the centre-board was the only thing he could find to do, he did that. By this time the breakers were in sight. "Open switch ahead!" yelled the Captain of the craft; "jump for it." Dan had heard that cry just once before, when the freight was wrecked last fall. He jumped and landed in about two feet of water. Mac laughed so hard that he rolled off the seat just as the boat lurched over on shore near Outlaws Inn. Will Bennett constituted the wrecking tug and with a row-boat and line he saved the "Bull Frog," and got the railroad sailors safely out of their predicament. Conductor McGarvey says that the next time he goes sailing he's going to get a brakeman who will put on the brakes when he's told. He says the only "breaks" he's seen are the ones that the eye witnesses have given him.

Miss K. Keyes will give lessons in oil paintings, also take orders. For further particulars call at residence, 41 Baxter Street.

Moore & Benson are erecting some large coal sheds on the C. P. R. at Colborne street.

BASKETBALL

WILL PLAY MT. CLEMENS. The Chatham Wagon Works Ball Team held a meeting last night and elected Art. Bury as their manager, and Louis Courier as assistant. It was decided to play Mount Clemens again.

The Bugle Band ball team and the Manson Campbell Co.'s team clashed on Tecumseh Park last evening, resulting in a win for the band boys. The game, although ragged at times, was a pretty fair exhibition of the American game.

Batteries: — Band — Douglas and Head; Campbell Co.—Cameron and Pritchard. Umpire, Skipper Smith.

NIGHT FIRE

The firemen were called out last evening about ten o'clock to the residence of Sam Kavinsky, Edgar St.

The fire was located in the pantry and was started by a lamp explosion. The fire had not got much headway and the flames were soon extinguished when the firemen arrived. One of hose was laid and the damage he more from smoke and water than from the fire.

MAKING A FIGHT

Blenheim Hotelmen Appeal to Judge Anglin and May Go to Higher Court.

Toronto, July 18.—The fight for the issuance of licenses in Blenheim, where the commissioners refused to renew any licenses in view of a popular vote favoring closing all saloons, although the Council failed to act on the vote, has now assumed a new phase. Yesterday the Ontario license department was served with a notice intimating that application would be made to Judge Anglin on Wednesday to compel the commissioners for the County of Kent to issue licenses to W. J. O'Brien, of the Shendon House; A. B. Vester, of the Vester House, and E. J. Buzzard, of the Erie House, the three licenses which have been refused.

The case will raise several new points of law, especially the one whether license commissioners have power, irrespective of any by-law, to close all saloons in a municipality. It is probable that the hotelmen fail in their application for a mandamus they may go to a higher court, and it is certain if the mandamus issues that the department will appeal.

It is poor economy to try to save a few cents on a can of baking powder. Cheap baking powder means cheap food; and cheap food means poor food every time.

One can of Cleveland's Baking Powder, owing to its superior strength and purity, will last as long as two cans of "cheap" baking powder and will make better, richer and more nourishing food.

There is true economy in buying Cleveland's.
