

USED AS PRODUCED

Fresh north and north west winds, Tuesday, fine and cool.

Natural gas must be used as it is produced.

Coal can be mined all year around and stored. Natural gas must be brought out of the earth as it is needed, because the cost of storage would be too great.

But it must be carried long distance through pipe lines with many possibilities of accident.

Despite this, the service is maintained with practically no interruption.

Remember this occasionally.

ALTHOUGH NATURAL GAS IS CHEAP, DO NOT WASTE IT—THE SUPPLY IS NOT EVERLASTING.

In The Hills Above Ice River

THIS man is not carving his name on a stump. By looking closely one will identify the claws on the downcast right forepaw as those of a good sized black bear. So the human operator is removing a handsome black coat from a sleek, fat faller that had returned in innocent ignorance out on the open in search of mice and such interesting changes from a diet of berries. He did not know that men with guns were creeping up the slope toward him because the wind was sweeping down from the peaks above and the only scent it took to his keen nostrils was that of the fresh, sweet snows that were already whitening the peaks above Ice River, north of the C. P. R. transcontinental line.

So the bear waddled along with an investigating nose close to the sticks and stones he turned over with his great paws. He paused at a rotting log that had fallen before some great tree which had swept the hillside in the decades past, and he turned it over with an nose that spoke highly of strong claws and big muscles; he found some grubs and he licked them up; he started to investigate a bundle of weeds and dried grasses that looked as if it might contain some tender young mice. A hundred yards away, down the slope, a man's weak ankle that had been strained in days gone by a slipping twist, turned on a

MUSIC AND DRAMA

SCREEN'S BEST-LIKED VILLIAN IS CRAFTY JOE RYAN

Joe Ryan, screen's best "beloved" bad man, is boss villain in "The Man of Might," Vitaphone's latest adventure serial, the third episode of which will be seen in the Hippodrome Theatre to-day and Tuesday. Mr. Ryan is even more "bad" than in "The Fighting Trail," "Vengeance" and "The Woman," and "A Fight for Millions," cashed in as a result of chances he took where his villainy brought a shriek of "kill him" from many an excited fan, coupled with fear that he might really be and thus lost to the picture.

William Duncan is the star in the serial, and also director, and is supported by an all-star cast, including Edith Johnson and Mr. Ryan.

LOOK AT A CHILD'S TONGUE WHEN CROSS. FEVERISH AND SICK

Take no Chances! Move Poisons From Liver and Bowels at Once.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—stomach, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

"THE BETTER 'OLE."

When "The Better 'Ole," the comedy with music, which will be seen at the Grand Opera House on Saturday afternoon and evening, was offered to American managers for production, it was declared by some to be too English for the American public; others were reluctant about taking the risk of production on account of the excessive sum asked for advance royalties. It remained for those astute producers, Mr. and Mrs. Coburn, to secure the plum while the others were debating over the advisability of the venture. After one reading the Coburns saw possibilities that, perhaps, other producers overlooked. Undoubtedly, the latter did not take into consideration the fact that the recent war has drawn tighter the tie that binds America to England, as well as the fact that correspondents on the western front have familiarized the American public with British sayings and slang phrases. The wisdom of the Coburns has been proved by the popularity of the piece has attained at the Cort Theatre, New York.

TEA FOR THREE.

"Tea for Three," the Roi Cooper Megrue comedy which Selwyn & Co. are offering at the Grand Opera House Monday night, May 12, for one performance only, with Miss Elsa Ryan in the leading role, is said to fairly sizzle with bright, snappy lines and rapid-firing repartee. Many audacious statements are made regarding husbands and wives and married life in general, principally by the young bachelor, who poses as a philosopher and frivoler. Following are a few of his assertions:

"No woman likes to hear the truth about her husband."
"Women are amused by the careless chaps; they marry the serious ones."
"A man may not have loved, but there lives no man who has not been loved."

"If forbidden fruit is sweetest, so are forbidden men the most tempting."

"There are two kinds of fools—those who give advice and those who don't take it."
"All wives lie to their husbands—all sensible wives."

Roumanian Girl Went Through Marriage Ceremony but Pleads Ignorance as to What it Meant—Wants a Divorce

Bridgeburg, Ont., May 5—Anne Mantau, a Roumanian girl who, through her ignorance of the customs of this country, did not know that she was married when she went through the marriage ceremony about a year ago, and who left her husband and went to Detroit, Mich., now wants a divorce from him. She recently left her home near Welland with another Roumanian, her affinity, as she styled him, not knowing that Mantau was her partner for life. She explains that she went through but a short ceremony before a minister, while in her country it takes ten days of celebration to make a marriage. Her affinity, Beland, is in trouble with the U. S. immigration authorities. Mantau doesn't want her back, so the girl wants a divorce and freedom.
