People believed that he was deadmurdered by Sir Charles Hastings, his brother-in-law; killed in a quarrel and his body cunningly hidden failed to trace him from the hour that he was seen to step from a French window at Emden Hall, in angry dispute with Sir Charles Hastings. Sir Charles had been acquitted by a legal tribunal, but few doubted his guilt. That was twenty-five years ago!

CHAPTER V.

"Five o'clock, and the tea-bell is ringing!" cried the happy, boisterous voice of Lord Cecil Stanhope, as he pushed his way to Lady Gladys' stall. Lady Gladys' father followed close ly upon his heels.

"Forgive me for deserting you Hastings, but I see that you are in good hands. So many people here that I know, and Lord Howard has been simply besieged right and left."

The earl smiled pleasantly. He was living again for the first time in many

"Do not fatigue yourself, Gladys," he observed to his daughter. Her heightened color did not escape his quick eyes. "You have been standing a long time, and the weather is oppressively warm."

"I am not at all tired, papa. Oh, we have been so busy! Mademoisell Lamartine and I. Auntie commen very well, but for the past quarter of an hour she has been quite lazy! We have taken nearly fifty pounds!"

"If I have been lazy it is Sir Charles Hastings' fault," laughed Lady Mar-cia. She glanced at the young baronel significantly. "But we have had s leasant conversation."

"Let us adjourn to the pavilion," suggested the earl. "And Mme. Lamartine will take charge of the stall for half an hour. Three cavaller and only two ladies. I will give place to youth and beauty and walk in the rear. What lovely heart's ease Gladys! Your taste is perfect."

Lady Gladys blushed prettily, con-scious that the eyes of both Sir Charles and Lord Cecil were upon her. A glad thrill shot through the barHe had not noticed that the earl's ughter was wearing his flowers un-

Monarch of the Sea. THE WHALE'S TWO HUNDRED

TONS OF FLESH.

It is an erroneous idea that the animals of past ages-mammoths, mastodons, and the gigantic reptiles whose fossils have been found-were far bigger than any living creatures

The mammoth was not bigger than its living representative, the great elephant of Africa, which often stands eleven feet high at the shoulders and weighs five tons. Again, the skeleton of a species of reptile of past ages, which has been given the name of diplodoca, and which can be seen in the Natural History Museum in London, is eighty-four feet long—almost three times the length of the biggest crocodile.

Misleading Measurements.

But, as Sir Ray Lankester points out in "Secrets of Earth and Sea" (Methuen), we must not be misled by this measurement as to the creature's actual bulk, for the tail is forty feet long and whip-ike, whilst the neck is twenty-three feet long, and carries a smal head not bigger than that of a horse. The body, apart from the neck and tail, was really only a little bigger than that of a large ele-

No extinct animal approached the existing whale in either bulk or weight. He is eighty to ninety feet ong, and has neither neck nor any length of tail. His outline is eggike. He weighs two hundred tonsforty times as much as a big elephant —and is supported without any strain on his structure by the water in which he floats.

which he floats.

Probably he cannot exceed some ninety feet in length and two hundred tons of bulk on account of the relatively great increase of proportional size and power required in the heart to propel the blood through such a wast mass of living tissue and keep him going as a warm-blooded mammal

Results in Half the Usual Time!

Ordinary yeast vitamine preparations have in many cases been known to bring good results. But thousands now know that Ironized Yeast, the scientifically correct vitamine tonic treatment, brings results often in just half the usual time!

One reason for this marked superiority is that Ironized Yeast, be-sides containing just the right amount of all three essential vitamines, contains a type of yeast which has positively no equal as a reconstruc-tive agent—a yeast which is cultured expressly for medicinal purposes, and which is entirely different from the yeast found in ordinary "yeast Yeast Best When Ironized

But even more important than this is the fact that this yeast has been ironized—or treated through a scientific process with a special form of easily assimilated organic iron, similar to the iron found in spinach. When yeast is ironized in this manner it is found that results are not only more permanent, but are secured just twice as quickly.
