To-day's Exhibition

The work of the Newfoundland Poultry Association, whose annual exhibition opens in the C. L. B. Armoury to-day, is deserving of the fullest mention and the widest support, and it is hoped that the efforts to stimulate interest in an industry which has immense possibilities will meet with success.

The activities of the Association are by no means confined to the holding of an exhibition; during the year thousands of eggs are distributed throughout the Island, and lectures on poultry raising are given at the expense of the members themselves in various settlements. Already the results are observable in the improved stock raised and in the increase in the number of eggs marketed.

As conditions in this country appear to be admirably suited to the industry, it is surprising to find that the demand both for eggs and poultry is so greatly in excess of the local supply. Annually about 200,000 dozen eggs and about 150,000 pounds of killed poultry are imported, the value of which is not less than $128,000. There seems to be no reason whatever why one cent of this money should leave Newfoundland. Provided poultry raisers will take the trouble to improve their stock and make themselves familiar with the methods which have been found by experience to produce the best results, this branch of agriculture could be made a very profitable venture.

In addition to the poultry industry, the Association has devoted considerable attention to the development of fox farming and the breeding of Newfoundland dogs. In connection with the former industry, Prince Edward Island in recent years has developed it to such an extent as to make it one of the most profitable undertakings in the Province. At a recent exhibition held in Toronto, P. E. I. farms were represented by more than two hundred animals, and won the world's championships for adult foxes and fox pups, for female adults and pups, nearly all the firsts, and many of the other prizes. Half a million dollars worth of furs passed through Montreal on November 22nd bound for France and places in the United States and the Dominion. In the French consignment alone not less than 239 animals were from the Prince Edward Island farms. If we are not mistaken, some at least of the ancestors of these animals came from the oldest Colony, and why we should not prove a rival to the Gulf Province in this trade it seems impossible to conceive.

In the Newfoundland dog the Colony has a breed of animal, the value and importance of which cannot be too strongly stressed. Such little attention was given to the preservation of the breed in the past that it had almost become extinct. The attention given to the matter in recent years, however, by private individuals and the interest awakened by the Association have resulted in steps being taken to perpetuate the species and to give to the animals raised a recognized status.

The exhibition is the nearest approach to an Industrial Fair of anything of the kind held in Newfoundland, and its particular feature is that the products exhibited are capable of being raised profitably in the Island entirely on their merit, and without subsidy or special protection to keep them going. As such they particularly deserve encouragement by the public, and all those who have given their time and services to their promotion are deserving of the highest credit.

Annual Poultry Show

The annual poultry show under the auspices of the Newfoundland Poultry Association opened at 3 p.m. to-day in the C. L. B. Armoury. Judging by the number of exhibits, the show this year promises to be the best ever held. In connection with this year's show there is a Newfoundland dog and fox exhibition which is sure to be interesting. The show will remain open until Dec. 4th. The official opening takes Honorary Mayor Cook will perform the ceremony.

St. Michael's Christmas Fair Opens

St. Michael's Women's Association opened their annual Christmas Fair at 3.30 yesterday. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Nicholls performed the duties of opening. Amongst those present were the Lord Bishop and Mrs. White, Rev. Canon Jeeves, Donaldson, Brinton, Goodland, Stirling and Lady Horwood. There had been prepared a splendid array of goods including plain and fancy work besides articles suitable for Christmas gifts, all of which were rapidly disposed of. The tea tables, too, were well looked after, and the many who partook of tea spoke in high terms of the ladies in charge. The sale will be continued this afternoon when the stocks will be replenished. At night a concert will be held, a feature of which will be a dialogue by the Girl's Guild.

Young Newfoundland Ordained

Mr. H. F. Shortle received the following Anglo cable message this morning from Pittsburgh, Penna, U. S.A.:

"Brother Jack who for fifteen years was Professor of steel treatment department, Carnegie Tech, was ordained a Priest by Bishop Alexander Mann in Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh Monday. As you are a friend of the Davis-Taylor family thought you would like to know this. Kind regards."

The young clericman is the son of the venerable Mrs. Henry Taylor of Noad Street, Harbor Grace, who did so much in knitting socks, gloves, etc., for our young soldiers during the great war, and now in her 84th year. His grandfather was the famous seal-killer, Labrador planter and enterprising business man, Capt. Nathaniel Davis, who, for so many years commanded the brigantine "Robert Arthur," and other ships with success at the ice-roads. The Davis family is one of the very oldest and most highly respected in Conception Bay, and scores of relations are scattered over Newfoundland. The Scanlan family, so long connected with telegraphy in this country, are cousins. All will be pleased to learn that the young cleric has attained his life object, and we wish him success in his sacred calling.

Having put it to the test, shouts Wilson's Certified is best.

The sale will be continued to-morrow, and as the proceeds are to be devoted to the building fund of the new hall, it is hoped there will be a very large attendance both days.

JUDGMENT DELIVERED AGAINST SIR RICHARD SQUIRES IN INCOME TAX CASE.

In the Cause of the Minister of Finance and Customs Against Sir Richard A. Squires for a Breach of Section 7 of the War Tax Act of 1918.

After hearing the evidence submitted on the part of the prosecution and the arguments of learned counsel, and after examining the document with affidavits attached marked "exhibit 1," put in on the evidence of Joseph O'Reilly, assessor purporting to be a statement of the defendant's total income during the calendar year preceding the 1st day of December, 1918, I hold that said document and affidavit are not a return on oath of the defendant's total income during the said preceding calendar year, in the form prescribed by the Minister of Finance and Customs as provided for under Section 7 of the War Tax of 1918 and I, further, adjudge the defendant to forfeit a sum of $300, being $300 per day for 180 days prior to the 1st day of November, 1925, being the date of the issue of this summons.

Sale of Work

LADIES' COLLEGE AID SOCIETY.

The annual sale of work of the Ladies' College Aid Society and Girl's Guild will be opened in the Gaiety Hall this afternoon at four o'clock by Rev. Dr. Fenwick. This sale is looked upon as one of the principal sales of work held every year and the ladies also make an effort to keep up the reputation they have made before; this year will be no exception. The various stalls will consist of plain and fancy work, handkerchiefs, toys, vanity, paint, candy, ice-cream, drinks, knitted goods, etc. The tea tables will be a special attraction and those who remember the splendid turkey suppers served at this sale last year, will be glad to know that an opportunity of partaking of the same will be again afforded this year. The ladies hope to meet all their old friends during the next two afternoons and nights.

More Light on the Great Bacon Controversy

For many years new scholars and lovers of English literature have been disagreeing over the authorship of those works which the world calls the plays of Shakespeare. Few subjects outside of religion have been so often and so acrimoniously discussed as this famous question. It is a matter which most people seem to be unable to speak of without heat. The supporters of the Bacon theory are as enthusiastic as those who claim Shakespeare to be the sole author. Literary societies use this theme as a subject for debate; books are written about it every year and in spite of the fact that nearly three centuries have elapsed since the deaths of Shakespeare and Bacon, the controversy (which of course is of more recent origin) seems as far as ever from being settled. At last however a discovery has been made which settles the question forever. One of the great brains of the century has found out that Shakespeare was aided by Bacon in his literary works. It appears that one of the favourite dishes of the Elizabethan age was bacon, boiled or roasted, and Shakespeare must have often eaten this tasty dish, thus nourishing the great intellect which produced the famous plays. Now we cannot promise that the use of Bacon will make Shakespeares of all our customers, but we do promise that Wilson's Certified Bacon will make happy and satisfied users.

Annual Meeting Feildian Ladies' Association

On Monday last the annual meeting of the Feildian Ladies' Association was held in the College Hall and was largely attended. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Andrew Carnell, the President, and the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer, having been read and adopted, the meeting proceeded with the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President—Mrs. Andrew Carnell. 1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Perlin. 2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. H. Knight. Treasurer—Mrs. B. B. Stafford. Secretary—Mrs. F. F. Horton. Asst. Sec.—Mrs. Ellis Watson.

In thanking the meeting for having elected her to office for a second time, Mrs. Carnell expressed her appreciation of the loyal assistance given by the members during the past year and trusted that with the same co-operation and with increased membership the work of the Association during the coming year would prove even more successful. The President also referred to the great success of the Bazaar held recently.

Just a year in existence, the Association promises to become a most important factor in advancing the various interests of the College. The reports presented were gratifying and showed that a most satisfactory fund had been collected as a result of the year's work. Part of the amount is devoted towards effecting improvements in Bishop Field College and part to the laying out of recreation grounds on the Tannery Field. Considerable discussion took place with regard to the programme of work to be undertaken, and the hope was generally expressed that everyone who had the welfare of the College at heart would join the Association, as the work of erecting new buildings would have to be undertaken in the immediate future owing to the dilapidated condition of the present building and the necessity for increased accommodation.

Did Not Benefit Financially

Judging by the notice published in Tuesday's Telegram by one of the specialty performers in "Mrs. Malone at the Circus" which by the way is quite correct, there apparently is some misconception as to the disposition of the proceeds. Accordingly, it is up to me to give a financial statement. Needless to say, I too did not benefit from this performance. On the contrary, in my enthusiasm, I actually lost my own work for a week and am now feeling the loss of that week's production. The total receipts of the show were as follows: Monday, $387.15; Tuesday, $381.70; Wednesday, $206.51 and Thursday, $108.00, totaling $1087.16.

The full list of expenses is shown below, and anyone interested may see the vouchers at my office. After expenses Mr. John Burke received $980 and the Belvedere Ladies' Association $258.15. That was the arrangement made between Mr. Burke and myself for his production of the play. The specialty performers did not receive anything.
