INTERNATIONAL LESSON NO. 11.
APRIL 12, 1908

The Resurrection.—1 Cor. 15: 20, 21, 50-58

Commentary—After proving the resurrection of Christ from the scriptures (vs. 1-4) and from eye-witnesses (vs. 5-12), Paul offers a strong argument by showing the results of the contrary doctrine:—
1. The whole world would be a failure and proaching and faith vain (v. 14). This is clear because, (1), if Christ has not been raised from the dead He cannot keep His promises. 2. He cannot be a present Saviour from sin. 3. He cannot be proved to be the Son of God. "It is His power over death, His continued existence, His ever living, that completes the proof that He is a divine Saviour."
4. There has been no atonement for sins. There can be no second coming. 1. Christ's resurrection affirmed.

21. By man—It pleased God that in some way humanity should with itself, however aided with divinity, work out its own destiny, both for death and life. He walked with Him at different times in various places, and many of these witnesses were familiar acquaintances.

22. In my man—It pleased God that in some way humanity should with itself, however aided with divinity, work out its own destiny, both for death and life. He walked with Him at different times in various places, and many of these witnesses were familiar acquaintances.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, says:

"There are but few wives and mothers who have not at times endured agonies and such pain as only women know of. I wish such women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any other I ever knew and thoroughly reliable. I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy, and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this medicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—Mrs. R. A. Anderson, 235 Washington St., Jacksonville, Fla.—$5000 for a testimonial proving genuineness of this medicine.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause, and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition.

aged and pressed into service; but certainly they never suggested it. Reason, unaided, never dreamed of the resurrection.

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

The doctrine of the resurrection of the body is distinctively a revelation of the Bible and Christianity. Heathen religion and philosophy contained intimations of a future life for the spirit, but contained no hint of a resurrection for the body. Hence the doctrine of the resurrection from the dead as taught by the apostles seemed foolishness to the heathen world. Importance of the resurrection of Christ to the Christian system. The apostle bases his argument for the resurrection of all upon the resurrection of Christ. Indeed, this is the keystone of Christianity. Plot out the victory of Christ over the grave and the whole system falls to the ground. The apostle urges this thought by various considerations. (a) The positive evidence of Christ's resurrection from the dead (vs. 3-8). This evidence would be sufficient to establish any fact in any just tribunal in his world. (b) He then argues that to admit the resurrection of Christ is to admit the possibility of a resurrection for all (vs. 12, 13). (c) He then argues that if Christ be risen preaching is in vain, faith is vain and he and others who preached Christ's power to save were false witnesses (vs. 14-17). Only a living Christ can save men. He lives, therefore He can save (Heb. vii. 25). (d) Then they also who have fallen asleep in Christ are perished. (v. 18). Their hope for the future was a delusion, their triumph a fantasy. Our hope of meeting again with them is a dream. "If in this life only, we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable," most to be commiserated.

Hope through the resurrection of Christ of a resurrection for all His people. (v. 20). The effect of Christ's resurrection upon His disciples is illustrated in John xiii. They were "glad when they saw the Lord," He revived, despair fled, faith reasserted itself and they were "glad." The joyous note of v. 20 was constantly kept before the church by the apostles. (a) It was a central thought in their preaching. (b) In Paul's life it was the inspiration which enabled him to count all things but loss for Christ, and to endure the daily death of the apostolic ministry. (c) In view of separation by death, believers were comforted by the hope of a resurrection at the coming of the Lord. (d) Were the saints passing through fiery trials, they were exhorted to patient endurance in view of the glory which was to be theirs at the appearing of Jesus Christ. (e) The saints are urged to persevere in the Christian race by the hope that at His coming He "shall change our vile body that it may be fashioned like unto His glorious body." This hope has been and is the joy and the inspiration of the church of Christ in the earth.

Victory in view of the resurrection. If in one particular sin and Satan keep the people of God under their power, salvation is incomplete. Sin must not only be destroyed but its consequences as well. This shall be accomplished in Christ. "The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death" (v. 26). Then shall every saint of God exclaim, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" (v. 55). Seeing this triumph from afar, God's people may now by longer lies, and on that depends more than a woman likes to concede. But let us be honest with ourselves. A picture hat only calls attention to the sparse hair, and a pink wig emphasizes the fact that the apple blossom tints have faded. It is better always to look like a well preserved old woman than a much damaged young woman. The greatest aids to life here, proper food and proper exercise, with proper sleep. A man of 63 with the step of a boy, said "The price of suppleness is eternal exercise." The greatest enemies to life here, lust and worry. You combat lust with a lobby, and by the wisdom of living one day at a time, you quiet worry, which absorbs so much of the American vitality. You have heard of the old woman who had three eyes of glasses which she called her "high tops." The last she used to do for fine work and her reading, and she used the "high tops" for the work of old age.—Milton Harland.

I really don't know. Would I marry again? I sometimes say "No". The men are all charming as far as they go. And yet there are times when they bother me so. I really don't know. At other times, too, when the world appears slow. With so many places a woman can't go. Unless she is flanked by a man—and so— I really don't know. Perhaps if some lovable sweetheart once came And offered to share both his heart and his name, I might be persuaded to enter the game. I really don't know. It is all very well a cynic to be. Yet woman is not content when loving, you see— So if I loved him and I knew he loved me— I really don't know.—Boston Journal.

faith bring it high. The exhortation in view of this hope (v. 58). How insignificant all earthly hopes compared with this! How full is this hope of encouragement to endurance. Therefore, "be steadfast"—press steadily forward, turning neither to the right hand nor to the left; "unmovable"—let nothing disturb the serenity of spirit, begotten by this hope "always abounding."—press steadily forward, you to your best endeavor to glorify Him and advance His kingdom who purchased this hope for you "forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord"—temptations to discouragement may arise, but your reward is not here; when He shall appear He shall "reward every man according as his work shall be."—John S. McGearry.

Shaping Our Own Destiny

The intuition of the moral sentiment is an insight of the perfection of the laws of the soul. These laws execute themselves. They are out of time, out of space, and not subject to circumstance. Thus, in the soul of man there is a justice whose retributions are instant and entire. He who does a good deed is instantly enabled. He who does a mean deed is by the action itself contracted. He who puts off impurity thereby puts on purity. If a man is at heart just, then in so far as he is God; the safety of God, the immortality of God, the majesty of God, do enter into that man with justice. * * * As we are, so we associate. The good, by affinity, seek the good; the vile, by affinity, the vile. Thus of their own volition, souls proceed into heaven, into hell. * * * Good is positive. Evil is merely private, not absolute; it is like cold, which is the privation of heat. All evil is so much death or nonentity. Benevolence is absolute and real. So much benevolence as a man hath, so much life hath he. For all things proceed out of this same spirit, which is differently named love, justice, temperance, in its different applications, just as the ocean receives different names on the several shores which it washes.—Emerson.

CANADA'S EXPORTS.

Canada produces one bushel of wheat to thirty bushels grown elsewhere in the world. Notwithstanding this fact, Canada is by far the largest exporter of agricultural implements in the world, her population being taken into consideration. During the past seven years the exports of Canadian implements have reached the vast total of ten millions of dollars, or equal to the export of twenty million bushels of wheat grown in the great Northwest at fifty cents per bushel. These facts should certainly establish in the minds of all thinking farmers the excellent quality and the high reputation which appertain to Canadian-made implements. Canadian implements are exported to every country in the world where grain is grown, except to the United States. That market is a sealed book to Canadian implement manufacturers as well as to the Canadian farmer, for hardly any of our products find a market there, while the aggressive American is competing all over the world, and in Canada, too, for every inch of ground now held by the Canadian farmer and manufacturer.

Elkins at the Races.
N.Y. Press.
When Senator Elkins was in college he liked to see the races. One day he and his chum slipped off together from school, and on the way to the track came across their professor, who said in surprise: "Young gentlemen, what does this mean? You should be at your lessons." Elkins said: "Sir, we wanted to go to lessons and also to the races, so we tossed for it, and it came down for the races." "Ah! Then you must have used a two-headed coin, or tried the gambler's plan of heads I win, tails you lose." "No, sir: It was a fair toss," said young Elkins.

"What did you throw up?" "We threw a lump of coal up. If it stopped up we went to school; if it came down we went to the races, and here we are, sir."

HOUSEY'S RAPIDS IS IN LINE.

Geo. C. Chalker Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did for Him.

Took Him From His Bed, Made Him Well Man Able and Willing to Do a Fair Day's Work.

Housey's Rapids, Ont., March 23.—(Special.)—As every city, town and village in Canada seems to be giving its evidence as to the wonderful cures resulting from Dodd's Kidney Pills, there is no season Housey's Rapids should not be in line. People here have kidney troubles just the same as elsewhere, and like others they have used Dodd's Kidney Pills and been cured.

One of the most remarkable cures was that of Geo. C. Chalker. He says: "I am cured of my kidney complaint. I have no doubt about it. In the last I weigh ten pounds more than I did fourteen months ago, can do a fair day's work every day, and I am clear of my old enemy, lame back, heavy aching arms, dull, purged eyes—yes, it is all gone, brought out by Dodd's Kidney Pills. No one can realize the relief except those who have been through it all. I was so bad I could not work, hard, but was compelled to make my living. My head would float, I felt tired all the time, my arms felt useless at times and so very heavy. At last I was laid up and could do no work. Then I was induced to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and you know the result: It only took six boxes to cure me completely."

And Mr. Chalker is only one of many in this neighborhood who charge their good health up to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

One of His Follies.
Evelyn—So you are going to marry Mr. Tilton, Bertie? Why, it will all seem as if we were relatives, won't it? You know, Mr. Tilton wanted to marry me.

Bertie—Yes, Henry often laughs about his early indiscretion, as he calls it. He said the other night he couldn't understand what he ever saw in you. But, of course, he exaggerates, dear.—Boston Transcript.

A skin that burns with eczema is not only unsightly, but a warning of the flesh. Internally and Weaver's Symp. They always cure.

New Juice From Scotland.
A train travelling on a small branch railway in the Highlands suddenly came to a standstill. One of the passengers poked his head out of the window to ascertain the cause and just caught the guard as he passed under the window on his way to the engine. "Why are we stopping?" he inquired. "Ho, mon, ye manna jist hie a wee; the watter's gone aff that hill!"—Glasgow Herald.

CALIFORNIA WEALTH.

The reports made by the savings banks of San Francisco recently show deposits of $156,817,637. This immense sum exceeds the record of all former years, and represents about $380 per capita. As this is more than three times the average savings bank deposit per capita for the whole United States, it is certainly a good showing. Next is confined to San Francisco. The returns from the banks of the State, save National banks, show an aggregate increase of assets for the year of $55,376,024. This exceeds the highest former record of gain by $24,371,497, a very satisfactory state of affairs.

California is not simply a land for the tourist, but for the investor and the farmer. Perhaps no other farmers enjoy so large an income as California farmers. A rate per cent on their investments that would satisfy the eastern farmer is considered very meagre here. Fruit farming has always been profitable; fortunes have been made in oranges, and the great yield of alfalfa makes dairying a paying industry.

Land is lower in price than it will ever be again, and rates from the east over Southern Pacific lines are now based on a fare of $32 from Chicago, so that it is a good time to see the State. This rate will expire June 15th. Write F. B. Choate, General Agent, Southern Pacific, Detroit, Mich.

Whale's Appetite.
A whale's appetite is phenomenal, says the Chicago News. He chief diet consists of jellyfish. He has simply to open his mouth and pack the jellyfish leisurely in order to take it in jellyfish by the wagon load. Such is the method adopted by the whale-bone whaler. The sperm whale, on the contrary, captures huge squids, weighing often several tons. Like his brother, the whalebone whaler, he must be constantly on the lookout for food, otherwise he would starve. As many as fourteen seals have been taken from a 20-foot killer. Other fishes of enormous appetites are not uncommon. The bluefish, for example, thrives on sardines and other small fish. Assuming that one bluefish eats ten small fish a day it has been figured that it requires ten thousand million million bluefish on our coasts every summer. Most curious of all eaters is the hydra, a strange creature that can be turned inside out without impairing its appetite or its power to eat.

Wants to Cultivate Lobster Beds.
Robinson Crusoe's island, Juan Fernandez, is surrounded by lobster beds so productive that a big fortune awaits some man who will start a canning establishment there. So, at least, says Juan Calasoff, a native and has just come to the United States in search of the capital needed for the enterprise. The island now has 180 inhabitants, but none of them has sufficient means to gather the rich harvest of lobsters that the nine months' open season makes possible.
