A Wonderful Lunatic.

Dr. L. C. Bruce gives an account in Brain of a lunatic in the Derby Borough Asylum who exhibits the phenomenon of passing from one mental state to another. By birth he is Welsh, and when in his "Welsh state" his condition is that of dementia. He can then understand Welsh but not English. In his "English state" his condition is that of chronic mania, and he speaks and understands both English and Welsh. But he cannot remember anything that occurred to him when in the Welsh state, although his memory leaps over the interval and recalls events belonging to preceding English states. Conversely when in the Welsh state he is totally ignorant of things that he knows and understands perfectly in the English state. Sometimes he passes from one state to the other suddenly; at other times he goes through an intermediate state, during which there appears to be a mixture of the two conditions in his brain.

RUSTY NAIL FATALITY.

Sad Death of Wm. Prince, a Resident of Hyde Park.

Wm. E. Prince, blacksmith, of Hyde Park, expired at his home on Tuesday last from lockjaw, caused by the young man having stepped upon a rusty nail about a month ago. The nail went through his shoe, and penetrated the ball of the left foot. The wound was rather painful, but it was carefully dressed, and soon caused little or no inconvenience. Two weeks passed, and the incident had been almost entirely forgotten, until Prince began to have trouble with cramps in the foot which was injured. At intervals they would be so severe as to draw the toes out of shape, and he finally became so bad that Dr. McNeill, of St. Johns, was called. The trouble

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED. In the interest of the masses for whom these reports are compiled, the United States Health Reports have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the medical and official endorsement of these reports to the remedy known as "Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure," manufactured by the Keystone Kennedy Company, at 218 La Salle street, Chicago. They are distributing literature this week all through the city, and in the light of our examinations and tests of "Uncle Sam's Tobacco Cure," we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we indorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common (For Only $1) we earnestly advise you to read full particulars, and if you have not seen circulars to call at W. was attributed to the rusty nail, and as Dr. McNeill feared that lockjaw would set in, he consulted with Dr. Wishart, of this city. The sole of the foot was opened, and the wound cauterized, but gradually the leg, back, and finally the jaw became affected.

For over a week Mr. Prince suffered intensely with pain. Everything possible was done for him, but without effect, and death ensued on Tuesday. The young man was in his 25th year, and was highly respected by all with whom he came in contact.

They Came to Time.

A Prisoners' Strike at the County Jail—How it Was Cured.

Jailer Kelly has within the confines of his castle 27 prisoners—24 men and 3 women. He has also in the yard a long pile of wood, upon which the prisoners may exercise themselves. A week ago, six of the "nobles" were shown into the yard by Mr. Kelly and informed that they could amuse themselves with the wood pile. When they saw the size of it, they "caved" a little, and finally they all refused to saw wood, but were content to do anything else.

"Well," said the jailer, "there is not much choice of occupation here, and I'll give you a few minutes to decide as to what course you will pursue, and whether you will do as you choose or as I say."

When the time given them to answer had expired, three of them decided to saw wood, but the other three decided that their physical strength was not equal to the task and refused, but signified their willingness to do anything else. There was a thing for them to do, and Jailer Kelly marched the men to the dark cell, where they were confined for 72 hours, with a diet of bread and water, upon which to recoup sufficient strength to comply with the keeper's command.

A Proud Hen.

Wabash Times.

He was being interviewed on the poultry business, when he said:

"I don't want to boast, but I do think we have got the knowinigest hens in the world in our kind of town. I have a flock of 200, all black. It is a theory of mine that black hens lay better than those of any other color. One day I found a hen in my flock with a few white feathers in her tail. I called the hired man and told him to catch and kill her. 'You can't rely on the laying capabilities of a hen with white feathers,' I said. 'The hen gave me a sorrowful look, but did not say a word. Next morning the hired man told me he could not find her. A month or two later I opened a pile of potatoes I had stored in the cellar, and found a big, hollow space in the center of them. There was a bunch of black feathers in the place where the white ones standing up in a defiant sort of way. Behind the feathers were 66 eggs. I recognized at once that it was the work of the missing hen. The sensitive creature had stowed herself away and worn herself out laying eggs to prove that the theory was a mistaken one.'"

Kaiser Wilhelm has made the chief kettle-drum player of the Berlin Opera a "Royal Chamber Musician," in honor of his having filled the place for 50 years.
