Recipe For Kidney Trouble.
Lithia has proved very beneficial for Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Kidney troubles. It dissolves and removes excess of lime and uric acid from the system. Hitherto it has been sold chiefly in the form of artificial or so-called mineral waters. Parke's Lithiated Fruit Granules contain it in a much more effective form, and makes a most refreshing drink. 25 cents a bottle. Sold by Cairncross & Lawrence.

REORGANIZING FIRST HUSSARS

Enthusiastic Meeting Last Night of Applicants for Enlistment in "A" Squadron.

A meeting was held in the city hall last night for the purpose of receiving applications from intending recruits for A Squadron, First Hussars. The establishment of the corps has been increased from 42 to 81 men. No less than 140 applications have been received, and applications are still pouring in. The meeting was well attended and all the men present showed a readiness to enlist. Major Abbott pointed out that every man must enlist for a period of three years, but discharge may be secured at any time. Those supplied by the troops must be up to the standard, while any applicant in any way addicted to drink will be rejected. A further opportunity to make application will be afforded this afternoon at the armory, Waterloo street north.

Drill will be commenced at an early date, when the selection of recruits will be made. Only the very best will be chosen.

The officers of A Squadron now are: Major H. R. Abbott, Capt. St. Clair Talbot, Lieut. Jas. Thompson, John Garvey, S. S. Turville and Sergt. Major Smeaton. One more lieutenant is yet to be chosen.

Cel. Stothers, commanding officer, has called a meeting of the officers of the First Hussars for Monday evening for the purpose of arranging for the trip to Toronto to take part in the reception to the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall.

ST. JOHN'S LODGE COMMUNICATION.

The first regular communication of St. John's Lodge No. 2094, convened last night in the new Blue Room of the Masonic Temple, and was attended by between 70 and 80 brethren. After routine, V. W. Bro. Kingston moved and R. W. Bro. Cooper seconded a resolution of sympathy with the late Peter Humberstone, in his severe illness, and expressed the hope that at no distant day he will be enabled to continue the duties of the high office to which he was recently unanimously elected by his brethren. Subsequently R. W. Bro. Cooper assured the American visiting brethren of the hearty sympathy of the Canadian lodge with Bro. William McKinley in the dastardly attempt made upon his life at Buffalo during the afternoon. The craft, as a whole, never dispersed, deprecating the villainous treachery of the would-be assassin, and all would express the hope that Bro. McKinley would come safely through the ordeal. The second and third degrees were then conferred in the presence of a large assemblage, after which light refreshments were served and a jolly time indulged in.

A DELIGHTFUL

MUSICAL TREAT.

The Westminster Abbey Choir Greeted by a Very Large and Cultured Audience.

Those who attended the Auditorium last night, especially those who were lovers of vocal music, enjoyed a treat of unusual character. Among the soloists were Madame Marie Hooton, who possesses a rich contralto voice. After each of her appearances she was heartily encored. Perhaps her most admired selection was "The Oak and the Ash," dating back to the year 1620, and it may be here remarked that the idea of the whole programme was the reproduction of the old glee and ballad music of England. Mr. Dan Price excited much enthusiasm by his spirited rendering of "The Rose Tree," and "March! March! Etrick and Teviotdale." Mr. Edward Branscombe, with much artistic feeling and dramatic expression, gave an old song, "The Loves and Sees." A marked feature of the solo singing was the beautiful song by Master Harold Davis, "The Lark Now Leaves." There must be something in the climate and voice-culture of England that produces the quality of tone in these wonderful boy-soprano voices. One cannot imagine the singing of an old song being so beautiful. But the great specialty of the concert was the unaccompanied part singing in glee and madrigal. Now, singing, and others, its exquisite shadings and modulations, has previously been heard in London, and we trust the result may be the revival in Canada of this kind of music. Very delightful was the fine tenor solo, "The Clown's Song," by Mr. William Fell; words from Shakespeare, the musical setting by J. L. Hatton. The concerted chorus gave an added effect. This afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the Westminster Abbey Choir will give a sacred recital in St. Paul's Cathedral, which will doubtless be an inspiration and guidepost to all lovers of real music.
