He Who Has Any Business With St. Peter's Rector Must Visit Sunshine Park

Monsignor McKeon Is There Every Afternoon Leveling Baseball Diamond.

MAKES IT HIS HOBBY

Wears Large Straw Hat and Wields a Very Energetic Hoe.

The sun beats down relentlessly on Sunshine Park in the early afternoon these days. So hot is it that the boys prefer to postpone their games until the sun has got nearer the horizon. And between the hours of noon and four o'clock the baseball diamond is deserted.

Deserted? All save one solitary figure—although it is a generously proportioned one at that—far out on the field. An enormous straw hat, just the type the farmers wear, droops down over enormous shoulders. A white handkerchief, knotted behind, takes the place of a collar, while two large, soft, but capable hands keep in motion a decidedly energetic hoe.

Who can it be? An old clerical coat, flapping with every movement of the workman, gives the show away.

Monsignor McKeon, of course. In pursuit of his hobby, which literally is to produce by the sweat of his own brow and the labor of his own hands one of the finest boys' athletic parks in the city.

Is His Hobby. Sunshine Park, at the north end of Colborne street, has been Father McKeon's hobby ever since he was instrumental in getting it started over two years ago. It now possesses one of the finest baseball diamonds in the city, and a splendid stand with large seating capacity, not to mention dressing-rooms below. Two excellent tennis courts are located on this athletic field, which has been built entirely through the personal labor of Father McKeon and an able gangster.

But Father McKeon isn't satisfied yet. Although the baseball diamond appears to be in the finest shape, he must have it better still, and every afternoon, from noon until the league games commence at 6:45 o'clock, he works away at the weeds and uneven places with his hoe. If anyone wants to do business with the rector of St. Peter's in the afternoon, he must go to Sunshine Park, for only there can he be found. For he doesn't go to the seminary until the ball games are over for the evening. And only then does he have supper.

But a Recreation. "It must be desperately hot here," say those who see him working, with the perspiration pouring from his forehead. "Oh, it's not so hot as this, the reply, "doing all the leveling as recreation. I don't have any holidays you know. And they say I should reduce my weight. This is a laugh and the confession that he has gained ten pounds since he began work on the field this year. For the large face under the straw hat is a jolly face and the fairy god-father of Sunshine Park has a keen sense of humor.

Will Not Take Credit. But Father McKeon won't take the

Bad Complexions Now Removed by Absorption

It has been found that ordinary mercurized wax has the power to absorb an old, faded or discolored complexion—or more literally, the old cuticle, or outer skin—leaving the skin underneath healthy, blooming with the pink of life and the glow of youth. The head and half-dressed cuticle comes off so gradually, in fine, flake-like flakes, that there is no pain, no discomfort, no irritation. The skin is left soft, smooth, and free from all the troubles of tan, freckles, moths, patches, liver spots, and fine lines, so with discarded skin.

Mercurized wax, which druggists supply in one-ounce tins, should be spread lightly over the face before retiring and washed off in the morning.

Don't Squeeze Black-Heads—Dissolve Them

Squeezing and pinching out blackheads make the pores large and cause irritation. Blackheads are caused by accumulations of dust and dirt and secretions from the skin, and there is only one safe and sure way and one that never fails to get rid of them—a simple way, too—that is to dissolve them. Just get from any drug store about two ounces of mercurized wax—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the face and the blackheads, in a few seconds—wash off, and you'll be surprised to see that every blackhead has disappeared and the skin will be left soft and the pores in their natural condition.

For Thin Waists and Sleeveless Gowns

(Toilet Tips.)

A safe, certain method for ridding the skin of ugly, hairy growths, is as follows: Mix a paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply to hairy surface about two minutes; then rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is entirely harmless and seldom requires repeating, but to avoid disappointment it is advisable to see that you get genuine delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.—Adv.
