Gossip from Chicago.

Kennett, Hopkins & Co. to R. Cochran: Favorable weather, increasing receipts at primary markets and slack demand for cash have been the depressing influences to-day. Shorts have sold on apprehension of favorable government report, though most traders look for little change. It is thought the improvement in Kansas and Pacific Coast will about offset the injury in other states, while a rather bearish report on S.W. is looked for. Market has a good decline and is in shape to advance easily if report shows low condition. Corn and oats show weakness on weather reports of free deliveries at primary points. It is thought that farmers will sell if crop outlook improves. Provisions—Market appears to be hardening. It is thought the big run of hogs is over for the present and packers will cover their shorts and try to put prices higher.

Walker & Co. to John J. Dixon & Co.: The fine weather; small clearances and bad reports northwest and southwest that Government report will show some improvement caused an easy feeling in the wheat pit to-day. Long stuff was sold freely, the crowd taking it. They only had it for a while and then let it go at anything they could get for it and closes at about the low p nt of the day. Everybody looking for better Government report to-day due to state reports averaging higher. Corn was weak and lower. The weather has all to do with this at present. The receipts were fair and should increase. Provisions opened strong on lighter receipts of hogs and some covering by the shorts. The general opinion prevails that the heavy run of hogs is over. This would seem probable by the way packers are paying up for hogs. To-day towards the close of the hog market heavy grades sold at $5.40. The market closed easy, as majority of operators fear the Government report will be bearish. On any little decline we advise purchases of provisions.

Henry Allen & Co. to John J. Dixon & Co.: The bears are not yet ready to surrender. They have been smashing away at things all day to-day. Some of the quotations have gone off some. Long stock is not being sold. Enough of the shorts were put out to-day to offset all that were covered during the two preceding days. Burlington is still the especial bear target. There is a Chicago end to this raiding pool, and one or two speculators of some consequence are interested in it, but there is reason to believe that the manipulators are not stayers. They are feeling at the market, putting out every short share that it will take. They are gambling on the hope of a break on the expectation that some security holders may be scared into throwing their stock overboard. In this crowd of bears are the gentlemen who were most rampant in their onslaughts on Burlington last fall when it was down under 80. The coal stocks also are under fire. Reading is an especial red flag to the bear contingent. They hammer away ineffectually in that quarter, however, though they parade their confidence in the readiness of the stocks to break. They have been at this game for months. Their success in future will probably be about equal to the success which has attended their past efforts, which have resulted in a rise of from 10 to 20 points. As we have lately pointed out frequently the market is full of specialties which are selling under their intrinsic value. Money is cheap and is likely to continue so.

London Wool Sales.

Mr. John S. Fisher of 41 Yonge-street writes: The third series of colonial wool sales open in London on the 14th inst. with a catalog of only about 320,000 instead of the anticipated 425,000 bales. The indications are that prices will rule in favor of the consumer, caused chiefly by the unsatisfactory state of the manufacturing trade in England and France. Germany reports business as being fairly good.
