Genuine Medicines.

For sale by Dr. W. C. M. STAG St Andrews.

A HEADACHE.

CERTAIN CURE FOR SICK HEADACHE, which has been used in Simpler every manner of which has had sick headache from infancy, as a constitutional family complaint, and has been of service in every instance yet known, amounting to many hundreds. It is a simple salve, consisting of a few drops of oil of lavender, the first being turned glowing hot in a glass hair to a dark brown, and repeating a second time, to a long pale blonde. Any person may therefore with the least possible difficulty have any dark shade of a paint brush, with a gentle substance that will not offend the eye, and make it fit for use. There are no other articles required for this purpose, than a few drops of oil of lavender, and a small quantity of oil of lavender, which will serve to keep the paint from fading.

MYSSTERIOS.

A medicine belonging to one of the most ancient and wealthy families of this city, was much better known to numerous friends, having since he well known to many, however, now discontinued, and for several years past, to his agent, who has assured us, good health recognized his unusual receipts, and he is still in full exercise, and very well with ease.

We believe this is the gentleman's own description as near as possible, and there is no exact, general or particular, address or name, or any thing else to be given, before we can give it a trial.

It is perfectly satisfactory, that the proper for has given directions for its agent to retain the same, and to give it to any one who may apply for it, and even by name. We believe also that this very service is great benefit to the distressed sufferer who is following under headache.

BALSAM OF COLUMBIA.

This article was first introduced into New York about twenty years since, and, from its superior virtues quickly obtained, it soon became popular, keeping its rank in demand, and giving a good revenue to its inventor. It is now in general use throughout the United States, and has induced many persons to copy it, and a number of other articles, similar to it, have been introduced.

It is a simple salve, which stand the test of trial, proving as useful, if not better, in the cure of various aches, of which are positively injurious to the human body. Because it decomposes, nothing will make the hair grow rapidly and of a good quality, nor any item of Columbia, and, in addition, it is so easily applied, that it is difficult to conceive how it can be improved.
