Quaker and Bull Run's Two-Mile Heat Race for $5,000—Kitty Wins Beats the "Combination"—The Twang and Sting Brothers—James Fisk and Edward S. Stokes' Two Match Races

[From the Spirit of The Times.]

September 15, 1866, I drove the bay gelding Quaker, a match against the gray gelding Bull Run, over the Fashion for $5,000. The race was two-mile heats; Quaker went to harness and Bull Run to a wagon. Quaker was a tearer to go two or three miles, and was brought from the West by Dimmick, a good old Western trainer, who sold him to Mr. Simmons, Edward S. Stokes' partner in the Kentucky Association. Stokes owned the harness, and made the match. Bull Run was one of the best horses raised by Mr. Alexander, of Kentucky (Dudley was the other), and sold by him to Joseph Parker, of New York, for $7,500. Joseph bought by Stokes some time afterwards. Quaker had been trained by Dimmick, but for some cause he had not done well, and had got "off" they did not think he could trot any, and Dimmick did not want to start him for he thought he couldn't win; he had acted so badly the day or two. Mr. Simmons and Dimmick called to me and wanted me to drive the race, I told them I did not think I could win, but Simmons said, "I had rather trot than forfeit." So we agreed that I should drive. There was a good deal of feeling about the race, as it had given rise to many discussions in relation to the merits of the horses, and Stokes was confident he had the best of it, and I thought so too. I told them I would do my best. John Crocker drove Bull Run, and we brought out our horses for the first heat. Quaker led the pole, and we got the word to a fair start. I trailed for a time, and as my horse got steadied he kept going better and better, and I then passed Bull Run. At the half-mile pole I was a little ahead, on the Flushing end Bull Run closed up, and in the home stretch Quaker broke and Bull Run led half a length at the wire on the first mile; Quaker then broke again and the gray too; I rushed my horse to the front, and led at the quarter-pole on second mile two or three lengths. Bull Run was some way behind at the half-mile pole, so I took Quaker back on the lower end of the track and commenced won the heat by a number of lengths, the first mile was trotted in 2:39, and the last in 2:43; time of the heat 5:22. Then things looked better, and I thought I had a chance to get the money.

For the second heat we got away even, Walker had been put behind Bull Run to see what a change of drivers would do. My horse broke before we got round the first turn, so the gray horse led the last at the quarter, then he broke, but he still kept the lead and was three lengths ahead at the half-mile pole, and more still at the three-quarter. He kept the lead until he passed the wire on the first mile quite a distance ahead, but he then began to quit, and I brought my horse up and gave him a chance to get the hind part of my sulky, he had had enough of it and wasn't up to the game of old Quaker, for he kept breaking again and again, and wanted to be "put in his little bed" without delay. I kept on steadily to the end, and won the race.

$1,500. She wore shin boots, and put her hind legs way ahead of her nose when speeding, she was such a long strider. She trotted a race against Lady Suffolk (not the original) in 1869, two-mile heats, and won in 5:28 and 6:22, and everybody liked her, and knew she was a good game little mare. Well, the night Mr. Sou made the race he came to me, at my house, quite late, and I said, "John P., what's up?" He said, "I have matched Kitty against Mac, and want you to train her and drive her the race." He then told me of the "combination," and all about it, and I said to him I thought they had got some horse unknown to us, and they would beat him. He said his money was "up," and he had got to trot, so he made arrangements for me to send her to my stables at the Fashion track, and I took her in hand after she got there, and made her ready for the race. She had had some trouble with one of her whirribones, and I found I should have to get her strong on that, or she wouldn't be able to trot the race. I got cream, and used to put on a quantity every day over the sore spot, and then, putting on linen cloth, dry it in by ironing over it with a hot iron, or we sometimes heated a towel and holding it near the hip dried in the cream that way. It seemed to get very well, and to take out the soreness, so she got on very fairly in her training. I don't know much about Mac, except that he was a nice Captain Moore and Mr. Inshall, who was in the city for a few days to see what he could do. I had brown horses, and I was supposed to be very fast and able to distance Kitty the very first heat of any race you could name. From the day the race was made there was a great deal of talk and excitement among those frequenting the stables up in my neighborhood, and when the day came for the race to be trotted, a good many made a holiday of it, and as they knew they could get the best of dinners at the Track House, kept at that time by my old friend Mr. Joseph Crochran, they went over early in the day, and spent the time before three o'clock in visiting the training stables, dining, and talking over the prospects, almost everyone had some bet or other on the result of the race. Of course plenty of questions were put to me about Kitty, and all the information our side could obtain about Mac was that he had the "dead wood" on us to any extent. "John P." had kept pretty quiet, so the "combination" was in high good humor with itself, and each one conjectured that he had a crisp $100 note of Sou's stowed snugly away in their breeches pocket.
