

to EFTA suppliers and various forms of quantitative restrictions.

On the other hand, market integration accompanied by trade liberalization would lead to improved access for Canadian fish exporters and provide them with greater incentive to expand and diversify their international marketing efforts into Europe.