

ARTICLE 13

Surrender of Property

1. To the extent permitted under the law of the Requested State and subject to the rights of third parties, all property found in the Requested State that has been acquired as a result of the offence or may be required as evidence shall, if the Requesting State so requests, be surrendered if extradition is granted.
2. Subject to the provisions of paragraph 1 of this Article, the above mentioned property shall, if the Requesting State so requests, be surrendered to the Requesting State even if the extradition cannot be carried out.
3. Where the law of the Requested State or the rights of third parties so require, any property so surrendered shall be returned to the Requested State free of charge, if that State so requests.

ARTICLE 14

Rule of Specialty

A person who has been extradited shall not be proceeded against, sentenced or detained nor be subjected to any other restriction or personal liberty for any acts or omissions committed prior to that person's surrender, other than that for which the person was extradited, except in the following cases:

- a) when the Requested State consents. For the purpose of this paragraph, the Requested State may require the submission of the documents referred to in Article 7 and a copy of any statement made by the extradited person in respect of the offence for which consent is requested; or
- b) when that person, having had the opportunity to leave the territory of the Requesting State, has not done so within forty-five days of that person's final discharge, or has returned to that territory after leaving it.

ARTICLE 15

Re-Extradition to a Third State

1. When a person has been surrendered to the Requesting State by the Requested State, the Requesting State shall not extradite that person to any third state for an offence committed before that person's surrender unless:
 - a) the Requested State consents; or
 - b) the person, having had the opportunity to leave the territory of the Requesting State, has not done so within forty-five days of that person's final discharge, or has returned to that territory after leaving it.
