police the world. We honestly thought state there were other powers that might take their share."

Lloyd George contended that the speech of the chancellor of the exchequer and the general course of the debate had disposed of the charges against the government of avoidable extravagance. The premier emphasized the lack of agreement that had been developed regarding suggested remedies. It had been further shown, he said, that the sort of "epileptic he said, that the sort of "epilleptic screaming" which had deafened the country's ears could find no echo in a calm assembly like the house

To Strengthen Foch's Hand.
Premier Lloyd George followed

He contended that it was true economy and enabled England to have sufficient divisions in reserve to put Marshal Foch in a position to prepare for a march on Berlin, if necessary, and thereby force

Germany to sign peace.
"It was a very drastic treaty," said the premier. "Would the Germans have signed it unless they knew we have signed it unless they knew we were in a position to compel them? BAILEY-COBALT NOT YET OUT OF LEGAL TANGLE

Appeal by Certain Shareholders Will Come Up Next Week. The Bailey-Cobalt has not yet shaken free of the legal barbed wire entanglements. Yesterday R. S. Robertson, counsel for the liquidators, appeared before Mr. Justice Logie at Osgoode Hall and asked him to affirm the report of Assistant Master-in-Ordinary Roche accepting the offer of A. J. Young for the purchase of the property.

the offer of A. J. Young for the purchase of the property.

H. J. Scott, K.C., counsel for W. H. Davenport, and representing, he said, at least one-half of the shareholders, objected to the motion being heard before the appeal taken by him from the report of the assistant master-in-ordinary. The appeal is due to be heard on Wednesday next. Mr. Scott pointed out that there was from $150,000 to $300,000 involved.

Mr. Robertson declared that the acceptance of the offer was an urgent matter. "I know," said Mr. Justice Logie, "the liquidator's affidavit reads like a chapter from the Book of Job, what has been happening to the mine, the water, and non-payment of wages, and all that; but non-payment of wages, and all that; but I am of the opinion that I should enlarge this to come up with the appeal of Wednesday." He made an order accordingly.

PRITCHARD TO DIRECT BIG DYKE OPERATIONS

W. H. Pritchard, a mining contractor with twenty years' experience in the various camps, has been engaged; to resume operations on Big Dyke, where the shaft is to be sunk to the 300-foot level, as recently announced by the directors.

Mr. Pritchard has worked in Co-balt, Porcupine, Kirkland Lake and other camps since they were opened, and in earlier ones. He has done work before on Big Dyke, and believes confidently in the future of this Porcupine property. In fact, it has so appealed to his instincts and knowledge as a mining man that he has dropped another contract to start work on Big
