to shortstop and Schultz held down third base. The Leafs put up an erroriess same.

Three of the four runs scored by Toronto were started by passes. One of Newark's was put on the sacks as the result of free transportation. It remained for George Zabel to turn the Leafs away from their losing streak. Johnny Enzmann opposed him. The fact that the Leafs had thirteen men left on the sacks would indicate that Toronto is below its usual hitting form.

The Bears threw a scare into the camp of the Leafs in the last of the ninth. After the locals had taken four in a row the Toronto team could not but take notice of the fact that the Bruins were dangerous at all times. Coming into the last half of the ninth, with the Leafs leading by two runs, Callahan bounced a single off Graham's glove and Lefty Russell drew a pass. Zabel then put everything he had on the ball. He succeeded in fanning Brick Eldred, whose hitting featured Sunday's double bill, and Getz hit into a double play, via the Lajoie-Blackburne-Graham route, retiring the side. It was after this play that the Leafs were given their first opportunity to smife during the series.

Jacobson tallied two of the Leafs' runs after securing free transportation, and Graham also went all the way around after being handed a complimentary. Manager Larry got the other. Egan's triple accounted for the two tailies securine accounted for the two tailies secured by the Bears. Russell, who walked, and Getz, who singled over Blackburne's head, were on the paths at the time.

The Leafs had men left on the sacks in every innings except the second. All told, thirteen visitors were left stranded in the first innings, after Altenberg grounded to Russell. Jacobson walked. Whiteman singled and Lajoie was hit by a pitched ball. Graham's sacrifice fly scored Jacobson. Graham's walk, Blackburne's sacrifice, Schultz's hit and a double steal accounted for another in the fourth. A pass to Jacobson and singles by Lajoie, Graham and Blackburne, all coming after two were out, accounted for two in t

Fuller was given two chances to slam out a hit that would have meant a run for the Bruins, but fanned on both occasions. In the third Enzmann got the first hit off Zabel, a double to left. The ball hit the barrier and bounded back into the field. In the fifth, ater Egan tripled, Zabel fanned both Enzmann and Fuller.
