Ever thought of endowing your home?

It's very easy to do it.

Suppose—having purchased a house and effected a mortgage on it—you should die

Wouldn't your wife and family have a hard time meeting the interest on the mortgage and discharging the principal sum when due? Not so, however, if you were insured under an Imperial Endowment policy for the amount of the mortgage. A small amount invested each year in such a policy will enable your heirs to pay the mortgage immediately after your death, even if it should occur next week. On the other hand, if you should live until the policy matures you can pay off the indebtedness yourself out of the amount of the Budowment.
