Woman Sees Slayer-Act as Officers-Seek Hold-up Men

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 26-Two The men, John Schultze and Fred A. his light into the machine and was met with gunfire, two bullets hitting him.

As Schultze started to his companion's aid, he also was struck. Mrs. Thomas Cameron, living nearby, said that she was awakened by the first shots and saw a man walk to the spot where Schultze was lying. The man, she said, held his pistol close to the wounded patrolman's head and fired. He then walked to Poitsch, pressed his weapon close to the dying officer's head and fired again. After the second shot, Mrs. Cameron said, the slayer examined both bodies and then leaped into the
