VICTORIAN ORDER NURSES

Most of the 40 branches of the Victorian Order of Nurses of Canada were represented at the annual meeting of the central board of governors held at Government House, Ottawa, on Thursday.

The reports showed a good year. Three new branches have been formed. Cobalt, Victoria, B. C. and Chase, B. C. The greater increase of the work is shown in Winnipeg, Vancouver, Montreal, Toronto, Revelstoke and Ottawa.

It was decided to ask the provincial government for grants to assist the work of the order. It is hoped to increase insurance case nursing too.

The officers elected were—Patron Earl Grey; Hon. President, J. M. Courtney; Hon. vice-presidents, Hon. G. A. Cox, Dr. G. T. Roddick and George Burn; Hon. treasurer, Geo. Burn and John Fraser; Hon. secretaries, Dr. Thomas Gibson and John F. Orde. William Thoburn, M. P., replaces the late Benoit Robinson on the executive.

After the meeting their Excellencies entertained the delegates to luncheon.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.

Rev. J. J. McCaskill was the speaker at yesterday's meeting in the Temple of Honor hall, Main street. His address dealt with the liquor traffic and the different ways of bettering conditions, and governing the sale. Thomas Black presided, and music was furnished by the St. Matthew's church quartet.

"Packing The Trunk For Life's Journey" was the subject of an address by Rev. W. Lupp yesterday afternoon at the meeting of Thorne Lodge, I. O. G. T. D. C. Fisher conducted the devotional exercises, and E. Morrissey and Mrs. A. Gordon sang. Joseph McKenzie presided. Mr. Lupp likened the stages of life to the filling of a trunk for a long journey.

"The simplest of puddings, such as chocolate, bread or rice, can be made much more tasty by adding a little cognac, a few chopped nuts or some chopped figs."

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

A Germ Disease Which is Baffling the Doctors and Alarming the People Generally

It may be said that doctors are only agreed on two points regarding this much dreaded disease.

First, that it is a germ disease, and second, like all germ diseases, can only be fought with pure, rich blood.

Prevention is always the better way and that is why we are always talking about the wisdom of keeping the blood pure and rich and the nerves healthy and strong by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rich, red blood is a deadly foe to these germs whether they are germs of infantile paralysis, of colds, of consumption or any other disease.

Don't let the blood get thin and weak. Don't let the nerves get exhausted. The risk is too great. Every day Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich blood. For this reason you are certain to benefit by this treatment.

You need not wait until you have some form of paralysis before testing the great medicine. Be warned by headache, sleeplessness, irritability, falling memory and power of concentrating the mind. Before the system while still you have something to build on.

Get new energy and vigor into the system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 3 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Ky-ri-e ele-i-son! Christe ele-i-son! Ky-ri-e ele-i-son! Christe ele-i-son! A-men

(This setting may be used antiphonally as a Kyrie as indicated.)

And now again the God of Grace, In faith and love did fast and pray—
Grieved from the crowded street, Tread the path He trod.
To sinful souls a breathing-space, Made like to us in all but sin,
For penitence and prayer, As first, he Gorb now confessed,
Each chilly night and burning day, Still watch and pray for power within,
Th' anointed Son of God, To bid the tempter flee.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TO PUBLICLY call attention to another's deficiencies is unpardonable. Of course, that's no news. Everyone knows that. To call attention to one's own deficiencies is unnecessary and often very awkward.

That, I think, must be news. So many people seem not to know it. There is an otherwise well-bred young girl among my acquaintances who is forever talking about how homely her nose is. Now the nose is not Greek, neither is it anything so startling that people would think about it if it were not so frequently reminded of it.

Indeed, the nose itself is not half so bad as her habit of talking about it. It is perpetually, "What would you do if you had a nose like mine or 'I really think I would be almost good looking if it were not for my nose." Her friends are kept continually protesting and comforting until they learn to steer carefully clear of the subject of noses in particular and personal appearance in general.

Aside from the fact that this habit of running one's self down is bad policy, because it concentrates other people's attention to deficiencies they might otherwise not have thought much about, it is also bad taste because it holds people up for compliments and reassurances at the pistol point of common decency.

And people as a rule somehow seem to resent such hold-ups.

The girl who is always referring openly to some deficiency in herself probably thinks she deserves praise for frankness, but as a matter of fact, she deserves blame for indulging in frankness at the expense of making other people feel awkward and uncomfortable.

She wants people to know that she is not contented and that she fully realizes that she is decidedly plain or overgrown and awkward, or that her nose is too large or her skin is sallow, but since this opportunity to prove her own self-knowledge and lack of conceit involves the discomfort of others, she would do well to forgo it.

To know one's deficiencies is desirable.

To keep quiet about one's knowledge is equally so.

Improve your deficiencies when you can.

Admit your deficiencies if you are ever taxed with them, but never unnecessarily draw them into the limelight.

These seem to me some pretty healthy rules to follow in this matter.

Daily Hints for the Cook

CRANBERRY PIE.
Chop one cupful of cranberries and a half cupful of seeded raisins together into small pieces; add to them a cupful of sugar, a cupful of water, a tablespoonful of flour and a tablespoonful of vinegar. Bake with an upper and under crust or rich puff paste.

FRICASSEE SANDWICHES.
When the chickens are boiled, use for the second time let it be disposed of in hot sandwiches. Toast slices of unsalted bread (sandwich bread) is the square kind on one side. Butter the unsalted sides and fill with the hot chicken and gravy. It isn't a bad idea, when the chicken is being warmed, to add a few bits of sliced cold boiled potato to the mixture. Serve on hot plates, pour more gravy over the upper slice and sprinkle with cayenne. You may replace the white on a lettuce leaf.

WALNUT POTATO BALLS.
Mash your potatoes, season, add one egg and two cupfuls of chopped walnuts. Mold into round balls and roll in the nut-meats. Bake about ten minutes, or until done.

VIRGINIA CHICKEN SALAD.
Chicken salad from the Virginia point view can not be half real. For making the dressing for this Virginia salad, the chicken oil, skimmed from the water in which the chickens are boiled, is used in place of olive oil. The chickens, which must be plump, are simmered tender in salted water. When cold the skin and bones are removed and the meat cut, not chopped, into small bits. Mix with double the quantity of celery cut from tender, well-bleached stalks that have been crisped in ice water, then dried in a clean towel. Three or four hard boiled eggs are minced and added to the mixture which is then dressed with a good salad dressing, preferably mayonnaise, and set on the ice to chill and ripen.

REV. F. E. BISHOP IN FINE ADDRESS AT EVERY DAY CLUB

An address, broad in spirit and helpful in its nature, was delivered by Rev. F. E. Bishop at the Every Day Club last evening. It had reference to the constant struggle between good and evil impulses in man's nature. Every man who has the power, with God's help, to stand the good triumph, why, he should, should a man give way to evil impulses and permit them to master him? Sooner or later the good or the evil would control his life. Why should he not so direct his conduct that instead of falling a victim to evil he would build up character and manhood? Perhaps the greatest enemy of the good impulses in man's nature was the drink habit, which gradually conquered a man's better nature and made him careless of his duties, and even brutal to his family. The speaker commended the Every Day Club as an institution which sought to help men, and encourage them to help others; and he made a strong appeal to men present to identify themselves with its work. He said that he was not so much concerned about creeds as about the real religious life. Some things that had helped him in the Christian life might not be essential to others; but all would acknowledge God as the source of good, and as One to whom man in his weakness could turn, and receive abundant strength for the struggle against evil temptations. He talked solo by Mr. Humphrey added very much to the musical programme of the evening. There was a large audience, and Mr. Bishop was heard with deep interest throughout his very thoughtful address.

To make olive sandwiches, remove the pits and cut up fine. Mix with mayonnaise and spread between thin slices of buttered bread.

MARRIED WEALTHY WOMAN, DRUGGED AND ROBBED THEM

Adventurer and Swindler Gets Ten Years Sentence in England on Several Charges

London, Mar. 6.—Felix Franz Ogilvie, 37 years of age, born in Russia of Irish and Scottish parents has pleaded guilty to two charges of bigamy, two of obtaining money under false pretences, one of drugging Maud Jeeves, whom he bigamously married, and one of stealing her jewelry. He has been sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. Three of his "wives" heard the sentence.

Ogilvie began his bigamous career in San Francisco in 1902 when he wedded a wealthy widow, whose name was withheld. The judge said that the prisoner, who had lived at the Fitz and Claridge's, in London, and hotels of a like character in the other European capitals, had a career unequalled outside of the romances of the elder Dumas.

He served in three British regiments, including the Black Watch, from which he deserted. In the United States he stole money from the cautions of a cavalry regiment in which he enlisted.

His pastime, according to his own confession, was wedding, drugging his brides, robbing them and spending his loot in riotous living at the gay resorts of London and on the continent.

He swindled all over Europe and north and north America. The man speaks seven languages fluently.

ALFALFA ROOTS AS FOOD FOR MAN, TOO

Spokane, Wash., Mar. 6.—Alfalfa roots, white and tender, will take the place of early asparagus if Louise F. Weinland, an irrigation rancher in the Spokane valley, is successful with her plans for marketing the newest table vegetable in the western country. Miss Weinland, who came from Pennsylvania last spring, has breached the enterprise to members of the Spokane chamber of commerce and several have promised to assist in establishing a small canner.

The discovery that alfalfa roots is nourishing to man as it is to live stock was made by Miss Weinland several months ago, but the proper method of preparing it was not ascertained until a few days ago, when the young woman, after poring for hours in a huge tome or coology, decided to try recipes for cooking asparagus. The first dish was sampled by a neighbor's hired man, who, ignorant of what he was eating, called for a second dish. Other neighbors ate of the root and pronounced it satisfying to the palate as well as highly nourishing. They say the flavor is similar to asparagus.

CIVIL SERVICE IN AUSTRALIA EXPANDS

Melbourne, Victoria, Mar. 6.—A clear proof of the general growth and development of Australia is seen in the rapid expansion of the civil service, which has increased, during the first 10 years of federated government, by 41 per cent. No fewer than 15,780 persons are now employed in this service, and it is estimated that 90 per cent of the additional appointments were called for owing to the expansion of business, mainly in the post-master-general's department.

The increase in the staff has necessitated a corresponding increase in the salaries, which now represent a sum of about £2,200,000 instead of £1,630,000. And this sum will, it appears, be increased in the near future, since a further increase of the staff by 1350 officers is considered necessary.

Harvey Station, March 5.—Thomas Robison, M. P. P., died this evening at 7.40, after an illness of nine days.
