We take the Hansard report, omitting some the Hansard report, omitting some I believe that a number of gentlemen matters of interest to the people of says:portions, which we can hardly find have formed a company in Moncton and damaged the reputation and credit of their own Province. Let me say, sir, that I have no such desire. I venture the large the large the say of the honorable gentlemen factory as follows: o strike down a Minister of Finance, opinion that if the honorable gentlemen opposite would fairly consider the matter, they would concede that the gentlemen from New Brunswick on this side of the House, have quite as much interest in maintaining its reputation and credit as the Finance Minister and his small following from that Province. In his remarks the other day he thought proper to characterise a petition laid on the table characterise a petition laid on the table from 3,000 electors of St. John, as a piece may be run profitably there, though as of political claptrap. With that I have yet less than $12,000 of stock has been nothing to do; but from this sentiment, taken in it, but we have no other foundanevertheless, I beg leave to differ. Are we to infer that no representative of New Brunswick, for example, no matter how great its grievances ay he, is to approach the Governmen with the hope of redress-that it may only he looked for when solicited by representatives in political accord with the governent? I take it for granted that is the and that the doctrine will not go down with New Brunswickers. I think that they understand too well their own posiion before Parliament to accept it, and know that they have the right of petition. He may treat with scorn the prayers of their petitions, but not withstanding, they will continue to present them so long as they remain aggrieved members of the Confederation. (Hear, hear.)

I do not propose to follow the Finance Minister through his speech from Prince Edward Island to Vancouver, but there are some facts in connection with my own Province, with which I am familiar. I will deal with these. If, at present, I had ascertain its correctness, I would first examine places with which I was familiar. If I found their tracings were carefully drawn, that all the surroundings were attention to some remarks he made last Brunswick. He is reported as follows :-"Since the 14th of last month many of those manufactories which had closed down had been re opened. An act was passed in the Legislature a few days ago to incorporate a company for a sugar relinery. Application has been made to extend a cotton manufactory and increase the capital of the company. The glass works are again in operation."

I ask the Finance Minister whether, while visiting the manufactories in St. jewellers; 60 engravers; 30 manufactu-John last fall, he called at the glass factory rers; 750 milliners; 13 paint and lead and found it in operation? and sold at prices far below their market value. (Hear, hear.)

I will now read another extract from the speech of the Finance Minister of this year, referring to St. John:—

"I find the Sash, Poor and Carriage manufacturers were not doing as much as in 1874 the ether manufacturers had doubled their cast it in the last six months, and were prepared to double it still further during the next year. Here we find that, since the policy was inauturated, in the town of Moncton a manufactury has been exhibited with a capital invested of $200,000, $00,000 paid up, etc."

With reference to that factory, an impression prevails, and not without foundation, that it was in contemplation long before the introduction of the tariff. The article proposed to be manufactured, a combination lock, is protected by a patent from the Dominion as well as the United States, and, I daresay, the British Government as well. It must appear to everybody that the manufacture of that lock, if an article of merit, can be as successfully Mr. King, of Queen's County, N. prosecuted under a low as under a high room for in the limited space at our made arrangements as stated. We do not deny that it is possible in that town to I regret that the Hon. Minister, in delivering his budget speech, should have thought proper to charge honorable members from New Brunswick, on this side of the House, with having, in their attempts to strike down a Minister of Finance.

Are we to infer that take this year as last namely, counting only Government supporters are to present his chickens before they were hatched. (Hear, hear.) Last year in attempting to prove the National Policy was just the why was its presentation delayed till that thing for New Brunswick, he is reported moment?

Mr. KING—I have here the report from the Ottawa Citizen, the only one I have seen. Its report gives the words I understood the honorable gentleman to utter as follows:—"If it was intended to influence the Government to make a change, why was it put into the hands of men who do was reduced to 5,031 males and 1,821 februards. not agree with us politically?" (Hear, fairness the honorable gentleman ought to have stat d that during the time that intervened between the making up of that report in 1874 and 1878, two-thirds of the city had been destroyed by fire, and $15,-000,000, over and above insurance, had been swept away in a single night. I ask the honorable gentleman whether the reneerence that will be drawn from the was not as largely due to that fact as to duction in the number of factory operatives nonorable gentleman's remarks; and I any other? The honorable gentleman hink it came with a bad grace from him, claimed that this falling off was due to the want of protection and the sharp competition with the United States. During the recess it has been my good fortune to obtain a copy of the report of Mr. Everitt. which I have carefully analyzed. It will be understood that the Minister of Finance has sought to create the impression whether warranted or not, that New Brunswick, according to population, was ahead of any other Province of the Dominion as a manufacturing centre. Let me read from Mr. Everitt's report in order to see whether the position the honorable gentleman has taken, is sustained by the report he chose to quote from. In the first place we have 100 blacksmiths, before me a map of Canada, and wished to 10 coopers, 2,225 employes of saw mills, 160 bakers, 1,320 builders, including masons, bricklayers, plasterers and joiners, 100 painters, 150 printers, 70 rigdrawn, that all the surroundings for correctly delineated, I would take it for granted that the map was correct. But it I found gross errors at these points, I gers, 35 ship smiths 10 spar makers, 20 should conclude that the map was not a these people are not in the proper sense correct one. I intend to apply the same | manufacturers at all, and that instead of rule to-night. The speech of the Finance being benefited by the operation of the Minister is public property and open to National Policy they are feeling the burcriticism. Before I go further I will call den imposed on them by it, (Hear, hear.) Then we come to another class: 25 boatyear in attempting to show the immediate builders; 80 block manufacturers; 72 effects of the National Policy in New carvers; 60 iron-knee manufacturers; 60 sail-makers; in all 297. These men are solely dependent upon shipbuilding for their living, and if the shipbuilders get
