A ST. JOHN GIRL'S ROMANCE.

Began to Study Nursing, But Gave It Up to Marry Her First Patient.

The climax of a pretty romance occurred on Wednesday, April 6th, when Miss Constance Arnaud, daughter of F. H. Arnaud, of this city, will be married to Alfred Shorey, a prominent and very wealthy merchant of Montreal. A couple of months ago Miss Arnaud, who has been one of the most attractive and popular young ladies in St. John society, left for Montreal to take up the study of nursing. She began her work in a leading private hospital of that city, where her first duty was the care of a convalescent patient. This patient, who was Mr. Shorey, succumbed to the ravages of disease, and that the sentiment was mutual is amply evidenced by her agreement, given before she left the hospital, to give up general nursing for the life-long care of a private case. The wedding will take place in Montreal and Miss Arnaud's parents will be unable to be present as they had completed arrangements for their departure for England before the date of the marriage was announced. Miss Arnaud will reside with friends in Montreal until the wedding day, after which she and her husband will make a tour of leading American cities, probably visiting St. John before their return to Montreal. Mr. Shorey is a young widower with two small children. F. H. Arnaud, Mrs. Arnaud, Miss Winnifred Arnaud, and Mrs. Arnaud's maid will sail tomorrow for England. The Royal Bank of Canada in this city, has retired from the service.

PERSONALS.

LeB. Robertson, who has been laid up for the last three weeks undergoing a series of painful operations on jaw and cheek for abscess and complications, resulting from a heavy cold, is out again and able to attend to business.

Thos. M. Wistead is seriously ill at his home, St. Patrick street. Joseph Scott, of Pittsburg, Pa., a former St. John resident, is in the city. James T. Smith left this week for St. John, where he will reside in future.

Mr. Smith has been a good citizen of Woodstock for thirty-three years and his friends will be sorry to have him leave the city last evening. Cards are out for the marriage in the Mission church, on April 6, of L. W. Barker and Miss Gladys McLaughlin, daughter of Charles McLaughlin, Lieut.-Colonel McLean.

Mrs. R. W. W. Frink left last evening for Boston.

Mrs. W. S. Fielding, wife of the finance minister, is in the city, the guest of her father, T. A. Rankine, on her return from Nova Scotia. Chief Justice Tuck returned to the city last evening.

Mrs. George Grier is very low at her residence, 24 Union street.

Kent Scott's friends are glad to see him out again after an illness which has kept him indoors for a couple of weeks.

BACK TO NEWFOUNDLAND.

William Pierce, Deputy Little Queen, Can't Visit the States.

William Pierce, the Newfoundland who was turned back at Vancouver last week by the United States immigration officials, was sent back to Grand Narrows, the station in Cape Breton where he purchased his ticket. Pierce was considered by the United States officials to be an undesirable citizen, and by the officers in this city to be of rather unsound mind. His baggage had been checked through to Boston. The local police who were hired to look Pierce up as a wanderer, appealed to the I. C. R. with the result that they secured a rebate on Pierce's ticket and that a search was made for his trunks. These were located in Boston and reached this city last night.

THIS EVENING.

Dalley Stock Co. at Opera House. Meeting of Trade and Labor Council. Meeting of Boys' Brigade in St. Stephen church. Quarterly meeting of King's Daughters. Meeting of Champlain celebration committee in mayor's office. Meeting of the Bills and By-laws committee.

DIED ABROAD.

The Anacoda Standard of March 18 tells of the death at Missoula, Mont., of Mrs. Dinmore Pond, aged 84, who went there from Fredericton about nine years ago. She died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. G. N. Butler. One son, John, is the sheriff of Ravalli County, another, Louis, lives in Missoula, and another, Dinmore, lives in Minnesota.

Ungar can make the old look new by their process. Carpets, curtains, draperies, etc.

A LABOR PLATFORM.

The Trades and Labor Council held their monthly meeting tonight. Some important business will come up and the delegates from 20 different local unions are requested to be present. The labor people intend giving out a platform in reference to civic matters. Upon this they will ask for support for their candidates.

NO OBJECTION.

The labor people will probably offer no objection to an amendment of the Factory Act involving the striking out of the section providing for a half-holiday. The arguments made by factory owners against the half-holiday portion of the bill are generally regarded as reasonable.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN.

There will be a meeting at 2.30 p. m. on Saturday at the home of the King's Daughters, of the Local Council of Women. Members are requested to accept this instead of usual notice.

Whom do you think about when you are about to house clean? Why, Ungar's of course.

HE WAS A GOOD SON.

So the Magistrate Dismissed Joseph Sudebear, Though the Evidence Was Strong.

On Wednesday night Joseph Sudebear was arrested on suspicion of stealing a die from Edward Murphy's blacksmith shop at the Marsh bridge. Thursday being civic court day he was remanded. This morning he was brought into court and pleaded not guilty. Daniel Mullin, R. C., appeared for the defendant, a young man of 22 years of age, who showed great self-possession and made several suggestions to his lawyer. The first witness examined was Mr. Murphy. He said his place had been broken into Sunday and the die which he identified stolen. It was part of an outfit that cost him $25. He valued the part in question at $16. He also stated that since Sudebear had the die in question in his possession and that he recommended him to sell it. James L. Fitzgerald swore that he bought the die from Sudebear for fifteen cents, that the defendant said it was one his father used to own and that if there was anything wrong to send for him.

The defendant took the stand in his own behalf and swore that he found the die in the middle of the road. He admitted selling it, but denied he said his father had owned it. Defendant's mother swore that Joseph was a model son and with tears in her eyes described how he had worked hard since his father's death to assist her to support the seven other children. Recently he determined to go to sea and signed articles in a schooner bound for New York. It was greatly against her wishes, but her boy pleaded with her that it was sure money and that she would not have to work so hard to support the younger members of the family. The magistrate asked witness if Joseph had been a good son, and when she replied that he had been the best of sons tears streamed from the defendant's eyes. She told of her conversation with him regarding the die, of giving him the money to buy it back and his desire to return it to the rightful owner. Mr. Mullin and his honor had a short discussion over technical points. Mr. Mullin, quoting a supreme court judgment as to what constitutes theft, re-argued his case. After some further discussion the charge was dismissed.

WOMEN PLEAD GUILTY.

Have No Defense For Keeping An Unlawful House on Brussels St.

Emma Ward better known to the police as "The Wasp" when brought face to face with unpleasant circumstances invariably tells the truth. At least Emma calmly admitted to the magistrate this morning that she and her husband were conducting a bawdy house on Brussels street.

Ethel Deane says she is seventeen years of age, but looked younger as she sat on the bench in front of the magistrate this morning. She appeared very bashful as with down-cast and tear-stained eyes in a soft and musical voice said "guilty to the charge of being an inmate of a bawdy house kept by Emma Ward."

His honor looked the couple over carefully, remarking that the full penalty was a fine of one hundred dollars or nine months in jail with hard labor, but he remanded them with the remark that he would have the case fully investigated.

The house in which the Ward woman lived is directly opposite the Centennial school. A small beer shop was run as a blind.

LIQUOR LICENSES.

All In Today—Number Will Probably Not Be Decreased.

At ten o'clock this morning eighty applications had been received for retail liquor licenses. This number was increased by a few others during the day. Seventy-five is the legal number. The liquor license commissioners met this afternoon at three o'clock to receive the report of Inspector Jones. The applications will be considered at a later date.

People on Douglas avenue are protesting against the re-licensing of saloons on that street. Representatives of the W. C. T. U. of North End are also protesting against the increase of licensed taverns in that section of the city.

Dr. J. M. Smith, chairman of the board, gives it as his opinion that the saloons of the North End cannot be shut up while those in other parts of the city are left open—petitions or no petitions.

The W. C. T. U. ladies who are back of the movement, say that their action was taken upon the advice of H. A. McKeown and A. W. Baird.

Ungar makes the old new.
