

LAURIER AS A CONCILIATOR

Henri Bourassa Has Some Fun At Expense Of His Former Leader — Prime Minister Through Eternity.

Montreal, July 28.—Mr. Henri Bourassa is poking fun at his former leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is making use of the word conciliation very often during his trip through the western provinces. Mr. Bourassa writes in Le Devoir:—"The first thing Laurier will do in reaching the gates of Heaven will be to get up an honorable compromise between God and Satan, it being very handy and advantageous to effect a reconciliation between the angels and the imps of darkness. Why in fact scrap through all eternity and what an empire it would make if Heaven and Hell were united with Sir Wilfrid Laurier as prime minister. In fact the saints would not object as Laurier is such a holy man. If in fact Laurier were to object Laurier with his sunny ways would pacify him with some all red line scheme which would establish communication unfortunately interrupted between the kingdom of light and the empire of evil. Alas, if Sir Wilfrid Laurier had lived at the time of that great race war between the stubborn St. Michael and the proud and arrogant Laurier the prime minister would certainly have made them agree to mutual concessions and would have thus assured universal peace and eternal reconciliation."

APPLE SHOW TO BE HELD IN CITY IN NOVEMBER

Splendid Display of New Brunswick Grown Apples Will be Shown at Annual Meeting of Fruit Growers.

An exhibition which will be new to St. John will be held in this city in November when the New Brunswick Fruit Growers' Association will hold its annual meeting here and in connection with the meeting there will be an exhibition of fruit grown in this province. Particular attention will be paid to apples as it is the opinion of the officers and members of the association that this province can grow apples of high quality and that the culture of this fruit will be an important addition to the already large agricultural resources of the province. To the local Government much credit is due for the increased interest in agriculture and fruit growing. A. G. Turvey, secretary of the Fruit Growers' Association has been indefatigable in his efforts to make the coming exhibition a success. He has had circulars sent to the farmers of the province in which he says: "We have been struggling along individually for years—we now grasp the spirit of the age and work together." He states his belief that the coming exhibition will be far ahead of any previous one ever held in the province and the equal to any ever held in the Maritime Provinces. The provincial Government has given $500 in prizes for the exhibition and special county prizes will also be given. Points will be granted according to the scale of points for judging fruit proposed by the Fruit Growers Association of Nova Scotia. This scale will probably be adopted throughout the Dominion gives points for single plates of apples as follows: Freedom from blemish, 25; color, 25; uniformity, 20; form, 15; size, 15.

BODY FOUND AT BALLAST WHARF

Remains Of Unidentified Man Taken From Water Yesterday Afternoon—Thought To Be Sailor Who Disappeared Thursday From Schooner Manuel R. Cuza—No Sign Of Foul Play.

The body of a well dressed man drifted into the bast wharf between 4 and 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was taken to the morgue to be identified. The circumstances surrounding the drowning, if drowning it was, and also any knowledge of the man himself are still in mystery. It is rumored the body may be that of a sailor who disappeared from the schooner Manuel R. Cuza. The vessel sailed on Thursday without the missing man. There was no mark of injury of any kind on the body with the exception of a small scratch on one side of the neck. The body did not appear to have been long in the water. There was no trace of decomposition. The face was very white as if the man had died a natural death. He was dressed in a dark serge suit, consisting of coat, vest and trousers, knitted socks, congress shoes and white shirt without collar or tie and with shirt turned back at the neck. The fact that no valuables of any kind were found on the body suggested that there might have been foul play but this is apparently disproved by there being no sign of injury or unnatural death, except possibly the scratch on the neck. Description. So far the identity of the man is unknown. The body is that of a man between 40 or 45 years of age, 5 feet 7 inches in height, of light complexion, clean shaven with light hair tinged with grey and a red mustache. The story of the finding sheds no light on the circumstances of the death. Daniel Allan, an employe in the factory of Haley Bros. and Co., on Broad street, was working in charge of five men on the Ballast wharf, when a stranger called his attention by the words, "I think that's a drowned man in the water," and he saw the head and shoulders of a man about 400 yards out, floating from the direction of Partridge Island. He at once sent John Nixon to the St. John Iron Works to telephone for the police and Ernest Wallace to get a boat. Wallace was not able to find a boat of any kind nearer than across the wharf in the slip between Kennedy's

MR. CARVELL IN DEEP WATER ON VALLEY RAILWAY SURVEY

(Woodstock Press.) The member for Carleton had himself interviewed recently by the editor of his newspaper, on the Valley Railway survey and his opinion was at once given to the St. John organs of the dredgers. When it appeared in cold type, and was copied in the Press, Mr. Carvell evidently said that he was getting in deep water, and refrained from having it republished in his own organ. His statement in a previous issue of the Telegraph that "the road was being projected as to maximum grade in a manner which would prevent its being operated by the inter-colonial, shows the people of this county that there is no chance of the federal government co-operating in the building of the road, and his puny and futile efforts to try and discourage the project, and his opinion was expressed in his own organ, and on Saturday we received the following communication from "A Disgusted Liberal" of Richmond, dealing with Mr. Carvell's position as it is viewed by citizens from the districts affected:— To Editor of the Woodstock Press:— Dear Editor:—I have read with the greatest interest the discussion which has taken place between Mr. Maxwell, the engineer on the new railway survey, and Mr. Carvell. I am greatly surprised that Mr. Carvell takes exception to the location of the Valley Railway between Woodstock and Lakeville. He says it is longer than is necessary, and blames the local government for not taking what he says would be a shorter way to reach Lakeville. We are anxiously looking forward to the beginning of work on this railway, and if carried out by Hazen and Fleming, will stand forever as a monument to their energy, and will speak much louder than Mr. Carvell can of their desire to serve the interests of the people. Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your paper, I am yours, A DISGUSTED LIBERAL. Richmond, N. B., July 21st.

Expecta Good Crop from Irish Seeds. N. C. Scott, who this spring imported a small quantity of oats and peas from County Tyrone, Ireland, is now congratulating himself upon his fortunate venture. All indications so far point towards a most successful crop. As yet it is rather early to make a correct estimate of the real value of the product of the foreign seed, but their progress so far, far exceeds any previous experiments. The outcome of Mr. Scott's trial is being closely watched by many countrymen and should be prove successful, the plan of importing the seeds will become popular.

NEW RULER OF BRITAIN

George V. Said To Resemble Kaiser Wilhelm In Activity And Intellectual Ability—Appreciation By Friend

JAMES RUDOLPH GARFIELD. Son of the Former President, Who Started and Led the Fight for Progressiveness in Ohio.

WARREN G. HARDING. Marion Editor and Old-Line Politician, Nominated for Governor of Ohio After Lively Fight.

London, July 28.—An intimate appreciation of the present King is given by Viscount Mountmorres, in the Express. The article follows:—"A small man, quiet of manner, with a pleasing musical voice, thoughtful, heavy-lidded eyes and a wide, intellectual forehead, His Majesty George V. gives at first meeting the impression of a scholar or philosopher. When at rest that is. For his quick, staccato movements, his keen eagerness when interested, reveal the enthusiasm, the man of zeal. That the same physical alertness which has made him perhaps the premier shot of Europe is brought to bear on every matter that appeals to him. His extraordinary nervous energy is to the casual observer cloaked by his studious, reflective look. But it is the resolute, restless energy of his cousin of Germany. Like the Kaiser, too, he is a man of more than ordinary intellectual ability. Sovereigns have of necessity to be schooled in a multitude of subjects which, whatever their taste may be, they must master, at any rate, the rudiments of many branches of knowledge. But our present King's attainments are not the mere result of a painstaking sense of duty. As a younger brother, his early training was not shaped by the prospect of a subsequent sovereignty. So that his acquisitions are the outcome of natural bent and inborn ability. He is, it is quite safe to say, the most intellectual potentate of modern times. An omnivorous reader, a quick observer, and a close reasoner, with decided artistic taste and exceptional gifts of oratory, he reveals more markedly than any other of the same stock his descent from Prince Albert. Judged as a man and not as a King, he would rank among the best informed of his day. In his taste and his habits, no less than in his intellectual bent, he takes after his grandfather. His interests are in the serious concerns of life rather than in its social side. He is the domesticated man of business, rather than the gay leader of a fashionable world. He is better known among the shipowners and merchants and professors of Liverpool than among the "smart set" in London. In every matter that interests him he insists on taking an active part, generally the leading part. He is not content to be a mere figurehead. He is a worker and impresses his personality and his views on all who come in contact with him. He has the knowledge to enable him to form opinions, and the courage to take a decided line in support of them. As is so often the case in men of ability, he expresses himself tersely and emphatically, and his habit has not been strengthened by his sea training. He has the frankness of firmly rooted convictions in advocating his views. In a word, he knows his own mind, and is not afraid to express it. That he is an enthusiastic Imperialist is well known, while his intelligent and active zeal in behalf of British commerce have won the grateful admiration of all true patriots. He is a modern King who realizes—again as did his grandfather—Prince Albert, the Kaiser—that commerce is the life blood of a modern nation. That as a sovereign he is determined chiefly to concern himself with advancing the interests of British commerce is no secret. His great and lamented predecessor found his natural sphere in the domain of foreign policy. George V. intends to develop and solidify the Empire within itself. He brings to bear wide and enlightened understanding of its needs. It is no indiscretion to refer to the fact that many of his best speeches, notably the whole latter half of his famous "Wake up, England!" address to the Guildhall, have been delivered on his own sole responsibility and without any prompting or even knowledge of his intentions by his suite. May God bless his efforts! Of winning out in the contest. Should they do so it will result in the construction of a large hydro-electric plant in the falls—because of the agitation on the part of the St. John Board of Trade against the New Brunswick Telephone Co. large quantities of this stock are being offered by frightened holders. This stock is paying 6 per cent, and a small number of shares are being exchanged at about par. J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL LETTER FROM J. C. MACINTOSH & CO.

St. John, N. B., July 29.—While the past week has been a very active one so far as the price of stocks were concerned, there has been very little change in the condition of the money market. The Bank of England rate remains unchanged at 3 per cent, the call loan rate in New York still remains low, with even lower tendency, while in Canada interest rates are firmer with a very evident disposition on the part of the banks to curtail advances to customers. The New York Market. The past week has been a most exciting one in Wall street. Following a declining market of the week previous Monday's close found most stocks at a few points lower than the opening, but it remained for Tuesday to develop the full strength of the downward tendency. What at first seemed an exceedingly strong attack on the part of bear interests soon became an avalanche of selling orders in quantities which gave evidence of heavy liquidation from large operators. This continued throughout the day, prices in some of the inactive stocks going off 18 points from closing Monday's Saturday previous. Union Pacific reached a new level of 152 1/4 and Steel common 61 1/8. The cause of the heavy liquidation became apparent when it was announced that a syndicate of English capitalists headed by Dr. Pearson had abandoned their plan of getting control of several leading American roads and forming them into a new trunk line system across the continent. The surrounding currency and bond market consented to the adjustment of holdings had a serious effect on the whole market. Pearson's plan was to fashion a trunk line system out of Rock Island and Lehigh Valley with affiliations with Missouri Pacific and the Wabash. It will be borne in mind that the Rock Island episode of a few months ago gave evidence of an attempt on the part of someone to gain control. Pearson first came into prominence within a comparatively recent date as a very successful engineer in connection with the development of public service corporations in Brazil and Mexico. His first grip with Wall street seems to have eluded disastrously. It is quite evident that his collapse, however, is not an incident in a bear market and not a cause. The rapidity with which the market rebounded after the announcement of doctor earnings in U. S. Steel and the abandoning of Pearson's plans has brought out some expression of ideas that the whole affair was a carefully planned trap into which the Pearson syndicate and a large part of the public have walked. There has, however, been given out during the past week a statement from the Comptroller of the Currency of the United States which has an interesting bearing on this claim. The statement shows that, taking the United States as a whole, the cash reserves in the banks are lower than in 1907 and that the loans are higher. It further shows that up to June 30th there had been no appreciable change for the better in this direction in comparison with the statement issued up to April 30th. While the reaction from the heavy declines of early weeks is encouraging and while we must realize that Wall street discounts the future many months before the public are aware of it, we must not lose sight of the underlying financial conditions, which are not as yet satisfactory. The Canadian Market. Montreal has again demonstrated that the action of Wall street is a controlling factor in the movement of its markets. In the face of Tuesday's severe decline Canadian stocks held well, in some cases even making slight advances. These advances have been marked since Wednesday. So which sold down to 114 1/2 is now selling at 121 1/2 to 123. Steel-Common went below 50 but it is now back to 57. Cement, which seems to have rallied 4 points, while the preferred which sold at 79 has only come back to 81. Montreal Street again demonstrated its ability as the most rapid mover on the street, selling down to 114 and then jumping to 130. The generally accepted theory is that the bears figured on forcing out some of the syndicate stock concerned in the Canadian Power deal, but without success. It is very probable that the syndicate which is credited with buying a control to make a deal with the Canadian Power Co. may have taken advantage of the low prices to gather in some stock at the reduced level. Scotia has remained firm and strong, the strength of a rumored increase in dividends. It is argued by some that the local Nova Scotia capitalists would not have paid close to par for 20,000 shares of this stock had they not had in view some increase in value of the stock. The Local Situation. As a result of negotiations in this city on Wednesday between the rival companies in connection with the Grand Falls Power, it is believed the Van Horne interests are on the point
