No. 6 I.T.S. RCAF Toronto, Ontario.	27-1-42 (cont'd)		House to be a place where the airmen could entertain their visiting friends. After considerable discussion, Mrs. Colerick considered that the setting up of a Hostess House was not justified considering the proximity of the YWCA to this unit.
	28-1-42		The Selection Board sat for selection of doubtful cases of Course No. 42. The most difficult cases to date came up at this board, and the selection board found their powers of judgment severely taxed in making selection. Squadron Leader O'Farrell from the training branch of No. 1 Training Command Headquarters attended the Selection Board meeting. Sections 4-44 of the Air Force Act were read to the Staff of Headquarters. The trainees were not included in this reading as they obtain this during administration lecture periods.
	29-1-42		Wing Commander J. A. Kent, DFC, AFC, visited the station. He gave a graphic informal talk to all trainees and officers of the training squadrons in the assembly hall. His talk comprised his many experiences as an RAF fighter pilot in the present conflict. Talks of this type are very much enjoyed by the trainees as it stimulates them and prepares them in expectation of overseas service. The foundations having been completed, the first floor joists of the new barrack block were erected.
	30-1-42		Course No. 42 finished this date, a few pilots were posted to E.F.T.S., Windsor and some observers were posted to the Air Observer School, Prince Albert. Having no posting instructions for the majority of the graduates of this course, the remainder were granted leave pending posting instructions.
