VENTILATION

For Dwellings, Rural Schools and Stables
By Prof. F. H. KING

This is a new book (issued December 1908), which treats in a concise, practical way, the question of Ventilation in all its details. It shows the necessity of ventilation, and tells how to ventilate. The book is profusely illustrated by new drawings never before used. Special chapters are given on the ventilation of houses, both new and those already built, the heating and ventilation of rural school-houses and churches, and of stable, poultry houses, etc. Send for a copy.

Price, post paid - 75c.

Amatite ROOFING

Send for a Free Sample

PEOPLE who have "smooth surfaced" roofs on their buildings find it necessary to paint them continuously to keep them serviceable.

This expense and labor can all be cut out by using Amatite. Its real mineral surface absolutely does away with all painting. If you will write for a sample you will get an exact idea of what Amatite looks like. This will be immensely more satisfactory than any description we could give—no matter how minutely done. It is really the only fair way for you to judge.

Amatite is so thoroughly durable and reliable without any care or attention after you have nailed it on that, were its cost twice what it is, it would be still the most economical roof to buy. Its durability is unapproached.

It is easy to lay and requires no skilled labor to do the work.

In purchasing any ready roofing the question of whether it requires painting or not should be thoroughly considered. The busy man has no time to spend tinkering his roof every year or two. He wants to feel that when a piece of work of this sort is completed, he is through with it.

Write to-day for a sample of Amatite. Our nearest office will supply same at once with a booklet about roofing which will interest you.
