Great Annual Clearing Sale EXTENDING to SATURDAY, Feb. 9th.

For the convenience of those who have not yet been able to make or complete their purchases, we have decided to continue the present Discount Sale, until Saturday, Feb. 9th, inclusive.

After four such weeks of selling as we have had, it is to be expected that a great many lines of goods will be thinned out, the assortments destroyed, remnants, odd lengths, and quantities, left over that it is very desirable to clear out, in order to make room for fresh Spring goods. These FRAGMENTS will therefore be offered during the remaining days of the sale at such discounts as will ensure a speedy clearance, so that very decided bargains will be found in every, department — the end of the web being as good as the beginning, and the discounts in a great many cases considerably better. It is almost superfluous to call attention to any particular class of goods, but we incidentally mention a few lines, with the promise of more to follow:

and chopped several cords of wood. He never was ill a day in his life, never took any medicines, and never used tobacco or liquors. Now these old chaps, and many others like them, were all good boys. They shunned liquor and tobacco. They were abstemious in their personal habits, they avoided luxuries, excesses, indulgences.

More women than men seem to have attained the rank of centerarians at the opening of the twentieth century, and they offer a fair variety of recipes for keeping the inevitable at bay. Mrs. Mary Bradley of Philadelphia was 101 when the new century dawned, and to the friends who offered congratulations she bocqueathed the magic secret. "I attribute my good health and long life to cold baths," she said, "and these I have taken daily summer and winter ever since I was a little girl. The cold water has always braced me and made me cheerful and bright. If you bathe with warm water you will be cold all day. In winter this is what I tell my daughters, my grandchildren and great-grandchildren."

Among other remarkable women who entered their third century on Jan. 1 were Aunt Polly Cloud Graves of Lexington, Ky., who if she lives will be 103 on Feb. 16; Mrs. John Loskoski of La Porte County, Ind., said to be 105; Mrs. Hannah Torrane of Toledo, Ohio, who whs born in County Antrim, Irelagd, in 1797; Miss Larisha Shailer of Tylersville, Conn., who passed her 100th birthday on Sept. 21, 1900; Mrs. Mary of Lexington, Ky., who if she lives will be 103 on Feb. 16; Mrs. John Loskoski of La Porte County, Ind., said to be 105; Mrs. Hannah Torrane of Toledo, Ohio, who whs born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1797; Miss Larisha Shailer of Tylersville, Comn., who passed her 100th birthday on Sept. 21, 1900; Mrs. Mary McDorald, colored, of Philadelphia, Pa., who says she is 120 and expects to live at least ten years longer; Mrs. Celestine Nigro, also of Philadelphia, who was born in Italy 108 years ago. Mrs. McDorald was asked to give a rule for long life. "The best single rule for a long life," she answered, "is just this: Don't worry. If I added anything else it would be to be always employed in some useful work and to take plenty of sleep." Her theory partly agrees with that of Tesla, the wizard of electricity, who advocates sleep as conducive to longevity. He is quoted as saying: "To believe that a man might live 200 years if he would sleep most of the time. That is the way negroes live to such great ages—because they sleep so much."

Mrs. Celestine Nigro, who was 96 when she crossed the ocean alone from Italy, says: "To insure a century of life live out of doors as much as possible, drink plenty of grape wine and cat lots of meat. The best single rule for a long life is happiness, which is another way of saying always keep a contented mind." and went to California to enjoy the evening of life in a milder climate. James J. ### Market Report.

LIVE STOCK—This week business was fairly good. Last week's prices were well maintained, with higher prices paid for anything good in the veal department. Prime beeves sold at 4½c to 4¾c per lb.; pretty good stock at from 3½c to 4½c do., and the common cattle at from 2½c to 3½c per lb. There were a good many bulls among the offerings, and they sold at from 2¼c to 3½c per lb. Mr. Girard paid $10 or over 5c per lb. for the best veal calf on the market; most of the calves were young things, and sold at from $2.50 to $4 each. Sheep sold at 3c to 3½c, and lambs at from 4c to 4½c per lb. Fat hogs are lower in price, and sold at from 6c to 6½c per lb., weighed off the cars.

APPLES.—Within recent years the APPLES.—Within recent years the importation of American, Canadian and colonial apples has assumed considerable proportions, and the following article from the London "Mail" will illustrate general conditions, gives deserved credit to Canadian enterprise and should further excite Yankee competition:

"The Evangeline, the new fruit boat belonging to the Furness line, was inspected at the Victoria Docks by various representatives of the fruit trade. This fine boat has just brought thousands of barrels of Canadian apples to London, and they are in splendid condition. The striped Gravensteins and the crimson-ch-seked Baldwins looked as fresh as when they were pulled from the trees in the Annapolis Valley. Throughout the year the Evangeline will bring big supplies of Canadian fruit to the London market, and it will all be perfectly fresh and sound.
