BOARD OF TRADE

Ave. to Market and Colborne streets would not bring the city one cent as there would be two lines covering the same ground. Mr. Turnbull therefore proposed that the line run down Albion Street.

Alderman English stated that the Provincial Highway will be in all probability passed along the Burford road, and on into the city by Oxford street. As a result, Oxford street would have to be repaired to a great extent. Major Sweet was called upon to address the meeting on transportation in the Old Land. Major Sweet noted when he returned to Canada what a bad condition the roads were in.

In England a great many high power motors are used for transportation, as well as the tram or street car system. The busses, he stated, are preferred by far to the cars. He advocated the bus system as the least expensive, on account of rails being unnecessary. If the power is off, all street cars have to stop, but on the other hand, if a bus "goes dead" it is simply hauled away to be repaired, and the spare bus can take its place. The speaker stated that he wished only to mention this for consideration. Mr. Lee stated that a macadam road would cost only $3,000 per mile, and they could be used for other purposes besides the bus line.

Mr. Frank Cockshutt believed that the street railway extension to Terrace Hill should be postponed. He believed that this line would make a great deficit in the finances of the city. The Street Railway Commissioners should say that they recommend the by-law, and believe they can and will do their best to carry out the new system of railway lines successfully. Mr. Cockshutt was thoroughly in support of Ald. English's idea of subway construction. He would like to see the railway go to Terrace Hill, and thought that the residents of that district should have a railway service. However, this would be an inopportune time, and the by-law should be withdrawn before the coming elections.

Mr. Turnbull stated that he thought that the by-law was ignoring the Railway Commissioners completely.

Ald. English, in reply, stated that such was not the case.

Mr. Lyons believed that a bus system would be absolutely serviceable and feasible.

Mr. Turnbull said that the Railway Commissioners had not been taken into the confidence of the council, and believed that they should have been consulted. The speaker still held that the commissioners were ignored.

Moved by F. Cockshutt, seconded by W. D. Schultz, the following resolution was passed:—

"That this meeting of the Board of Trade cannot recommend the ratepayers to support the street railway by-law at the present time in its present form."

"That such an important expenditure on capital account in street railway extension should be initiated and recommended to the ratepayers, by the Railway Commission, which is responsible for the management of the enterprise; and

"That financial and traffic experts should first report upon the merits of the scheme."

The employees of the Whitaker Baking Company wish to thank the patrons of the company for their co-operation in making it possible to avoid the necessity of working on Christmas Day, and getting an extra holiday Thursday. They are also very grateful to the company for their gift, and kind words of appreciation received.
