DIARY OF MARGARET D. MICHENER

July 16, 1849. We read in the forenoon and in the afternoon we went up to James Frizles' and had a good visit. It came on to rain; we returned at dark.

17th. I thought some of going to Windsor today, in the "Hantsport" as Simeon had to go to see Fletcher and find out if he had heard from the "Rheady Rhino"; but I did not go; I washed instead, and had a visit from Olivia Bradshaw in the morning. In the afternoon Mary and I went to Ann Barker's, as they had sent for us. Simeon came later.

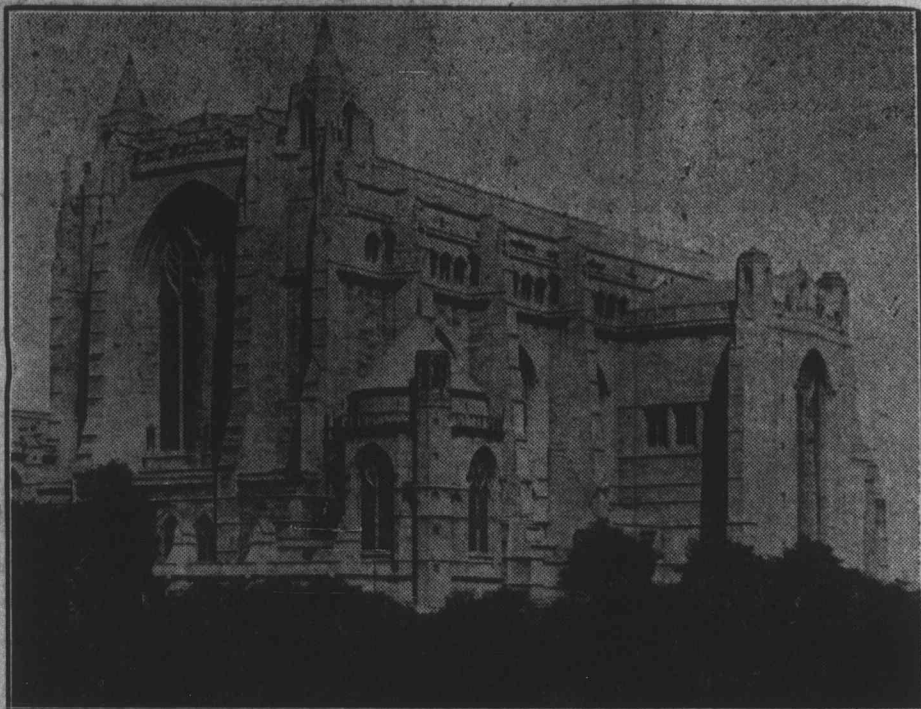

18th. A very warm day. In the afternoon John Holmes came in a while, then went to Matilda's where there were some girls. We went up to meeting at six o'clock and heard Rev. Roe preach a good sermon.

19th. Abigail came up and spent the afternoon. We finished reading "Harry O'Reardon"; his pride ruined him, as it has many others.

20th. After supper we went down to Joe Davidson's a while as the "Wanderer" had come in at noon, and also the "America". Mrs. Beckwith came home and it looks good to see her windows and doors open again, as they have been away so long. I had a piece of pineapple at Olivia's for the first time. We had a pleasant walk home.

21st. Another warm day. Simeon heard that the "Rheady Rhino" had arrived at Halifax. I expect I shall soon have to loose him. I think a sea-faring life is a hard one for both husband and wife. We went up to Father's after tea. On our return, John, Robert and Ann came as far as Mr. Churchill's with us, where we lingered and talked of the wonders of nature.

FIRST CATHEDRAL CONSECRATED IN SEVEN CENTURIES

Liverpool Cathedral, which when finished will dwarf Westminster Abbey and be second in size as a place of public worship only to St. Peter's of Rome, was consecrated in the presence of the King and Queen on July 16. The architect, Mr. G. Gilbert Scott, was only 20 years old when his plans were accepted over a score of years ago. This was the first consecration of a Cathedral in England for more than 700 years although it has been consecrated during that period.

21st. This morning Olivia Bradshaw came in a while on her way to sister Olivia's. I went down part way with her to carry her baskets. I finished reading "Pamoha" this afternoon.

22nd. This is the Sabbath Day. I have been reading something in reference to it in Hacker's paper. We went to Sabbath School and then to meeting, after which sister Ann came home with us. Joe Olivia came up in the afternoon and stayed to tea, then Ann and I went home with them for a while. Simeon went to see his father who has just returned from Lubec.

23rd. This has been a fine cool day. In the morning Mr. Fletcher's son came and told Simeon his father wished him to go to Halifax as soon as possible, so in the afternoon I got his clothes ready. Mother came down and took tea with us, then went home to get John's clothes ready to go to Halifax with Simeon.

24th. We did not sleep much last night for Simeon had such a raging toothache he was nearly crazy. I ran around to try to get something to ease the pain, nothing seemed to do any good till I got some powdered alum and salt. We arose at sunrise and I prepared the breakfast, but neither of us could eat anything; he then went up to Father's where John was to take him and his baggage to Halifax in the carriage.

25th. I washed this morning. In the afternoon Mary and Olivia went to visit Olivia Terry. I took care of the children for them. Capt. Michener went out today. Mrs. Beazson came in the evening to bring home some books and get some more; she is a great reader. Ruth Holmes and Abigail called as she went away. I had green beans out of our garden today for the first.

26th. I was over to Maria's today to help her quilt.

27th. Mary and Olivia were at Mary Sam's today. In the afternoon I went over to Mrs. Beazson's, had a pleasant visit, then called in at Mary's and Ann Hines and Elmira came in. I went part way home with Elmira and had a pleasant walk in the moonlight.

28th. I wish Simeon could have been home to dinner today as I had new potatoes and beans out of our garden and they tasted better than anything I have eaten for some time. I spent the afternoon at Emily Ann's; they have been digging a well there. They will have plenty of water; it ran in so fast they could not boil it out and they had to commence laying the stone, the water being knee deep. I have been reading Wordsworth's poems but do not care much for them. I consider the "Russian Fugitive" to be his best piece.

29th. I went to Sunday School as usual and then went up to Mother's and stayed till evening, when my brothers and Ann came home with me.

30th. Eleazer Lockhart was at Mrs. Michener's today. Ann Hines, Hannah Fuller and Louisa Brown spent the forenoon at Mary's and the afternoon here. I thought I would go to Mother's tonight but have put it off till morning, so I wrote a letter to Aunt Lydia Kelly.

Aug. 7th. I have been up to Mother's the past week; the men have been to the dyke most of the time. We have had the first cucumbers of any one around. How good it is to have a garden! Saturday night I came down to the office and got a letter from Simeon, which pleased me; but upon opening it was somewhat disappointed to find that he is going to Buctouch, N. B., to load for Cork and will be gone four months or more instead of a few weeks. I came to Mary's and found her in not very good humor, as Hibbert had not come nor so word of him in my letter. In the night I was awakened by Mary standing by my bedside, Hibbert and Ann Hines had come from Halifax in a wagon. I arose in the morning and went home before Hibbert was up. We went to Sunday School. Nancy Elder was not there on account of sickness. Mary Dickie and Robinson were at Newport, and Marianna Davidson and Mary Jane Colliet went out in the "Alida" on Friday. Friday afternoon Ruth Holmes, Abigail, Harriet Holmes and I were at Mrs. Enoch Marsters to a quilting; sister Ann had gone down to Olivia's on Thursday and stayed till Sunday morning.

A WISE MOVE

The action of the Council in seeking to secure the erection of a new railway station here will be supported by citizens. Hantsport should be in line for such an improvement as the present building has done service for many years and no longer meets the requirements in any sense. This fact, we believe, will be fully recognized by the company, in view of the very generous passenger and freight business done here. The Hantsport Acadian approves of the action of our town fathers in this regard, and will assist the undertaking in every way in its power.

QUEBEC ANNOUNCES $1,000,000 SURPLUS

QUEBEC, July 11.—Preliminary to the official financial statement of the province of Quebec, which will be given out in the first week of August, Premier Taschereau announced today a surplus of $1,000,000 for the fiscal year 1923-4 ending June 30, thus making the 25th surplus recorded in this province.

From a $22,000 surplus registered by the Marchand government, in 1899-1900, the surpluses have gradually gone up to the present figure, which was first registered six years ago under Sir Lomer Gouin's regime.

PROTECT GOOD CLOTHES

The sleeve of an old coat or worn-out pair of overalls is handy as a means of protecting the arm when doing some small job on the car that requires reaching to a greasy locality. It takes but a minute to slip on such a sleeve right over the regular shirt and coat sleeve and it saves a lot of laundering and cleaning.

A woman tells us her husband is growing a mustache and she is kissing a clothes brush to get tough.
