Photograps of the most interesting and picturesque spots in America have been made for The Ladies' Home Journal, and they will be reproduced in that magazine on the finest coated paper. This series of pictures-"Picturesque America," as it is to be called—will show the great beauties of landscape and waterscape of this country in a way in which they have never been seen before. Many of the pictures are of places that have escaped the eye of the tourist following the beaten paths of travel. They were collected by one who has crossed the continent more than one hundred times, who has viewed the scenery with appreciative eyes, and who is, perhaps, the best qualified man in the country to describe them

Brain worry wears much faster than work, and too much mental work is harmful. The brain wears rapidly, and requires abundant time for rest and repair in sleep.
