JUST A WORD TO THE GOVERNMENT ON WHEAT.

We don't know whether what we have said about offering a bonus for wheat raising has had any impression on the Government or not; but we do know that such a course would commend itself to the people of the province, and might, and no doubt would, be the infusion of the breath of life into a most important industry. It is praiseworthy in a Government to preserve its balance when sections of the people cry "do this, and do that," but a government should be intelligent and practical enough in itself to see whether a scheme proposed to them is worthy of their consideration or not. We must reiterate the opinion that the Government could give $3000 or $4000 to no more laudable object than endeavoring to stimulate this industry.

Education is one of the greatest factors to success in every department in life. Every good Government offers bonuses for the stimulation of worthy enterprises; and out of the emulation, the striving of one with another for the speared prizes, results the success that speaks so well for the system.

But should the bonuses offered by our Government not stimulate the wheat raising industry, they would be no great amounts to lament over; and the Government might feel safe from legitimate and harmful criticism in the fact that they had made a move in the right direction; that the failure was not to be attributed to them but to the people.

Better the farmer to have a blooming field of wheat than turnpike roads as smooth as bowling greens to haul loads of unprofitable products to the market. Let the Chief Commissioner cut a little off the great roads and bridge grants next year; let the Surveyor General put his proteges on a smaller allowance, and let the savings be given towards helping New Brunswickers to raise their own bread.

There is no other industry in the province to-day that bears the promise this industry does. Why the farmers all tell you the "little bit of wheat" they raised last year was as good as gold to them. They can either take it to the mill or sell it for $1.60, cash, per bushel. The yield from their land has been almost fabulous. It exceeds that of some of the best wheat raising districts in the States. The delusion that wheat becomes a prey to rust and weevil has passed away like many other unworthy theories. If the time came that New Brunswick could raise her own bread then indeed we should not have scores of our young men leaving the province by every train; and if the Government of New Brunswick could be the means of bringing this state of affairs about, they might then look back on something worthy their highest pride.

We have given considerable attention to the manner in which the government might allot the prizes, and are of opinion that the following order would best meet the requirements of the case:

Dollars.	Acres.
1,000	15
800	12
600	9
400	6

Or, the $1,000 prize for the best yield from 15 acres; the second prize for the best yield from 24 acres, and so on down to the fifth prize.

It is difficult in matters of this kind to select a plan that will be fair to all around; but we think it will be seen that the method we propose would be fair to every class of farmers in the Province. The scheme we lay out may not be perfect in detail, but we feel quite confident it is correct in principle, and very much easier to criticize than to devise. If only one prize were offered, there would be no chance for the poor farmer but in the plan we propose there is the same inducement to the former with his four spare acres, relatively, as there is to the gentleman farmer with his hundreds of acres.

We wish the press of the Province that usually takes an interest in such matters would help the scheme along. The News of late has had a little to say on nearly every subject; the Province and the Star would be thankful for its opinion on this scheme. It might not be fair to expect the Telegraph, not yet divorced from its best project, to say a word for wheat, though every one who takes the trouble to think must see how much more important the one is than the other. We commend the scheme to the government.

DANE PETERSEN'S SCHEME.

Let the government by all means, give legitimate aid to this Dane Petersen, if he can satisfy them that his Immigration Scheme is worth bothering about. We certainly believe he can entice a few straggling Danes to come here each year, but such a flood of immigration as he pretends to say he can bring to our shores, is simply preposterous.

We know Mr. Fraser is not very impulsive, nor Mr. Wedderburn either; neither have we any reason to believe that any of the rest of the government would hearken unto the high sounding story of this ambitious Dane.

Let the government give to Dane Petersen just what they would give to any other Commissioner, but no more. He is worthy of no more, and perhaps should not be trusted with as much. We are perhaps pestering our readers with so many references to this Scandinavian, but it is necessary that we should do so. So long as the government sits down to listen to the obsolete Liscar, so long will he pour his high tales in their ears. Every visit he makes here is on that mission though the poor Danes from his settlement curse him and say "tis easy for him to roam about at the country's expense." We would say to the government, watch this Dane, for there is a certain amount of Scandinavian cunning in the fellow that might deceive the unwary.

A WICKED LITTLE PLAGIARIST.

The last number of Grip is before us and we are surprised to find the little brat, usually considered original, guilty of brazen faced plagiarism. It has a cartoon representing local politicians on Ontario to whom Grip in his crow's head is talking:

Mr. Grip—Well, Master Mowat, and what are you doing just now?
 Master Mowat—Nothing, sir.
 Mr. Grip—And you, Master Meredith?
 Master Meredith—Please, sir, I'm helping Oliver."

This idea is stolen from a cartoon which appeared in Punch several years ago, and which has lingered on our memory.

It was during recess and Her Majesty said to Lord John Russell, who stands before her like a truant school boy.

"Queen—What have you been doing John?
 John—Please, mum, nothing.
 Queen, to Palmerston—And what have you been doing?
 Palmerston—Please, mum, helping John."

We hope Grip will keep in mind that there is someone down in New Brunswick who keeps an eye on what he is "doing."

A DREADFUL SENTENCE.

LEFUREY the forger has received a terrible sentence, imprisonment for life. We are of the opinion that as what is virtue may be carried so far as to become a vice, so too severity may be carried to barbarity. By all means let crime be punished and let the forgers punishment be dread and severe; but let it be remembered it is in human nature to err and if the other Judge be as severe on us for our offences, then few will see glory. We only speak of the case before us from taking the abstract view of it; but the more we look at it, the more have we to condemn in the sentence. Forgery is an insidious offence, against which it is difficult to guard; but suppose a thief stole $10,000 he would not be sentenced to imprisonment for life: Yet if he forges half that amount he is incarcerated during his natural life. We can see how this can be justified. Better whip the wretch till the skin hangs off his back, and feed him on bread and water for a period of years. Aye, nearly as well hang him as to shut him up for life in a prison. But we are not a Judge,—though we do enter a protest.

MORE SNEERING.

We hope all read with disgust an article in last night's annex, ation vehicle, the Globe, sneering at provincial government, and advocating a mongrel system half republican and half communistic. We do not know, nor do we much care, who writes some of the disloyal and cynical articles that appear in that paper, but we should say to our readers to consider it all as the impotent notes of incipient rebellion.

THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

The plan submitted by Mr. Dumaresque has suited the taste of the Executive, and has been accepted. The cost of buildings, according to this plan, the architect sets down at $84,000, but we may be sure these figures would fall considerably short of the cost.

Mr. Dumaresque's plan is the medium of the three, and is said to be graceful and not elaborate. If buildings are to be put up, something respectable and substantial is needed, while nothing gorgeous and unnecessarily costly would be acceptable to the people.

It is just doubtful, however, if the local government, without some aid from the Dominion, are prepared even to give us buildings not costing beyond $100,000. [The Government has asked for tenders.]

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK: 2d Manual of Information for Intending Settlers, with a description and map of the Settlements, etc. By Hon. M. Adams—Fredericton, New Brunswick.

"This pamphlet speaks for itself, and is a very faithful representation of the opportunities and advantages presented to intending settlers in the sister province. It is published of course in the interests of emigrants, and to that class of folks it is undoubtedly a work of very considerable value. It is published from the office of the Fredericton STAR, whose editor has our thanks for it.—North Star, St. John's, N. F., 17th ult.

Why he is Called Buffalo Bill.

William F. Cody thus explains how he came to be called "Buffalo Bill": "In 1867, when the Kansas Pacific road was being built, I was in the service of the Government. One of the managers of the road came to me and said the men were out of meat, and asked me what I would contrive to furnish twenty-five buffaloes a day for. I told him I was in the service of the Government and could not work for him at any price. The company, however, made an arrangement with the Government so I got off, and he hired me at $500 a month to shoot buffaloes. I thought $500 a month was the biggest salary any man ever received. I went to work and in eighteen months killed 4200 buffaloes. The Irishmen employed on the road as accoutrements, became very tired of buffalo meat. When they saw me coming they knew my appearance heralded a fresh supply of tough buffalo meat, and they called me another 'Buffalo Bill.' Here comes Buffalo Bill again; sharpen up your grinders, we'll have more buffalo meat now." I soon became known along the entire line of Kansas Pacific as "Buffalo Bill."

Canadian Salmon in Glasgow.

[Glasgow Herald.]
 One of our enterprising fish merchants have now fresh salmon (salmo salar)—brought all the way from Canada—a few days ago, which we examined yesterday, being in excellent condition, and apparently nothing the worse for its long journey.

Having partaken of part of a cooked fish, we can vouch for the gastronomical qualities of the Canadian salmon as being much superior to those of the Dutch and Norwegian fish; which we usually receive during the winter season, and of the former of which, owing to the Rhine being frozen over there is this season no supply. The Canadian salmon are brought to Europe on the same plan as has been adopted for the carriage of American dead meat in refrigerated chambers—a cargo which reached Billingsgate some weeks ago on another plan, having proved a failure. The fish now being sold in this city are, we believe, taken in the Bay of Chateaux, a wide inlet of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and are in every respect equal to our good clean salmon. The bay in question receives the waters of the Restigouche river, which will doubtless afford the fish a procreant cradle during their spawning season, which, in the case of the samples we have examined, does not appear to be within the limits of the close time appointed for our British rivers, and gives us further proof that what has been asserted in the Herald is something more than theory, namely, that we ought to be able to capture clean salmon in the Tweed all the year round. A large number of salmon are annually captured in the Bay of Chateaux, the take of last year having been computed at 500,000 lb. weight, the fish averaging from 15 lb. to 20 lb., one or two of 50 lb. weight being occasionally captured. Canadian salmon will never, however become cheap.

MISCELLANEOUS.

How pleasant to be rich and honored! In a few days the Empress Elizabeth of Austria will leave for Dublin, where with some of the greatest nobles of the land she will spend a fortnight in fox hunting. They will be hallooing of grooms, barking of dogs, and scamping of foxes—and right royal sport.

The German press is becoming interested in the distress in Ireland.

The French Government repudiates any interest in the De Leases Canal. It is just as well. The American Government would not consent to the building of the canal because it would rob their transcontinental railroads of their traffic; and France would not be prepared to justify on having it built. We predict, that canal will never be built.
