It was discovered, says the despatch, that the engine of the train of the Governor General, the Earl of Liverpool, had been tampered with.

BERLIN, April 28. The Deutsche Zeitung says the German Government is preparing a note to France, in which a demand will be made for the withdrawal of Allied troops from Frankfurt and other recently occupied districts. Firemen's Strike.

SETTLEMENT EXPECTED.

It is likely that the Firemen's strike will be settled this afternoon. The ship owners have offered the men $73 per month from the shipping office, and $2 extra from the office of the ship owners. This is really the secret of its value. Price 60c. a bottle.

Compulsory Knighthoods.

There was a time when to refuse a knighthood not only aroused the ire of the monarch but the official responsible for the collection of revenue. In 1254 all men holding land in Great Britain of the annual value of ten pounds were ordered to present themselves for knighthood or pay a lump sum for exemption from the honour. As knighthood then entailed serious military responsibilities, the Crown reaped a handsome revenue from this order. Edward I. imposed the obligation atreth, and so did James I. almost as soon as he came to the English throne. The Long Parliament abolished compulsory knighthood in 1641, its reason for doing so being to prevent the king from raising money without the consent of the Commons.

Thin Persons

Live Longer.

Mr. Lewis Orr, addressing a meeting of insurance actuaries in Edinburgh, submitted a table of standard weight, showing how the build of an individual affected his longevity very considerably. The table, which was the first of its kind produced in Scotland, showed clearly the truth of the statement that the heavier the weight the shorter the life. From what they knew of German and Austrian insurance statistics they reached the not uninteresting conclusion that the Anglo-Saxon, as represented by Great Britain, the United States and Canada, was of considerably lighter type, for height, than the German and Austrian, roughly speaking, to the extent
