Woman Suffrage.

It is the sign of a thoughtful, intelligent, unprejudiced mind when a man or woman realizes that a new order of things has become necessary to cope with existing conditions, both civic and political, the world over. In the last century men undertook to manage, or muddle, all the problems of that generation, but since woman has, in a measure, come into her own, and various avenues for her activity and usefulness have been opened up, she has realized her power and is naturally demanding greater recognition of her rights as a citizen in the land of her birth or adoption. The woman whose activities are circumscribed by the walls of her house or her church can never be a good citizen in the broad sense of that term. She performs her duties in attending to the needs of her household or her devotions faithfully, but beyond that rarely troubles herself to wonder whether she can lend a helping hand for the betterment of conditions in her own home town. She may work very hard for foreign missions, while almost at her door is poverty, ignorance and sin of which she knows nothing. Yet who can blame her, for man in a' the ages past have done his best to prevent woman from invading his domain. Universities were rigorously closed against her and every attempt at scholarship was frowned at by professors from whom one would have expected a greater breadth of mind. When Susan B. Anthony first began to agitate for "woman's rights" in the U.S., newspaper men and others wrote of her and of those associated with her as "crowing hens" and used other insulting epithets. To-day the name of Susan B. Anthony is honored from one end of America to the other, but the names of the wits who ridiculed her are as dead as the proverbial door nail.

To-day the question of the suffrage for women is an acute one. They feel that they are capable of using the vote wisely and intelligently and they are going to have it. The sooner politicians realize this, the better, for just as sure as day follows night, it has to come.

The petition which will be presented to the members of the House in a few days asks that the suffrage be granted to the women of Newfoundland, and we bespeak for it a patient and favorable hearing. It will be largely signed by women with large stakes in the country, women employers of labor and women who have suffered and spent themselves in helping our boys at the front during the long, sad years of the war. We have borne the burden and now we ask for our reward. Is it possible that any body of men could be so unmanly enough to refuse us? The names of the men who carry through this great and just measure will be remembered with gratitude by the women of Newfoundland. Those who present it and those who support it, whether Government or Opposition, in both Houses of Parliament, will be honored as are the names of the men who signed the "Declaration of Independence" in the United States.—ANON.

The Cure.

If men and women would "cut out" the demands for "stylish" apparel, ignore the dictates of fashion, and be content with those things which satisfied the fashions of a few months back, even, they would not have to descend to overalls and gingham. The merchants would be ready to sell them the goods required, so long as they have them. As things are, this overall campaign can be regarded as nothing more than a temporary fad which will quickly exhaust itself as have so many others of a similar character.—Moose Jaw News.
