Philadelphia's victory over Clevelan today is what is worrying the Tigers If the Senators can land one gam here in the two days the Tigers wil rest easy, as they will have to land but one in St. Louis. The last game may decide the fight-probably will. Even this is worrying Jennings, for It will give his tired, worn-out men no chance to rest for what promises to be the ugliest fight the game has known in years.

Today Cantillon put in Gehring, his Des Moines recruit, who started well and looked strong, but the Tigers soon got to him. They scored one run in the second round. > The Argos will have an O. R. F. U. team also, and it is a question whether the Victorias can outvote the Tigers and Argos in the O. R. F. U.

The American League problem just now is most interest-

Can the Athletics beat Cantillon's men four straight? Can Detroit take two from St.Louis if they do? Can Washington take just one game from Philadelphia? Can Detroit take one from St. Louis if Cantillon's men do that much? These questions were on every man's lips tonight. If the Philadelphia Athletics do that and the nerveracked fighters from Detroit sink before St. Louis, Connie Mack will lead the most unpopular team that ever won an American League bunting into the field against the Cubs.

The whole east has nothing but unkind things to say of the representatives of the Philadelphia ball club. The Tigers have endeared themselves in the hearts of all easteners by their game up-hill fight. They have braved the entire east and beaten it. The Athletics started at home with a safe lead, or what appeared to be safe lead. They have dropped back and have shown no fighting spirit. This much the eastern baseball writers could stand. But when Connie Mack made that squeal on O'Loughlin's decision - a killed himself in his own section of the country. They are still roasting him.

Saturday can tell the story. Should the Tigers win that one game and the Athletics drop one tomorrow the tale will be told. The pennant would be cinched. In fact the flag may be won tomorrow while the Detroit club is speeding toward St. Louis. If Washington should beat Philadelphia two times the pennant would be Detroit's regardless of what followed. It is possible, this landing of the flag tomorrow, but it is hardly probable. One game from the Athletics and the Tigers will thank the Senators forever.
