THE WOMAN'S CORNER

ADVERTISER PATTERNS BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY.

8851-A New and Stylish Skirt Model-Ladies' Six-Gore Skirt. A unique feature of this model i the extension of the side gores. skirt is cut on close-fitting lines, and has the panel effect in the back. The pattern is cut in five sizes-22, 24, 26, 28 and 30 inches waist measure. It requires 51/2 yards of 44-inch material for the 24-inch size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

DEPARTMENT OF THE PATTERN ADVERTISER. Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to

Measurement-Bust Waist

CAUTION—Be careful to inclose above fine stration and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure, you need only mark $2, 34, or wnatever it may be. When in waist measure. When misses' or child's pattern write only the figure representing the age. It is not necessary to write "inches" or "years." Patterns cannot reach you in less than one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents in cast or in postage stamps.

Eyes and Eyebrows.

Many a plain face is redeemed by important part in making the eyes and the eyebrows play an important part in making the eyes that are only important part in making the eyes clear and attractive. Eyes that are only beautiful, but much depends upon the health.

Eyes, like the skin, require daily attention, fresh air, cleanliness, and even the exercise. This exercise includes a movement of the eyes upward and downward, and from side to side, with the head held well up and kept rised. This

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Money-Making Socials.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please give me some names of socials to be held by a junior class? A .- You ask merely for the names of socials, so I presume your commit- care will improve the growth and gloss tee will be able to carry them out. of the brows, and by gently stroking Have you had a box social, a conunthem with the fingers their shape may drum social, a measuring and weight be altered. social? All are good fun.

Shy Girl's Problems.

Dear Miss Grey: How should I introduce a boy friend to my mother? Many people tell me I am too modest and shy. Do you think a girl can be chemicals should be used on the brows too modest? How can I overcome my or eyelashes, and the only safe tonic shyness? Two boys have asked me to have my company to a party. What can I do? If I refuse one, most likely the other will be hurt. JEAN.

A .- In presenting a boy friend to your mother simply say: "Mother, I want you to know Harry White; I met him at school," or wherever the place might be. I do not think a girl can too modest, but being too shy often makes her uncomfortable. Try overcome it by forgetting yourself and thinking how you may give the other person pleasure. Helping make a good time is a fine way to stop thinking of what kind of a time you are having. Accept the invitation of the boy who asked you first. That is fair and the other aspirant for your society should remember to be first next time.

To Raise Money. Dear Miss Grey: Could you kindly suggest some plans in which a class of young girls could raise money for furnishing a room in the church?

OLIVE. The best money-makers seem to be connected with things to eat, so why not have a Saturday market? Fifty Have on sale all sorts of nice things for Sunday, and at this season, when everyone is pickling and preserving, have a glass and jar table. As everything will be donated, there will be good profit. You can arrange pretty least 50 Philadelphia lawyers by her booths and dress in colonial costumes as it is coming near Christmas time.

Concerning a Wedding.

Dear Miss Grey: What order of procession would you suggest where When should the bride present her honored maid with a remembrancebefore or after the ceremony? Do you think a real coral neck chain would be appropriate Who should be the

Terrible Suffering

Five Years of Severe Rheumatism. "I suffered terribly for about five years from rheumatism. Doctors gave up. Friends told me to try medicine and the other until I abanfoned all medicines and felt very deondent. At last a friend came to be me and after I told her how I was troubled she told me to try Hood's Saraparilla. After taking one bottle I egan to feel better and I am now completely cured and I return many thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am never without it." C. Macauley, 64
Richmond St., Montreal, Que.
Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold troubled she told me to try Hood's Sarby all druggists everywhere.

ones to wish the bride happiness IRMA. A .- The best man enters with the bridegroom immediately after minister, and there at the altar they await the coming of the bride, who is preceded by the maid of honor. The gift to the latter should be given before the ceremony, and I think corals would be lovely. The immediate family, then the relatives offer their good wishes and congratulations first.

Useful Hints For Housewives

It is a wise plan to add cornmeal to gasoline used for cleaning anything badly spotted. The meal helps in rubbing out the spots.

Before beginning to seed raisins cover them with hot water and let them stand 15 minutes. The seeds can then be removed easily.

After peeling vegetables, to remove the stains from the hands take a piece of the peeling and rub the stains before washing the hands. When repairing a rent in a glove, it well to turn the article inside out, and then sew it over and over with cotton, not with silk, thread. Milk and eggs are great fat producers. Drink milk with your meals instead of water, and, if cared for, eggs can be added with advantage. Coal ash is a fine polisher for the oright parts of the range. Dip a wet rag into the fine ash and rub well, and if fine polish will be the result. Buy from your baker a dozen empty bags, which will cost very little. Cut them apart and hem them and you will have strong, useful towels. If you find it difficult to boil eggs when the shells have become slightly cracked, throw a small quantity of salt into the water before putting in salt into the water before putting in the egg.

After an umbrella has been in use for a short time put a drop of oil in the centre of the top about once a month. This provents the ribe with and she never doubted that he would be kind, and considerate toward would be kind, and considerate toward would be kind, and considerate toward to the control of the same, and she never doubted that he would be kind, and considerate toward to the control of the cont month. This prevents the ribs from rusting.

Glass which has grown dull can be restored to a fairly bright condition by washing with diluted hydrochloric acid and afterward rubbing with moistened chalk or whiting.

For starching muslins, ginghams and calicoes dissolve a piece of alum the size of a hickory nut for every pint of starch. This will keep the colors bright for a long time.

Peroxide rubbed on a fine white silk waist took blood spots from the latter, also took ink-stains from fine The lace was soaked in white lace. the peroxide for a couple of hours. Grease the bars of a gridiron when cooking meat on it top revent it sticking. Turn the meat frequently, using two spoons or a pair of sugar tongs ment of the eyes upward and downward, and from side to side, with the Mark the companies of the parlor window. head held well up and kept rigid. This One of the casements was wide open, and exercises and tones the muscles that raise and lower the eyeballs and brings

The fingers should be moistened with olive oil for the operation, which also stimulates the growth. When the eyebrows are thin it is a good plan to brush them daily with a soft toothbrush moistened with vaseline.

DAILY MENU

TUESDAY'S MENU. BREAKFAST.
Oatmeal Cakes Fried in Butter. Maple Syrup. Corned Beef Hash. Toasted Graham Bread.

> LUNCHEON. Cold Sliced Beef Loaf. Saratoga Potatoes. Cranberry Shortcake. Tea.

DINNER. Tomato Soup With Rice. Broiled Fillet of Beef.

Potato Croquette Creamed Carrots. Cabbage and Peanut Salad. Cottage Pudding With Fruit Sauce. Coffee.

WOMAN SWINDLER

Philadelphia Lawyers Were Caught by Smooth Fake.

there are only two attendants (the maid of honor and the best man). The "friend" is in Lancaster. If the lawyer wants the case, and appears anxious, she announces that "Fifteen dollars will bring my friend from Lancaster, and you can make your ewn contingent fee arrangements." The woman gets the money. The "friend' never appears. Five lawyers today complained to the police department.

To illustrate that royalty does not inspire awe in American children, a woman who recently returned from a long trip abroad related this incident: "We were at Bad-Nauheim when the Czar was a guest there. My little boy attracted the attention of some member of the Russian party, and he was present by invitation one day when the Czar, the Grand Duchess of Hesse, Capt. Drentelen, the Czar's military secretary, and Baron Wassenbach played tennis. When the boy returned, one of the young people, a tennis enthusiast, asked him, 'Well, how did the Czar play?' 'Rotten!' was his expressive but shocking reply,"

"You shall follow your own wishes, Miss Hope. You never ought to have been involved in this terrible business. Now tell me what is in your mind, and rely upon my help."

"I don't want any more of your help," she panted, with a gesture of repugnance. "You are a wicked man."

"Who has been talking to you?" he asked gently,

Anonymous letters, breathing death and Anonymous letters, breathing death and destruction, were becoming monotonous. There was one that morning.

"I have destroyed a number of similar things," Mr. Barker observed, "but I think they should be placed before Mr. Tredcroft in future. He appears to be ringed with steel," he added rather grimly. "Ry the way Miss Hone, I have gone ly. "By the way, Miss Hope, I have gone over the ground carefully in the coppice which fringes the wood, and there are certain traces-

She glanced up swiftly.

"I hope you managed to enjoy yourself yesterday," he continued urbanely.
"My motor passed you last evening. Personally I abhor those antiquated station carriages." carriages.

He yawned, but behind his assumed carelessness his manner was distinctly disagreeable. Vera faced him with kindling eyes; he was defiant, too, and it was only by an effort that he maintained his composure. A dull red spot had mounted to either cheek.

"You were speaking," she said faintly, "of the coppice, and traces of someone."
"I hope I am wide awake! You have fooled me to the top of my bent!" He was scornfully angry; then with a muttered imprecation he turned and left the Vera was bewildered. Barker was laboring under some delusion. It usually took a great deal to disturb his serenity, or, at least, he had remarkable control over his emotions, but now he was seething almost to the explosive point. She ran to the door, and saw him striding along the hall. She was about to call out to him, but checked the impulse. She would make no appeal to the man. He had been guilty of gross impertinence. would make no appeal to the man. He had been guilty of gross impertinence. She went back to her chair in the library. A death-like silence seemed to be upon everything. Vera was depressed by her responsibility, then exhilarated to think that there would soon be an end of it. She longed to be away from Tredcroft Hall; its very atmosphere reeked with mystery, intrigue and murder. She sat down at her writing-desk, and sairing sat down at her writing-desk, and, seizing pen and paper, sketched an imaginary conversation with Julian Tredcroft. She pictured his mood when he heard of the dangers that were besetting him—the truth about Barker, and her awn deter-truth about Barker, and her own deter-would be kind and considerate toward Vera seated herself in the window and made an effort to read. There were plenty of the newest books, English, American, French and German. For a full half hour she sat with her eyes fixed upon the printed pages. She had turned over many pages, reading every word and remembering nothing. Then came the sound of a clanging gate, and she dropped the book. She heard Julian Trederoff's voice and her beart heart. croft's voice, and her heart began to leap. He was speaking to one of the servants.

a gardener. He came along the drive, chatting cheerily with the man. There was some question about thinning the tops of a belt of huge fir trees. The reeent windstorm had given them a severe shaking, and they were unsafe. Mr. Tredcroft and the gardener came to a halt close to the oriel window, and the man urged the master to have a look at the trees. the trees.
"Very well, Macpherson, come along."

exercises and tones the muscles that raise and lower the eyeballs and brings a healthy supply of blood to the eyes, as well as nourishing the tissues.

One of the casements was wide open, and he spoke to Vera.

"I got your wire yesterday, and I am here. It spoilt a very pleasant time."

He shrugged his shoulders. "I will see one of the best ways to clean the eyes is to open them while the face is submerged in a basin of water. This should be done every morning, and cold water is one of the best tonics for tired eyes.

One can do much to alter and improve the shape of the brows. Daily care will improve the scrowth and care.

He shrugged his shoulders. "I will see you in an hour or so—am hungry and though it is not on my account?"

He was regarding her kindly, and she was conscious of some of her stern*resolutions melting like snow in the sun.

"I have a great deal to tell you, Mr. Tredcroft," she said. She shivered from head to foot. "You will find me here when—"

"When!" he interrupted seriously. "Conwhen, he interrupted seriously. Confound it, I am putting too much responsibility on your small shoulders. It's a shame. I'll hurry through, Miss Hope, and in the meantime don't you bother about me or anybody else. Do you hear?" She nodded.

CHAPTER XVIII.

Vera's nod meant nothing-a mere passive acquiescence in a remark which was provocative of irritation—if not positive anger. "Don't worry!" And she had been worrying for days and days—ever since he had told her his wretched secrets! He had instructed her to telegraph to him if had instructed her to telegraph to him if danger threatened, and in the most mysterious and melodramatic way imaginable. His life was menaced in a dozen ways; he was harboring a police spy, and now that she had warned him, he dilly-dallied with a gardener, and went off to bath and dress, and rest, before evincing the slightest interest in the news.

Vera stamped one foot viciously, then pressed a hand to her throbbing head. So her telegram had interfered with his pleasures—had spoiled a good time! There was no understanding the man; he was a riddle—a thousand riddles in one inexlicable tangle. But Julian Trederoft came into the parlor much sooner than she expected, and anxious sympathy had replaced his careess bonhomie. He closed the door after him, walked across to Vera, and took her right hand within his own, his keen eyes t the same time reading her through and through.

"This won't do, Miss Hope," he said, kindly. "Your temperature is too high."

"Why don't you add 'Please put out your tongue'?" she retorted sharply "Instead I will ask you to hold your tongue until I have explained my apparent levity. While I was standing out there my mother and her maid were at the window directly above the oriel, and it was wide open. I haven't changed my clothes or had a mouthful of food or anything, and here I am to thank you Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—A remarkably pretty young woman has swindled at least 50 Philadelphia lawyers by her winning ways and plausible story. Fifteen dollags is the greatest amount she has gotten out of any one man.

Her game is simplicity. She enters a lawyer's office and says she has a friend who has a splendid injury case friend who has a splendid injury case situations. It was that a mouthful of food or anything, and here I am to thank you for your obedience and faithfulness. Your telegram reached me too late, or I should have left the Cornish village last night. As it was I had to stew in the throes of awful conjecture—and never was night so black or so long. With daylight the mantle of horror was lifted, and I walked seven miles to Penzance to catch the first train. There are some situations, my dear girl, where good gensituations, my dear girl, where good gen situations, my dear girl, where good generalship and strategic moves are utterly impossible."

"Mr. Tredcroft," Vera burst out.

can't stand this any longer. I must go away from here." She was getting hysterical. He was on his feet in a monent, his face grey with anxiety.

ment, his face grey with anxiety.

"I was a brute to leave you with so heavy a burden. I should have gone away and said nothing."

"Oh, I'm not a fool exactly—at least, I think not. I won't let my emotions get the better of me again. Go back to your chair, Mr. Trederoft, and we will come to an understanding." to an understanding."

He obeyed slowly, his grave eyes never leaving her flushed face. He could hear her sharp breathing, and when she spoke there was a note of defiance in her tone.

"I must go away from here," she said "You shall follow your own wishes

"Now you are getting extravagant. Did you send for me to tell me this?"

"Of course I did."
"I know that it must be dull here for you, but in the circumstances you appeared to be satisfied. I had no thought of making you my confidant until I discovered that we had common sympathies.

You know how it come about."
"A plausible, lying tongue, and you preyed upon my unhappy position. How could a simple girl understand the subtle depths of your mind? We have no sympathies in common.' "Revenge," he suggested, mockingly.
"No. I hate myself for even dreaming of it. To endeavor to be revenged upon an enemy is to punish one's self."

"I believe you," he said sadly.
She stared at him, and the glow in his yes unnerved her. "You are not helping me a little bit," he added. "Am I right in supposing that you have made it up with your lover, John Russell? I know that when a lady wears that she hates a man she is near to loving him more than ever before."
"I never said that I hated John Russell.
How dare you insinuate such things? I haven't 'made it up,' as you vulgarly phrase it. There are reasons why Mr. Russell can never be anything to me was bewildered. Barker was more than the dearest friend I shall ever "Bosh!" exclaimed Mr. Tredcroft, and now his eyes were twinkling. "But I am sorry he spoke evilly of me."

"You have ruined him."
"You instigated it. I have really done nothing. My reputation, I suppose. I am like the general who is content to sit without the gate while his foe starves to death.' "You are a terrible man. In one hand you carry gifts, in the other a sword. In the midst of your ruthless carnage you smile and smile—"."

She broke off with a shudder, and he habbe smile!" He appeared to be amused.

"Now let me warn you," she flashed.
"And in so doing I feel utterly mean and degraded. I made a promise, and I will Barker is a detective."

She hurled the words at him, and walted to be a veritable bombshell.
"Oh, that's no news," he said coolly. "I knew it hefore he care he wand to be knew it before he came here, and I took him in so that the agency he represents should not send a better man. He is rather good at some things, but—"Then a scowl disfigured his brow. "Why in the name of wonder did he disclose himself to you? Hm, there's no accounting for what ing for what a man will do under the battery of the eyes of a beautiful woman. I've felt the same myself on occasions. I suppose that Mr. Barker warned you against me? Please don't content yourself with telling me half a truth. Is he taking action?" Behind his smiling face was there not a touch of anxiety? A sudden and wicked light had sprung into his eyes, and his clenched hands showed that the knuckles were as white as ivory.

[To be Continued.]

instead of a fork, as the latters lets out the juice.

"Very well, Macpherson, come along."
He laughed, "I know I shall have no rest until I do."
He saw Vera at the window and raised his whole face becoming radiant.

Many Witnesses Swear That Accused Was Not Woman

They Saw. [Associated Press.]

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 10.-The examination of Mrs. Alma M. Roche. formerly a domestic in the Glover home, by District Attorney Higgins was begun when court opened today. Mrs. Roche said that once, when she was living in the Glover household, Mrs. Glover fired a revolver at a squirrel in a tree, hitting the animal. Mrs. Roche was not cross-examined.
Mrs. Ida F. Rice, who knew both

Mr. and Mrs. Glover before their marriage in 1900, testified that she had asked Mrs. Glover why she had married "such a bad man," and that Mrs. Glover told her that it was because Glover had managed to secure control of her property, and that she was marrying him in order to get her own property back again. She was not cross-examined.

Tried To Get Rid of Girl. John Delorey, an iceman, said that once, in the spring of 1909, when he had called at the Glover house to deliver ice, Mrs. Glover pointed to Hattie and asked witness if he wanted a girl. He told Mrs. Glover, he said, that he was married, and had nothing to do with people of that kind. Mrs. Glover said to him, "You are French, aren't you?" and he said he was, but could not speak the French language, whereupon Mrs. Glover said that he and Hattie could not be matched.

A woman, five feet five inches neight, weighing between 130 and 135 pounds, wearing a three-quarter length coat, was seen by the next witness, Charles E. Bonner, a church sexion, walking along the alleyway leadng to the Glover laundry on the night of the murder, Mr. Bonner said thought the woman's coat was black. He did not see her face. Hattie Leblanc was led before the

After La Grippe

"I had suffered several weeks with LaGrippe. Had pains in my head and eyes. It felt as though there was a heavy weight on the top of my head, until it SAYS HE EMBEZZLED seemed that my brain would burst. I was so nervous that I could not rest or sleep. When I dozed off I would awake with a sudden jerking of my whole body. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Heart Remedy and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me. A number of New York, Dec. 10.-One of the same benefits." MRS. ALVIN H. LOCKS, Seabrook, N. H. The after effects of LaGrippe are often more serious than the disease, as it leaves the system in a weakened condition that invites more serious troubles,

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine should be taken for some time such as pneumonia, etc.

strength. Price $1.00 at your druggist. He should supply you. If he does not send price we forward prepaid. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto, to thoroughly restore nerve

Sensible Gifts Moderately Priced

No matter when you look in this store, in any department you'll find gifts, practicable and sensible, for young or old. We're well prepared for the great Christmas rush with the most select range of novelties we ever had. Here's a partial list:

The Bradley Muffler-For gents as well as ladies; colors, black, champagne, sky, white and grey. Price 50¢

Parasols—Gold and silver-plated, inlaid with pearl, guaranteed to stand engraving, silk and wool top with tape edge, steel rod and durable frame. Worth to $6.00, for $3.95 Golf Coats, $3.95—Pony Knitted Golf

Coats, roll collar, very fancy weave, 7/8 length in grey, white and cardinal$3.95 See our range of Ladies' Collars, Ties,

Handkerchiefs, Belts, Gloves, Hosiery, Underwear, Skirts, Waists, Coats, Kimonos and Silk • Dresses—the best of everything for the least

Children's All-Wool Overalls, with feet, in colors of cardinal and white....40¢ to 75¢ Children's Gaiters, in cardinal and white, at 25¢ and 35¢ Children's Wool Scarfs, in cardinal, white

Children's Toboggan Scarfs, in cardinal Ladies' Hand-Made Fascinators, cream only. Special 50¢ Children's and Misses' White Bearskin Sets: the Stole is nicely shaped, and the Muff well

LADIES' HOME JOURNAL JANUARY PATTERNS NOW IN STOCK.

GRAY & PARKER

PHONE 1182.

150 DUNDAS AND CARLING STREETS.

Children's underwear, all sizes.

person he saw on the night of the murder Woman Acted Queerly. Isaac Walter, a car starter at the Moody-street crossing at Waltham. testified that at 8:47 p.m. a car stopped to take on passengers. While the car was waiting, he saw a woman come out of the alley leading to the laundry and board the car. He noticed the woman's face, and said that it was red and flushed, and he described the woman as "nervous, shift-FULL OF INTEREST scribed the woman as "nervous, shifting and looking around in a frightened manner." As the car started, he heard the curfew bell, which rang-at 8:50 p.m. The witness boarded the car and, when it stopped at the public library in Waltham, the woman left it and the witness followed her. He said that the woman went part way up the common, and then went back in the direction of the depot, until she reached Elm street, where she met a man, with whom she walked at a rapid pace. When Barton street was reached, the couple separated, the man taking the left hand side of the street and the woman keeping on the right hand side. The woman was running, the witness said, and when she reached an open lot, she dropped behind a fence. The witness said that he followed the man, who finally went into a house. Not the LeBlanc Girl. Mr. Walter said that at the time he did not know whose house the man entered, but he has since learned that was the residence of Clarence F Blover, the murdered man.

.For the second time during the day Hattie was led before the witness stand, and when Walter was asked if the defendant was the woman whose novements he described, he replied: "No, sir; it was a woman I saw not a child." The defence then rested its case. Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow called in rebuttal, denied telling Mrs. Sampson that she would shoot her nusband or making any such threats. She said that she never purchased a revolver from a Boston sporting house, and said that the only time she was ever in the store was once with her husband, when he wanted some fishing tackle. She was not there on March 30, 1909, when Clerk Coffey claimed he sold a revolver to a woman. She admitted putting her hand under Hattie LeBlanc's chin, but did not do it roughly, and only to prevent the girl from telling lies. She denied beating the girl, or that she showed her hands to Mrs. Sampson, with the remark that she had hurt them whipping Hattie. She denied telling Walter Gardner that she had quarreled with her husband, or that her husband had made her sign papers. She never told Gardner that she knew a man who was going to kill Glover, and never talked with Gardner about her husband's relations with Hattie. She never called her husband vile names In the presence of Gardner, she said, and never made threats to "do" her husband.

Mrs. Glover's testimony was not concluded, when the court adjourned until Monday morning.

JUST FOR REVENGE

New York Paying Teller Gives Unique Excuse For Robberies.

friends have since realized the most remarkable scenes on record in the criminal court took place today when Walter A. Hull, former paying teller of the Herald Square branch of the Greenwich Bank, appeared before Justice Crain for sentence.

Hall had already pleaded guilty to > told the judge he wanted to make a complete confession. 'It was revenge alone that inspired me to the crime," he began. According to his story Hall was working for a salary of $1,400 a year, handling from $50,000 to $300,000 a day for the bank. One day, he said, he made a mistake of $500 in the accounts, and the bank, recognizing that the mistake was not the theft of $44,800 from the bank. He salary to make up the $500 he had On a salary of $900 a year Hull said he could not live and care for his

"I thought," he said, "that I was heing done a grave injustice, and the criminal, nevertheless reduced his

FURNITURE Specially Priced For

the Christmas Trade Parlor and Music Cabinets, oak and mahogany, from China Cabinets and Buffets from $10.50 up to $75.00 Rattan Reed Mahogany and Oak Floor Rockers from$2.00 up to $12.00 Children's Morris Chairs and Rockers, solid oak frames, velour cushion seats and back, each $2.75 and $3 SEE THE GOODS. J. FERGUSON & SONS

174-180 KING STREET

Once worn-

Always worn

Those who know the comfort and perfect fit of "Ceetee" Underclothing will wear no other. Ask your dealer to show you "Ceetce." In all sizes for men, women and children. The C. Turnbull Co. of Galt, Limited 2605 Galt, Ontario Manufacturers-Esth. 1859

WONDER-SHINE Cleans silverware quicker and better Makes your favorite gold, silver or plated-ware fairly sparkle. Old methods, pastes and powders will not clean emand powders will not clean em-bossed or filligree work. WONDER-SHINE enters every crevice, removes every speck of dirt and tarnish instantly. And so easy — simply dip articles in WONDER-SHINE, rinse and dry with a soft cloth. Absolutely non-injurious, try it. At your dealer's, 25c. a package.

more I thought of it, the more I desired revenge. So I finally decided to take all I could get my hands on and decamp. On the day I left there was but $44,800 in the bank. I took it and fled to Canada. There I hung around the Erie, Windsor and Hamilton tracks and dropped $28,000.

desire to see my son overcame my desire for revenge. I have come back and want to take my medicine like a he deferred sentence until tomorrow.

"Then I heard that my wife had given birth to a child, and the wild

SIX MINERS KILLED. Bochum, Prussia, Dec. 9.-An explo sion of fire-damp occurred in the Holland mine today. Six miners were kill ed, five others seriously injured, while one man is missing.

WOMAN'S GLORY IS HER HAIR

Household Convenience Co., Ltd.

Terente - Onterio

And yet how often we see women who would otherwise be called beautiful, marred by the neglected appearance and dried up condition of their hair Hair must have proper nourishment or die. Parisian Sage is a hair nourisher and one that is fully guaranteed Judge Crain was so overcome that by Cairneross & Lawrence, who will refund your money if it fails to

1. Cure Dandruff, the cause of bald spots and falling hair. 2. Stop Itching of Scalp instantly.
3. Stop Hair Falling Out and Promote a Thick and Luxuriant Growth. It is used by the best ladies of the land because it beautifies the hair and renders it soft and fluffy. See that the Girl with the Auburn Hair is on each package. All druggists and stores 50c.

or postpaid from Giroux Manufacturing Co., Fort Erie, Ont,

GRAND UNION Baggage to and from Station Free Send 2c stamp for N. Y. City Guide Book and Map

Mrs. Winslow's Soothir.q Syrup Mrs. Winslow's Soothir.q Syrun has been used for over THIRTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD. SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC and is the best remedy for diarrhoca. Sold all over the world.