ALDERMEN INDULGE IN LONG SQUABBLE OVER CHAIRMANSHIP

Another Chance For Wilson To Head Committee.

HOLD NEW ELECTION

Council Decides That Chairman of No. 2 Was Chosen Irregularly.

While business involving hundreds of dollars was transacted in a few fleeting minutes without discussion. The city council last night debated for more than half an hour on the question of the chairmanship of No. 2 committee, which involved nothing more than a small amount of slory for the aidermen interested. The mass of verbised disgusted some of the new members, and Alderman John Bridge said that if the citizens could have heard the discussion than a small amount of slory for the aidermen interested. Another Election.

The council last night agreed to reopen the matter. On Aid. Wilson's motion it was sent to No. 2 committee with instructions that that committee hold another election for chairman. This was more or less satisfactory for both men concerned. A few minutes later, however, Aid O. I. Cunningham brought a hornets' nest about his ears by moving. owever, Ald O. I. A CAPACITY CROWD AT PATRICIA MONDAY

Play Is Well Acted by An All-Star Cast and Has a "Punch."

"The Open Door," showing at the Patricia Theatre today and tomorrow, well deserved the capacity crowd that attended the performance last night. The photoplay is well acted by an all-star cast, and carries the the "punch" that is invariably found in pictures that are shown at this theatre.

"The Open Door" is without doubt one of the greatest mystery dramas ever filmed. It is the story of a man who assumed the responsibilities for a crime committed by another, and voluntarily went to Sing Sing and served a fifteen-year sentence in order that his daughter might have the good things of life that he was unable to give her. He entered into an agreement with the man who was guilty that upon his release he should be paid $25,000, and should reclaim his daughter, who, during his incarceration was should are desired and eared for as the daughter. $25,000, and should rectain his daughter, who, during his incarceration was educated and cared for as the daughter of another.

The action starts with his release from Sing Sing, and proceeds through a maze of plot and counterplot that income a maze of processing support his charge. volves a mysterious murder, blackmail, and the final self-sacrifice of the exand the final self-sacrifice of the ex-convict when he realizes that to reveal his identity to his daughter would biast her hopes of happiness.

The Quaker City Fair, presenting "The Singing Blacksmiths" was a vaudeville turn that pleased the audi-ence immensely. A big V special comedy and a Fox news weekly made up a fine program.

It is high time the unseemly rivairy in brick and mortar gave place to in-It is high time the unserally rivairy in brick and mortar gave place to intrinsic Christian ideas. It was a truly hopeful sign to see the different denominations represented as they were at the "Gipsy Smith" meetings, and with what success those meetings were attended. There was no complaint about the seats being hard, even though they did lack the usual uphoistery. One Methodist clergyman agreed with me that there was too much church and too little Christianity. There is really no one to blame, but because one church has a certain height of steeple, another, when building, feels in duty bound to build theirs a little higher. It is highly gratifying that the Christian people are beginning to think more of what the building stands for than the building itself.

The chairmanship was arranged to bring a consequence to the city in general.
